Duncan Sisters Sued on Unpaid Tuition of Boy

Vivian and Rosetta Duncan, actresses, neglected to pay $714 balance on a note they gave the Pasadena Military Academy to pay for the tuition of their nephew, Driscoll Duncan, according to a suit on file yesterday in Municipal Court. In addition, they owe the school $600 for board, lodging and clothing for the boy, the complaint asserts.

M. J. Barker, who filed the suit, asserts that the sisters have paid $1000 on the note, which was originally made out for $1714. The boy attended the school from September, 1929, to June, 1930, Barker states.

REPAIRS ASKED AT SCREENING PLANT

A request that $6000 be made available for the repair of disintegrating masonry at the Hyperion screening plant has been filed with the City Council by the Board of Public Works. The petition was referred to the Finance Committee.

NOTED ARCHITECT PASSES

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (AP)—Henry Snyder Kissam, 64 years of age, prominent architect and scion of an ancient line, died here today of heart disease. He had been ill a year.

Will Rogers Remarks:

BEVERLY HILLS, Dec. 26. [To the Editor of The Times:] Kin Hubbard is dead. To us folks that attempt to write a little humor, his death is just like Edison's would be to the world of invention. No man in our generation was within a mile of him, and I am so glad that I didn't wait for him to go to send flowers. I have said it from the stage and in print for twenty years. My dressing room when I play Indianapolis won't be the same without Kin sitting in there. I loved his work and I loved him. Just think, just two lines a day, yet he expressed more original philosophy in 'em than all the rest of the paper combined. What a kick Twain and all that old gang will get out of Kin.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

PASSPORT FORGERY CHARGED

House Hears Report of How Soviet Agents Use American Credentials

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (AP)—The use of forged American passports by members of the soviet - Russian secret service was described in a report made public today by Chairman Fish of the House Communist investigating committee.

The report was made by G. Agabekoff, formerly an operative of the Ogpu, soviet secret police, now living in Paris.

"Almost all the representatives of the Third Internationale travel abroad with American passports which give them entrance into all countries and permit them to carry on Communistic work without arousing suspicion," he said.

The Russian said a special office is maintained to fabricate all sorts of documents, particularly passports and false certificates. In addition, he said, voluminous files of English and American documents are kept in Moscow for use by the secret police.

Fish said he is convinced everything Agabekoff said is accurate.

GEM MERCHANT LEAPS TEN STORIES TO DEATH

Finis Written for "Abe Martin"

Last Book Given to Public Only Short Time Before Holiday Season

INDIANAPOLIS, Dec. 26. (AP)—Kin Hubbard, creator of "Abe Martin" and "Abe's" various neighbors, "Constable Newt Plum," "Squire Marah Swallow," "Rev. Wiley Tanger" and "Dr. Mopps," died unexpectedly at his home here today of heart disease.

In 1904 Mr. Hubbard drew for the Indianapolis News his first caricature of the gangling rural character called "Abe Martin." This character has lived and will die with Mr. Hubbard.

AGE KEPT SECRET

Mr. Hubbard was 62 years of age, but his exact age was unknown to even his close associates until after his death. He was born in Bellefontaine, O.

Annually he published a book in which he culled from "Abe's" sayings during the year some of his favorite expressions.

OTHER ITEMS

"A woman is the most confusin' thing. She'll kill her husband's vote an' turn right around and charge a new dress to him."

"Alcoholic psychosis is nothin' more or less'n old D. T.'s in a dinner suit."

"I wonder if the Mediterranean fly would be interested in spinach?"

Mr. Hubbard created the character of "Abe" shortly after a trip through Indiana during a Presidential campaign of William Jennings Bryan.

LOS ANGELES SLATED AS NAVY SCOUT

Dirigible to Take Part in Fleet Maneuvers for First Time in February

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (AP)—The Los Angeles is scheduled to fly to Panama on the first clear day after February 10.

Admiral William V. Pratt, chief of naval operations, today decided to use the dirigible for the first time in its new capacity as a military weapon.

The Los Angeles will be used as a scouting and reconnoistering ship during the fleet concentration in Panama waters, February 12 to March 24, next.

Under agreement with Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan the United States on receiving the ship from Germany in 1924 was not permitted to use the ship for military purposes, but permission to make such use of it was obtained recently.

David S. Ingalls, assistant Secretary for aeronautics, said the Los Angeles will not be equipped with bombs or armor, but will be used for scouting work.

During fleet concentration the dirigible will be under command of Admiral Jehu V. Chase, commander-in-chief of the United States Fleet, from the battleship Texas.

The U.S.S. Patoka, naval oiler, equipped with a mooring mast, will accompany the Los Angeles and serve as its base at Panama.

Episcopalians Deny Charges

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (AP)—An answer to the Christmas message of Archbishop Pascual Diaz of Mexico, urging Catholics to check the advance of Protestantism in that country, was issued today by Bishop Frank W. Creighton of the Episcopal Church in Mexico through the New York headquarters of the Protestant Episcopal Church.

Bishop Creighton construed the archbishop's message as a charge Americans had sought to implant Protestantism in Mexico "with a view to gradually absorbing that country."

He denied "any of the so-called Protestant missions in Mexico concerned themselves with the internal affairs of the country."

OIL MAN'S MYSTERY BEQUEST EXPLAINED

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (Exclusive) The mystery of the will of Theron F. Pierce, wealthy oil man, in which he completely ignored his widow and bequeathed his entire $300,000 estate to another woman was cleared today. The other woman, Ruth M. Gates of Gramercy Park East, named the sole beneficiary, was revealed as the woman Pierce expected to marry when he had obtained a divorce from his wife.

EDUCATION'S PLEA MADE

Greater 'Three R' Training Urged

More Insistence on Teaching Fundamentals in School Stressed as Need

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 26. (Exclusive)—Greater insistence on and more thoroughness in the teaching of education's fundamentals, most commonly called "the three R's," is recommended to Gov. Young in the report of a special commission appointed to consider California's educational problems.

The gist of the report was made public today by Stuart Ward, executive secretary. The commission was headed by Mrs. Susan M. Dorsey of Los Angeles, former superintendent of city schools there, and the work on which the recommendations are based has been going on for the past six months.

Greater emphasis on fundamentals is recommended for high schools as well as primary schools. Other recommendations in the report include:

CHARACTER TRAINING

Character training should be made a most essential part of the school curriculum and State teachers' colleges should be required to give definite instruction in the manner of teaching morals, manners and related subjects.

There should be more and closer supervision of health in rural schools.

The method of selecting high-school textbooks should be revised.

The education law should be amended to make part-time attendance compulsory between 16 and 18 years of age by those who have not completed the equivalent of the tenth grade and part-time attendance should be optional with those students who have completed that attendance.

CORRESPONDENCE SCHOOLS

States should co-operate with the government in a movement to cause Federal licensing of correspondence schools.

Members of the commission interviewed employers, parents, labor leaders, teachers, university professors, agriculturists and school specialists and sent out thousands of post cards in the form of a questionnaire to learn what the public in general thinks of the public school system in this State.

Other sections of the report, covering problems of teachers, organization of the school system, costs and financing, will be made public shortly.

DIXIE FACES SLEET AND COLD SNAP

Freezing Weather for Gulf Coast Predicted for Tomorrow

ATLANTA (Ga.) Dec. 26. (AP)—Overcast skies, momentarily threatening rain or sleet, and falling temperatures were the lot of the South tonight.

Frost on ports of the Gulf coast tonight and freezing weather in that section by Sunday were predicted by government forecasters.

The new cold wave made its first effects felt today in Virginia with the winter's first sleet making highway traffic slow and dangerous in the southwestern portions of the State. Other parts of Virginia had cold rain that threatened to turn to sleet.

Hopes for Pact Rise in Rome

ROME, Dec. 26. (AP)—Prospects for a naval agreement between France and Italy are "a bit more promising than at any time since the London conference," a Foreign Office spokesman told a correspondent of the Associated Press today.

OIL RUSHED FOR NORTH'S FRUIT BELT

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 26. (AP)—Fast freight trains hauling carloads of crude oil for smudge pots moved into northern fruit and citrus belts of California today as growers sought to protect orchards from the continued cold wave forecast by the Federal Weather Bureau.

Temperatures throughout the fruit belts ranged from 10 to 15 deg. below normal during the night. Many growers ran short of crude oil during the emergency and railroads sped assistance.

Orange groves in the Sacramento and San Joaquin valleys were reported damaged "considerably" by the Weather Bureau, while at Oroville, in the heart of the Northern California orange district, the mercury dropped to 20 above. Colusa registered 19 above and San Francisco experienced 42 deg. during the night.

Other low temperatures recorded are: Independence, 18; Chico, 20; Red Bluff, 28; Sacramento, 30; Eureka, 38; Bakersfield, 31; Del Monte, 30; Imperial, 29.

Hawley Against Cash for Bonus

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (AP)—Opposition to the proposal of Representative Garner, Democrat, Texas, for optional cash payments on veterans' compensation certificates was expressed today by Chairman Hawley of the House Ways and Means Committee.

"I am standing by the American Legion convention in Boston, "Hawley said. "The matter was before the convention there and the Legion declined to take action on it."

WELSH PLAN EISTEDDFOD

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 26. (AP)—The Welsh people of California will observe an Eisteddfod festival of song and poetry at Native Sons' Auditorium here on New Year's Day. Choruses from all parts of the State are expected to compete for awards.

Soviets Reply to Japanese in Row Over Bank

MOSCOW, Dec. 26. (AP)—The Commissariat of Finance today charged the Vladivostok branch of the Bank of Korea with illegal trading in soviet currency in a statement explaining why the bank was ordered closed on the 18th inst.

The soviet action in closing the institution drew a protest from the Japanese Foreign Office, which said it considered the closing an unjustifiable and unfriendly act.

It is understood here that in view of the commissariat statement the Foreign Office will make no reply to the Japanese Embassy's complaint.

Three Drowned in Boat Wreck

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 26. (AP)—Three men drowned when a speedboat capsized in San Francisco Bay while en route to the I. Zellerbach yacht Janidore early today. Eleven others were saved by the crew of the ferry Tamalpais.

The yacht party was made up of members of the yacht's crew and their friends, who intended a celebration aboard the vessel while the owner was at his home in San Francisco.

The dead were C. F. Rogers, a longshoreman; Ben Van Scoy, a former cook, and William Pinkerton, a Northwestern Pacific fireman. All lived in Sausalito.

Cutter Beats Death in Race

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (AP)—A speedy Coast Guard cutter today won a race with death.

Out of the fog off Ambrose Light came a radio message that Capt. C. M. Look of the four-master Zebede E. Cliff was critically ill aboard his ship. The wireless said the schooner could not proceed in the fog.

A patrol boat nosed through the murk to her side and within an hour and a half Capt. Look was in a hospital where doctors said he has a fighting chance.

GOLD NUGGETS USED AS MARBLES BY BOYS

HOLLISTER (Mo.) Dec. 26. (AP)—School boys near here have been playing marbles with gold nuggets. Authorities believe the nuggets were found near the home of Jake Fleagle, bandit shot to death at Branson, Mo., two months ago.

RECEIVER NAMED FOR KENTUCKY NEWSPAPER

LOUISVILLE (Ky.) Dec. 26. (AP) The Louisville Herald-Post was placed in voluntary receivership today, with its vice-president, Ben S. Washer, appointed receiver to continue its publication. His bond was fixed at $75,000. He stated the paper will be published as usual.

NEW YORK SPENDS $100,000 FOR ORCHIDS

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (AP)—New York's Christmas bill for orchids was $100,000. Twenty-five thousand of the fragile blossoms were sold by florists and last-minute prices in some shops went to $12 an orchid.

BURMESE IN REVOLT BATTLED

British Soldiers Hacking Way Through Jungles as They Combat Uprising

RANGOON (Burma) Dec. 26. (AP) British soldiers swinging the native machete hacked a way through the tangled jungle of the Tharawaddy district today, dragging machine guns along with them in pursuit of embattled natives who have murdered a government forest ranger and killed four policemen in the past two days.

Villages in the vicinity of Weya have been terrorised by the rebels, whose activities are attributed to discontent with the burden of taxation in a year during which the rice crop has been pitifully slim.

The center of the disturbance is about seventy miles north of Rangoon. At the village of Weya H. V. M. Fields, a government ranger who returned only recently from a furlough to England, was overpowered in his lonely bungalow as he returned from an inspection tour and slain by the natives. Reports of the attack have created bitter feeling throughout Lower Burma.

Field dressing stations have cared for a score or more of the police who were wounded in skirmishes with the attackers, and it is believed that at least that many of the natives were killed or wounded in the series of engagements.

Gold Found in Turkey's Crop

FORT WILLIAM (Ont.) Dec. 26. (AP)—A Christmas turkey may start a gold rush to the Lakehead district.

This one brought in two gold nuggets in its crop, one the size of a pea and the other slightly smaller, which gave a thrill to J. C. Pregau, the lucky purchaser, who bought it from W. Kilson.

NORRIS'S HAT NOT IN RING

Plans for Third Party Denied

Senator, Instead of Seeking Presidency, Will War on Electoral College

Parties Called 'Trust' Tools; Stand Viewed as Aid for Lucas in G.O.P. Row

BY LAURENCE M. BENEDICT
"Times" Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (Exclusive)—Senator Norris, Republican bolter from Nebraska, today rejected the suggestion of Prof. John Dewey of Columbia University that he run as a third-party candidate for President in 1932.

Norris turned the proposal down not because of any tender regard for the effect it might have upon the chances of the regular Republican nominee, who in all probability will be President Hoover, but because, in his opinion, a third-party movement could not succeed.

He pointed out that Roosevelt failed in 1912, and La Follette failed in 1924, and indicated he does not wish to strew his political bones along the same route.

COLLEGE OPPOSED

The obstacle which makes it impossible for a third party to get anywhere, Norris declared, is the Electoral College, and he advocated abolishment of this time-honored machinery so that the voters of the nation would have a freer hand in the election of a Chief Executive. He announced that when Congress reassembles he will offer a constitutional amendment doing away with the Electoral College.

"I am not a candidate for President," the Nebraska insurgent said. "I won't be a candidate for President. I probably will be dead before the Constitution is revamped so as to make an independent candidacy possible."

The sense of Norris's statement was that he is highly in favor of a third-party movement in 1932, that the Republican party under whose banner he runs when a candidate for office ought to be defeated, but that the thing cannot succeed and, therefore, is impractical and that for his own part he would rather hold fast to his job in the Senate than get chucked out of political life as an independent candidate for the Presidency.

RULES OBJECTED TO

Boiled down, the Nebraskan's position is exactly what might be expected—he has his lofty ideals, but doesn't care to fight for them under rules that would involve his dismissal from public life.

In conservative, loyal Republican circles here today the statement was regarded as more than bearing out the contention of Robert H. Lucas, executive chairman of the Republican National Committee, that Norris is not a Republican (having supported Gov. Smith against Hoover in 1928) and should be driven from the party. The effect in these party quarters was to strengthen Lucas against demands from Norris, Brookhart, Howell and other Republican insurgents in the Senate for his removal from the Republican national organization.

There is more reason than ever for the belief that Lucas will be retained at Republican national headquarters with the tacit backing of President Hoover. The President, however, has not thus far taken any part in the Lucas-Norris controversy and, according to all advices from the White House, does not intend to become personally embroiled. But his silence is all that is required to place him back of Mr. Lucas.

YOUNG VS. HOOVER

Senator Norris in his statement fell back on his pet aversion, the "power trust," and charged that, having made friends with President Hoover, this "trust" is now busy trying to bring about the nomination of Owen D. Young as the Democratic candidate for president in 1932. He declared a race between President Hoover and Young would substantiate his theory that under the present system the people of the nation really have little to do with the selection of a President—they merely have opportunity to choose between the lesser of two evils. Of course, if Norris could run, the people, according to his idea,

REDS PLAN AMITY COURTS

Disciplinary Tribunals to Be Tried in Moscow Factory Districts as Aid to Efficiency

MOSCOW, Dec. 26. (AP)—"Friendship courts" are the newest legal experiment in the soviet government. These courts are to be tried in factories of the Moscow district. They will not exercise the power of fining and imprisoning "offenders," but will be for the purpose of disciplining and reforming workers who are addicted to carelessness, inebriation, loafing and other such habits.

The economic authorities, in their battle to bring to a successful conclusion the famous five-year industrialization plan, have determined all waste effort shall be eliminated as far as possible. Most of this waste, they have found, is due to laxity of undisciplined workers.

The plan is for each factory to have its own court with a head judge and two assistants elected by the employees for a period of one year. Trials will be held of any workers accused of "lying down on the job" and any employee will be permitted to take part in the arguments either for or against the defendants. The procedure at any one of the trials will be simple reading of the charges by the head judge, an oral answer by the accused and the final summing up in arguments by any one present who cares to argue. The three judges then discuss and announce their verdict.

The court can impose any of the following "punishments:" "Comradely" persuasion; "comradely" reprimand; public reprimand with or without publication in the press; transfer from a higher to a lower paid job; suspension for a definite period; discharge from the factory, and, finally, deprivation of trade-union membership for a stated time.

Soviet authorities hope the new courts will greatly increase the percentage of factory efficiency which recently has drawn considerable criticism from the Russian newspapers.

HARDING MAY BE HONORED

White House Lets It Be Known President Willing to Dedicate $700,000 Ohio Tomb

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (Exclusive)—It is now possible that the beautiful $700,000 memorial to Warren G. Harding at Marion, O., will be dedicated by a President. White House officials stated tonight that "if and when" a definite invitation is extended, fixing a specific date, President Hoover will go to Marion to dedicate the gigantic tomb erected to the memory of the twenty-ninth President of the United States. No definite date, however, has been set.

Success at last seems about to crown the efforts of friends of the dead President, who for four years have been attempting to induce a Chief Executive or an ex-President of the United States to dedicate the memorial.

It has been common knowledge in the Capitol that Calvin Coolidge had been approached by representatives of the Harding Memorial Association, both during and after he filled the Presidential chair. Mr. Coolidge never found the time to go to Marion.

On several occasions there have been reports that President Hoover had been requested to dedicate the memorial.

Indications today are that Senator Fess has talked the matter over with the President and an agreement has been worked out. As chairman of the Republican National Committee, Mr. Fess is understood to have urged the President to take the time to go to Marion.

PRESIDENCY NOT GOAL OF NORRIS

Nebraskan Denies He Will Head Third Party

Battle Planned to Abolish Electoral College

Senator Norris's statement follows in part:

"The weakness of our political system is that we have no way of restoring control of the parties to the people to whom they properly belong. The reason for this, to my mind, is that it would require a political revolution under our system as it exists. Moreover, a new party would be subject to the same criticism that is now made against the old parties.

HOOVER CITED

"For the purpose of illustrating my point, and casting no reflections on anyone, I may call attention to the fact that people now run to Mr. Hoover to learn how the party stands on every issue. Often that issue may not have been even thought of when he was a candidate. The voters of the party, who really own the party, may never have expressed an opinion on it.

"In Presidential elections the people are often in the position of having to choose between two candidates, in the selection of which they had no voice whatever. Unfortunately, it often amounts to choosing the lesser of two evils.

"It seems to me a man ought to be in good standing in his party even if he disagrees with a President who also is a member of that party. Special interests seeking legislative favors don't count a sentimental for either party. For example, if we now had a President who was opposed to turning the natural resources of the country over to the power trusts, you would find the so-called leaders in his own party denouncing him.

PRESIDENT ALL POWERFUL

"The President is the most powerful part of our government. He influences legislation in a thousand different ways. Yet under our system the people never really select the President. The man must first be nominated by one of the dominant political parties. You know that national conventions seldom pay any attention whatever to the wishes of the rank and file of their respective parties. They choose their nominees just as they please.

"The electoral college is responsible for this condition. The framers of the Constitution gave the electoral college discretionary powers to select a President. We all know that it has now become obedient and is of no more use than a fifth wheel to a wagon. Its only real effect is to prevent the people from exercising a free choice in the selection of the President. What we need is a constitutional amendment that will enable the voters to get control of the party any time they are minded to. We should repeal that part of the Constitution providing for the electoral college, so it would be possible for a man to run as an independent candidate for President.

COLLEGE IN WAY

"The electoral college is the only thing that stands in the way. As long as we have it in the Constitution, a new party would be open to the same objections that are now made against the old party. At present a candidate has to organize in every Congressional district in the United States and select candidates for the electoral college. This cannot be done in the few months intervening between the national conventions and the elections. The voter would be faced with a list of names as long as his arm, most of them belonging to men he didn't know. He wouldn't know how to vote to express his wishes.

"If it were not for this condition an independent candidate could run for President just as in every State in the Union an independent candidate can now run for Governor. We have just had an illustration of that in Oregon where an independent candidate was elected Governor. If the electoral college was abolished and if there should happen to be general dissatisfaction with the Presidential nominees of both parties, within ten days we could put an independent candidate in the field.

"For example, take the present situation. We know that President Hoover is a friend of the power trust. We know that right now the power trust is doing everything it can to nominate a Democratic candidate for President. Suppose that happens, and suppose that President Hoover is renominated. A prominent man could overnight become an independent candidate if it were not for the existence of the electoral college."

TIME CALLED RIPE

In his letter to Senator Norris, Prof. Dewey told him he is not a true Republican, and that the time is ripe for his leadership of a new political group.

"In light of your recent experience with leaders of the Republican party," Dr. Dewey wrote, "I urge that you sever forever your connections with that political machine and form with those of us in the league and other groups a new party to which you can give your full allegiance."

The Republican party stands for "rugged" individualism, Dr. Dewey wrote, whereas Senator Norris favors social planning and social control.

"These are antagonistic philosophies," he said. "The Republican party is a house divided against itself. You cannot put new wine into old bottles and we shall never be able to put this new philosophy of government into either of the old parties."

Republicans and Democrats are all alike, said the writer, and millions of progressives are so disgusted with them that a new organization could elect a President by 1940.

INVALID DIES IN FALL

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (AP)—A fall today from the bathroom window of his ninth-floor apartment on Riverside Drive killed Kenneth Day, 44 years of age, reputedly wealthy fruit commission merchant. Mrs. Day said her husband had been ill.

Frisco and Santa Fe Get Permission to Have Low Rates for Second-Class Passengers

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (AP)—The class passenger fare system widely used on European railroads is finding new advocates among carriers in the western States. Two lines—the St. Louis-San Francisco and the Santa Fe—have received permission from the Interstate Commerce Commission to use second class tickets, and G. J. McGuire, secretary of the Western Passenger Association, indicated today in Chicago a possibility other southwestern companies may seek to meet the 2-cent-a-mile rate authorized on the Frisco.

Under the commission's order, the Frisco is permitted to sell the second-class tickets for use only on day coaches. It is expected to put the plan into effect early next year.

The Santa Fe, operating from Chicago through the Southwest to California, has received permission to sell after January 1 second-class tickets between points in Arizona, California and New Mexico. It also may cut rates for round-trip tickets between Kansas City and Lawrence and Topeka, Kan.

The Southeastern Passenger Association, through George S. Shepard, its secretary, today was authorized by the commission to use joint low rates from southeastern points to the Pacific Coast. Rate is based on the regular fares to New Orleans, Memphis, St. Louis and Chicago with a 2-cent rate from those gateways to the Coast. The tickets west of the Mississippi are to be good on tourist sleepers.

Several southeastern roads have been selling low-rate round-trip tickets within the range of bus travel for the last year or more.

RAILROAD TO CUT RATE TO 2 CENTS PER MILE

CHICAGO, Dec. 26. (AP)—The Chicago, Milwaukee, St. Paul and Pacific Railroad will inaugurate passenger service at 2 cents a mile on four divisions January 1, H. E. Pierpont, vice-president in charge of traffic, said tonight.

The new rate will be an experiment to determine whether lower railroad passenger fares will be effective in combating motor bus competition, Pierpont said.

HYDE WANTS WHOLE OF DROUGHT AID

Declares Congress Will Be Asked to Appropriate Authorized $45,000,000

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (AP)—Secretary Hyde said today Congress will be asked to appropriate the full $45,000,000 authorized for drought relief.

At the same time he made it clear that no food loans will be made from the fund.

The loans, he said, will be made for seed, feed and for production purposes, such as fertilisers and for gasoline and oil for tractors.

Hyde said applications for aid from the fund will be taken up in "the priority of their urgency."

He added the $6,000,000 included for forest highways and forest roads and trails would be used also according to the urgency of the project, but that no definite allocation would be made of the relief funds by States.

Landing Field to Be Heated

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (AP)—A device intended to heat the area of Roosevelt Field at Mineola, N. Y., to an average temperature of 70 deg., will be demonstrated by the General Electric Company during an air show January 24-25, it was disclosed tonight.

William Griffin, chairman of the show, said the apparatus will produce an even balmy summer climate for the event, no matter how cold those days are.

The show will be for the benefit of the unemployed.

Trobee Kin Plan to Aid Orphans

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 26. (Exclusive)—American relatives of Jean and Patricia Trobee, young orphaned daughters of Mrs. R. R. L. Magoon, formerly of Los Angeles, began today to raise a fund to bring them back from Southern Rhodesia, where their mother was slain two weeks ago by her second husband, who took his own life.

Harry Trobee of Los Angeles, father of the children, was divorced shortly before the World War and disappeared while serving with the American Expeditionary Forces overseas.

Assembly Seen as Spain's Hope

LISBON, Dec. 26. (AP)—The newspaper Diario Lisboa tonight printed an interview with Sanchez Guerra, former Premier of Spain, in which he is quoted as saying there is no way out of the present troubles in Spain for King Alfonso except the calling of a constituent assembly which will "reflect the will of the people."

STANDARD OIL MAY SUE USER OF NAME

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (Exclusive) The Standard Oil Company of Indiana is contemplating bringing a suit immediately to determine whether a recently formed company, the Standard Oil Company of Colorado, can legally use the words "Standard Oil" in its name, the Indiana company announced today. This action is being taken, the company explained, as the result of reports received from numerous persons who have been solicited to buy stock in the Colorado concern.

BANKS FAIL IN MIDWEST AND SOUTH

Seventeen Institutions Close Doors and One in Arkansas Resumes

MEMPHIS (Tenn.) Dec. 26. (AP)—Ten banks and two branches in eleven Northeast Mississippi towns closed today.

All were within a radius of about thirty miles, and the situation was described as a local one by S. J. High, president of the People's Bank and Trust Company of Tupelo, the largest of the closed banks. Others were its two branches at Nettleton and Rienzi; the First National Bank and the Corinth State Bank, Corinth; the Ittawamba County Bank, Fulton; the Bank of Sherman, Sherman; the Bank of Saltillo, Saltillo; the Bank of Guntown, Guntown; the Bank of Verona, Verona; the Bank of Shannon, Shannon, and the Booneville Banking Company, Booneville. All except the First National were State institutions.

Banking officials of the section expressed the hope that most of the institutions will reopen within thirty days.

TOPEKA (Kan.) Dec. 26. (AP)—Closing of three small banks was announced today by H. W. Koeneke, State Bank Commissioner, who attributed the failures to last summer's drought and inability of the institutions to realize on their farm paper. The banks are the Mildred State Bank, Mildred; the People's State Bank, Moran, and the State Bank of Elsmore, Elsmore.

AUGUSTA (Ga.) Dec. 26. (AP)—The Union Savings Bank here failed to open today and was placed in charge of the State Superintendent of Banks. The bank on November 26 had deposits of $873,081.

INDIANAPOLIS (Ind.) Dec. 26. (AP)—Two Gary banks were closed today, the State Bank Department was informed, bringing to six the number of banks closed there within six months. The institutions closed today were the People's State Bank and the Glen Park State Bank.

LITTLE ROCK (Ark.) Dec. 26. (AP) Walter E. Taylor, State Bank Commissioner, announced the Citizens' Bank at Foreman reopened today. It closed the 21st inst.

RICHMOND (Va.) Dec. 26. (AP)—M. E. Bristow, State Commissioner of Insurance and Banking, announced today that the State Bank of Pamplin had suspended business pending a meeting of its depositors tomorrow.

MEXICO RAIL STRIKE PLAN HITS SNAG

Union Told It Will Not Be Allowed to Tie Up Lines as Threatened

(Copyright, 1930, by Chicago Tribune.)

MEXICO CITY, Dec. 26. (Exclusive)—At the War Department it was stated today that the railway union agitators are not going to be permitted to tie up the national railways as the leaders threaten.

The railway transportation union notified President Ortiz Rubio yesterday that as justice was not being dealt to railway men the latter would proceed on the general strike and prevent the railways from continuing business even if it was necessary to resort to wrecking trains.

The President replied today through his private secretary that he will provide such means as the case called for.

Minister of War Amaro, on instructions from the President, wired the commanders of the various military zones throughout the republic to be prepared to give immediate aid to the national railway lines to prevent the railway union from carrying out the strike order and committing acts of sabotage.

Two Bombings Shake Chicago

CHICAGO, Dec. 26. (Exclusive) Two bombs exploded at almost the same instant at 11 p.m. tonight in widely separated sections of the near north and north sides.

One bomb damaged the rear of a Chinese restaurant at 606 North Clark street, and the other, which was so powerful that it was heard as far north as Evanston, shattered the rear of an apron factory owned by Carson Pirie Scott & Co. on the north side.

CORN SUGAR BAR LIFTED BY HYDE

Farm Secretary Opens Field for Maize Crop

Food and Drugs Act Taboo Held Discriminatory

Order Provides Outlet for 50,000,000 Bushels

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (Exclusive)—Secretary of Agriculture Hyde threw open an important market to farmers of the corn-growing States today in an order removing the discriminations against corn sugar from the Federal Food and Drugs Act.

The Secretary struck out of the regulations the provision that when corn sugar is used in canned and packed food products it must be declared upon the label. His order officially recognized corn sugar, or dextrose, as "a clear, clean, white granulated sugar," which is "wholesome and healthful," and placed it on a par with cane and beet sugar or sucrose under the law.

INCREASES OUTLET

As a result of the order, Mr. Hyde stated, the annual consumption of corn is expected to increase between 50,000,000 to 100,000,000 bushels, a factor that will be reflected in corn prices. Spokesmen for the Domestic Sugar Producers' Association, which advocated the change, estimate that the increased consumption will be a minimum of 30,000,000 bushels.

Secretary Hyde said that he is convinced that although the corn interests are greatly benefited, the American cane and beet sugar interests will not be adversely affected by his ruling, inasmuch as they can fill but a part of the domestic needs now and they are protected under the tariff law.

NOT ADULTERANT

"I believe," he said, "that this modification removes an undeserved stigma from corn sugar; that it harms or deceives no one; that it weakens neither the Federal Food and Drugs Act nor its administration; that it is a just recognition of modern progress in refining and that it will aid in some degree in re-establishing the economic balance of agricultural products."

In making his ruling Secretary Hyde took issue with several of his predecessors who had rejected the plea of the corn sugar interests for equality under the Food and Drugs Act.

AMERICANS WANT WORK, NOT DOLES

Standard Oil Official in Radio Talk Declares Worker Abhors Charity

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (AP)—Walter C. Teagle, president of the Standard Oil Company of New Jersey, in a radio address tonight on unemployment declared, "The real American workman asks no favor that smacks of charity and abhors the thought of a government dole under any guise."

As a general rule, he said, employees of his company have been working full time, but in two or three centers where there had not been work for the entire force employees cheerfully accepted part time in order that no member of the group should be thrown out of work. Some were laid off for inefficiency and others discharged for cause, he said, but in the few cases where men had to be laid off for lack of work or other reasons through no fault of their own such men have received a cash allowance.

"In a co-operative industry such as this company has become," he said, "one set of partners cannot benefit at the expense of the others in the partnership."

Navy to Again Seek Recruits

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (AP)—The "join the Navy and see the world" sign is to be hung out again early next month.

The Navy Department announced today it will resume recruiting after New Year's Day and by March be accepting the full quota of first enlistments. Recruiting was suspended in October.

VETERANS WIN RIGHT TO INSPECT RECORDS

SEATTLE, Dec. 26. (AP)—Former service men suing the government over their war risk insurance policies were given authority to examine records of the United States Veterans' Bureau in preparing their cases under a ruling handed down by Federal Judge Neterer here today. The decision, attorneys said, will have a far-reaching effect in the many war risk-insurance suits pending throughout the country.

New York Mendicant's Role Necessitated by Family's California Penchant

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (AP)—Joe Daniels has been sent to jail for six months.

Joe said he begged $53 on Christmas Day. Arrested, he had a bank book showing deposits of $245 during December.

"It was getting wintry," Joe explained, "and the family always winters in California."

"And you, sir," said the court, "will winter in the workhouse."

LIFE ON CAMPUS GETTING BETTER

Betty Co-ed and College Boy Given Official Approval

They Do Not Pet or Drink—At Least, Not Much

Office of Education Survey Shows Improvement

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (NANA) Betty Co-ed and her roisterous college-boy brother have survived another searching investigation of their morals and antics and the manner of life in their far-flung sorority and fraternity houses.

This time it was a survey of all phases of college life in fifty-two institutions of higher learning—including such large units as the Universities of California, Illinois, Ohio and Minnesota and Massachusetts Tech. The survey was conducted by the United States Office of Education.

It was started in 1927 with a Congressional appropriation to meet expenses and included all the land-grant colleges, which receive annual subsidies from the Federal government. Altogether they enroll 164,000 resident students.

QUALIFIED APPROVAL

The report, just issued, gives its only slightly qualified approval to the fraternities and sororities as they exist today. "They have," it says, "enormous possibilities for value to their members and to the college community." But it urges a better working arrangement between them and the college authorities.

"On every campus," it is reported, "there are activities which the college does not sanction. These 'wildcat' activities range from individual peccadillos to the sub rosa meetings of regular groups that have become important enough to join the similar groups on other campuses and effect a semblance of national organization."

But the investigators found that the worst of these are losing ground or have disappeared altogether.

BUGABOO DISAPPEARS

The famous T. N. E., bugaboo of anxious fathers and college presidents of a past generation and whose organization "was for the wildest kinds of indulgence boyish minds could conceive" now has become a recognized and respectable Greek letter fraternity, the report points out. It no longer is a secret national society of "good fellows" whose membership cut across fraternity lines.

Although not so well known, college girls had a sister organization even more reprehensible. This was known merely as "X" or "Chi." Its membership was a dark secret, and "its initiation ritual violated every canon of decency and good taste." But it apparently has disappeared altogether.

PRESENT "WILDCAT" GROUP

One type of present-day "wildcat" activity, says the report, "is the cultivation of pseudo-intellectual group interests. Its members are apt to call themselves the intelligensia and to look down on the bourgeoisie and proletariat, their fellow-students who do not rebel at every sign of social convention or authority.

"These groups are very loosely knit together, as is inevitable in the case of groupings of such individualistic personalities. The only thing that seems to remain is the feeling of superiority. Since they are superior not only to all those outside, but to each other, the bond of union is very weak and, fortunately for the rest of the college community, the groups dissolve quite easily. Apparently the vast majority of the students in colleges today are little interested in revolt.

GAMBLING AND DRINKING

"Another type of wildcat activity which has little organization is that of the gambling and drinking fellowship. This group always has existed and probably in proportion is no larger today than it ever was, although in actual numbers it may have increased with the increase in the student bodies. For the most part members of this group are not long-lived in the college community, so it tends to disintegrate rapidly. The only harm is to the members themselves."

It was found that the scholarship of fraternities is improving. At the same time the investigators found still surviving the quaint old college idea that poorness of scholarship and success in after-life are in some way positively related, that the student gets the real values of college out of social activities and that the best thing to do with the minimum that must be learned to satisfy the professors is to forget it as soon as possible.

SOCIAL ACTIVITIES

The survey also included the social activities of the college men and women and the reports show, it is stated, "that students are just about like people outside college who make up the population at large." Drinking was listed as one of the difficulties in twenty-six of the institutions reporting. Extreme or improper dancing was listed by six and the attendance at town cafes after the dances by eleven.

"The going to roadhouses after college dances was spoken of in a number of reports as were the stag line, withdrawal from the hall to cars during dances and auto riding after dances. Dark or moonlight dances were mentioned by two or three institutions and discourtesy to chaperones seemed to be a fairly common complaint."

ANNAPOLIS 'WIZARD' OUSTED

Wire Maze From Midshipman's Room Explains Much Mystery and Brings Resignation

ANNAPOLIS (Md.) Dec. 26. (AP)—Discovery of a labyrinth of wires radiating from his room, controlling locks, telephones and elevators in a wing of Bancroft Hall, home of the midshipmen of the United States Naval Academy, has resulted in the resignation of a member of the second or sophomore class, it became known today.

The name of the student, whose quarters had been converted into a conning tower for the dormitory, was not made public, but his roommate was given demerits for failing to report his companion's eccentricities.

Following the multitude of wires, authorities discovered the solution for many recent irregularities in the life in the dormitory. Among them was why the elevator used by the privileged first-class men, shot to the fourth floor when the third-floor button was pressed, and then dropped the seniors suddenly to the first floor without warning.

The discovery was made by an officer who heard the click of an electric clock behind the door of the student's quarters. It was found the timepiece in the room was connected to the master-clock on the first floor.

Other wires dropped to the second-floor telephones and one of the lines tapped was connected with the outside world. Other wires caused the lights in the corridors to burn brightly for a few minutes and then to grow dim.

Confronted with the evidence the midshipman is said to have been unable to give a satisfactory explanation. He was told his resignation would be in order.

GATHERING TO PROTEST SCANDALS

New York Group Puts Out "Manual of Facts" Giving Political "Lowdown"

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (AP)—A mass meeting to protest against "civic corruption and racketeering" has been called for January 2 by the city affairs committee, of which John Haynes Holmes is chairman.

The meeting was announced today in connection with the issuance of a "manual of facts" listing political scandals in 1930.

The Governor, the manual says, declined to order a general inquiry into the city government, "even after he was empowered by the Legislature to make such an investigation."

"Mayor Walker," it continues, "although promising co-operation to the grand jury in the Ewald case, has not suspended or removed from office any of his appointees for refusing to waive immunity."

The manual says twelve judges and twenty-eight city officials have been involved in eight rackets and eleven irregularities during the past year.

PARTY SAILS FOR BRAZIL JUNGLE TRIP

"River of Doubt" Area in Matto Grosso Will Be Scene of Expedition

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (AP)—Twelve men and twelve dogs sailed tonight on the liner Western World for Montevideo, Uruguay, whence they will start a year's trek up into Brazil's great jungle, the Matto Grosso.

They are bound for the River of Doubt country, made famous by the late Col. Theodore Roosevelt, to make sound films of jungle noises and to capture anacondas, armadillos, tapirs, jaguars, anteaters, birds, mammals and fish of varieties little known in the rest of the world.

They will try also to bring back some live specimens of the piranha, a fish about a foot long that has an appetite for human flesh and jaws so strong with teeth so sharp the natives dry them and use them for hair slippers.

Capt. Vladimir Perfilieff, artist and explorer, is head of the expedition.

Alaskan Quake Shakes Houses

KODIAK (Alaska) Dec. 26. (AP)—Three distinct earth shocks were felt here early today, the last of such intensity buildings were shaken and dishes fell from shelves. Buildings were not damaged.

Government seismograph station officials said the last shock rendered the seismograph temporarily inoperative. The quakes began at 2:59 a.m.

Lieut. Maitland Plans to Marry

SAN ANTONIO (Tex.) Dec. 26. (AP)—Word that an intention to marry was filed at Boerne, Tex., by Lieut. Lester J. Maitland, trans-Pacific flyer, and Mrs. Kathleen McDermott of San Antonio, Tuesday, was received here tonight.

Maitland and Mrs. McDermott said they have made no definite wedding plans. No marriage license has been issued.

LONG HUNT FOR DEER DOUBLY REWARDED

HENNIKER (N. H.) Dec. 26. (AP) George A. Wood tracked a deer for several miles through the woods today and then pulled the trigger. The cartridge jammed. Wood pulled the trigger again. The gun misfired. The third try succeeded and when Wood walked up to his deer he found he had killed two. The bullet had gone through the heart of one and into the back of another he had not seen.

HEIRESS TO WED TITLED GEORGIAN

Louise Astor Van Alen

ANOTHER MDIVANI TO TAKE BRIDE

Prince Alexis, Brother of Mae Murray's Husband, to Wed Society Woman

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (Exclusive) The supply of marriageable princes of the Georgian house of Mdivani has been reduced by one with report of the engagement in Paris of Miss Louise Astor Van Alen of New York and Prince Alexis Mdivani.

Prince Alexis is a brother of Prince David, husband of Mae Murray, the actress, and of Prince Serge, recently divorced husband of Pola Negri and reported fiance of Mary McCormic, the opera star.

Miss Van Alen is a member of one of America's wealthiest and most exclusive families. Her great grandmother, Mrs. William Astor, ruled American social circles. Miss Van Alen is the daughter of Mrs. James Laurens Van Alen, the former Margaret Post, a prominent figure in New York, Westbury, Newport and Palm Beach society.

The family of the Princes Mdivani lost its fortune in the Russian upheaval. Prince Alexis is expected at Palm Beach in the near future, where a formal announcement of the engagement will be made.

MISPLACED FAITH MAY COST GIRL HER LIFE

FAIRFIELD, Dec. 26. (AP)—Confident that her fiance, E. D. Rodgers, could flag down a fast Southern Pacific train with a flashlight, Miss Mamie Vaniel of Vacaville sat in an automobile stalled on the railroad tracks early today. The train didn't stop for Rodgers. Miss Vaniels right leg was amputated at a hospital in an effort to save her life.

BEQUEST MAY MAKE WORK FOR JOBLESS

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 26. (Exclusive)—The Citizens' Committee on Unemployment today suggested a $100,000 bequest of Mrs. Lillie H. Coti, pioneer belle of the '60s, be devoted to the further relief of the jobless. Mrs. Coti's will specified it should be used for beautification. The terms can be met, it was pointed out, by pushing park and boulevard work that will supply employment.

FIVE PRISONERS FLEE FROM GEORGIA JAIL

WAYCROSS (Ga.) Dec. 26. (AP)—Five prisoners, including J. H Parker, awaiting execution for the murder of his child, escaped from the Ware County Jail here tdoay by sawing bars in their cells and jumping from a second-story window.

SECRETARY HAS KNOBBY HOBBY

Hurley of War Department Adds Hat a Week to Large Collection

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (AP) Sombreros from Texas, derbies from London, fedoras from Italy, and silk hats from Fifth avenue hang side by side on the hatrack of the Secretary of War.

REPEAL OF BANK TAX ACT URGED

New Measure Proposed by Equalization Board

Levying on Corporations Also Would Change

More Revenues Proposed by Forthcoming Bill

SACRAMENTO, Dec. 26 (Exclusive)—Repeal of the State net income tax law on banks and business corporations and substitution of a bank share and corporate excess tax is proposed in a bill that will be sponsored by the State Board of Equalization at the 1931 legislative session, Dixwell L. Pierce, secretary, announced today.

Pierce already has laid the board's proposal before the joint legislative tax committee that will make a report to the Legislature, and he is hopeful of obtaining a favorable recommendation. The present law was attacked bitterly during the gubernatorial primary campaign.

The new plan embodies the following provisions:

BANK SHARE TAXES

Taxation of bank shares at a rate of 75 cents on each $100 of value based upon capital surplus and undivided profits, less the assessed value of the real-estate taxed locally. The term banks would include corporations whose money is used substantially in competition with that of banks, thus complying with the national bank act, which restricts State taxation of national banks.

Taxation of business corporations at a rate of 1.8 per cent on each $100 of corporate excess which is the going concern value of a corporation as measured by difference between its total worth and the intrinsic value of its assets.

Pierce explained that this is virtually the same tax system that the 1929 Legislature abolished upon recommendation of the 1927-29 tax commission named by Gov. Young, except for the saving clause applying the tax to all banking or similar corporations instead of to banks alone.

The old tax law was repealed after United States Supreme Court decisions had ruled it illegal for States to tax national banks on any basis different from the tax on other corporations engaged in similar activities.

INCREASED REVENUES

The tax rate against business corporations would be the same in the proposed act as under the old franchise tax law, but the bank share tax under the old law was $1.45 per $100 as compared to 75 cents under the board's plan. The act would be administered by the board of equalization with the assistance of experts and accountants.

"The present 4 per cent net income tax on banks and business corporations," Pierce declared, "brought a revenue to the State of $6,429,837 for 1929 as compared to $9,476,726 collected in 1928 under the old franchise and bank share tax."

Pierce estimates the board's new plan would bring in at least $2,000,000 in excess of the 4 per cent law. He said banks would pay three times as much as under the present law, while the tax on corporations would be practically the same, but equalized.

Under the 1928 share tax law the banks paid $4,785,386, but under the 1929 4 per cent act, they paid, according to Pierce, only $554,604.

Two Cars Held Up by Bandits on State Road

SALINAS, Dec. 26. (AP) — Three masked automobile bandits held up two automobiles in quick succession on the State highway about fourteen miles from King City today.

The men stopped a car carrying Harold Marshall, Bert Hughes and Everett Robinson, all of San Francisco, and obtained about $25, and papers from them.

Later, P. V. Shute, 5356 Lexington avenue, Hollywood, who had stopped by the side of the road to repair a fan belt, felt a pistol between his shoulder blades. He surrendered about $100, nearly all in checks.

CATERPILLARS' CLUB GAINS 141 MEMBERS

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (AP)—The most exclusive club in the air—the Caterpillars—which has neither officers nor dues, has gained 141 new members in the thirteen months since November, 1929. Records compiled by the New York Sun from army data list 326 flyers who when danger threatened took to their silken parachutes and floated safely to earth from unmanageable or fuelless airplanes.

FORTUNE BAY SHIP'S TITLE MISNOMER

PROVIDENCE (R. I.) Dec. 26. (AP) Libels of condemnation against the British motorboat Good Luck, owned by the Fortune Bay Shipping Company, Ltd., of Halifax, were filed in Federal Court today by United States Attorney Boss. The vessel was captured ten miles off Block Island November 23 by a Coast Guard destroyer with 500 sacks of liquor aboard.

RING DROPPED IN LAKE FOUND, BUT NOT IN FISH

OMAHA (Neb.) Dec. 26. (AP)—John Chadek again is wearing his wedding ring.

For twenty-three years he believed the little gold band was lost. While swimming in an Iowa lake in 1907, it slipped from his finger. Believing it futile to dive for it, Chadek went home and explained matters to his bride.

Yesterday Ned Goodwin of Omaha, returned the ring as a Christmas present.

Goodwin explained his young... er brother had found the ring while swimming in the same lake in 1912. During the intervening years it lay unnoticed in a jewelry box. On the inside of the band were the initials "F. Y. to J. C., 11-27-06.

Coming upon the ring recently, Goodwin got busy. In 1906 newspaper files he saw a notice of a marriage license issued to John Chadek and Frances Vasko of Omaha. He rushed to a telephone book, called Chadek, a coal dealer, and returned the ring.

DEBUT OF "DEB" DEBUNKED

Mrs. H. L. Doherty, Surprised at Size of Daughter's Party, Says Girl's Fame Exaggerated

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (AP)—In the whirling vortex of the most stupendous holiday party of many a Washington season, Mrs. Henry L. Doherty of New York took time tonight to do a bit of debunking on the subject of her debutante daughter, Helen Lee Eames Doherty.

To be mother of one whose debut had doubled and tripled in the making, assuming the proportions of a record-smashing event, apparently had been somewhat disconcerting to Mrs. Doherty, despite an ever-evident sense of humor.

She expressed her surprise at the tremendous stir caused by Helen Lee's night-after-Christmas ball at the fashionable Mayflower Hotel, in which she made her formal bow to society.

She attributed the swelling crowds to her daughter's recent artistic and literary fame, which, she said, have grown somewhat out of proportions to actuality.

ONLY IDEA HERS

Mrs. Doherty said her daughter did not hand paint the King of Spain's sport car—that her work on the silhouette sports automobile has been that of thinking out the idea and planning the designs.

"My daughter is not a finished artist, but simply an amateur," she said.

Nor has Helen Lee been doing translations from the Greek, Mrs. Doherty said. While her daughter is an accomplished linguist, she can use Greek only in a meager way, her mother said.

"The actual work that was done on the car which went to the King of Spain was done by Mrs. Natalie MacDonald Hall, who is a trained and finished artist," said Mrs. Doherty. "My daughter has not had any time since her arrival even to carry out any of her own ideas on the many possibilities of hand-painted cars. She has, however, copyrighted the idea of cars of this type, and has many interesting plans for them. The car is to be known as the Helen Lee car."

BOOK TO BE TRANSLATED

"And as for being an author," continued Mrs. Doherty, "all my daughter is doing is to translate from Spanish into English a textbook on mineralogy for one of her professors in the University of Madrid. Don Celso Arevalo, a brillian scientist."

The Vice-President and Mr. and Mrs. Everett Gann went to Miss Doherty's coming-out party. The Secretary of War and Mrs. Hurley went. Ambassadors, ministers, Senators, those whose names dot the social registers—a round thousand of notables — arrived at the awninged doors that shielded from a heavy rain.

New York's society leaders came down by special train. There was music, laughter—long vistas of party parade. The ballrooms scintillated. Helen Lee Eames Doherty's debut progressed at ultramodern tempo.

MOTHER SURPRISED

Mrs. Doherty made clear she welcomed her guests. But she just hadn't been prepared for the unusual number of acceptances in proportion to the number of invitations sent out. She wasn't expecting the idea to be taken up so unanimously, and she believed it was partially due to the King of Spain and Greek translation stories. And, as a sensible mother, she wished for her daughter only credit for her actual attainments, a sentiment shared by the equally sensible Helen Lee.

Which is why Helen Lee Eames Doherty appeared tonight in the simpler of two gowns prepared for her debut—a pink chiffon of girlish line.

Later her portrait will be painted by Howard Chandler Christy in the elaborate 1832 period gown she might have worn—if it hadn't turned out to be such a spectacular party.

LIFT TO BE INSTALLED IN CAVERN

National Park Service to Fit Carlsbad Cave With World Record Elevator

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (AP)—Carsbad cavern, considered the largest subterranean chamber in the world, is going to have what is believed to be the longest single-lift elevator in the world.

Horace M. Albright, director of the National Park Service, today announced plans of the service call for installation of an elevator to reach the upper levels of the New Mexico caverns, 750 feet below the cave entrance.

The cavern's depth now is reached only by stairways and footpaths. The park service plans to put in two elevators, but only one will be installed next year.

Engineers estimate the elevators can make the 750-foot trip in one to two minutes. Director Albright explained although elevators in the Woolworth Building and Chrysler Building in New York probably cover more distance, they do not operate on a single cable. The park service will spend $100,000 on the elevator.

A second series of caverns, several hundred feet below the upper levels, reached only by long stepladders and not yet open to the public, probably will be opened within two or three years.

Oil Producers Will Be Aided

TULSA (Okla.) Dec. 26. (AP)—The problem of preserving more than 30,000 small oil wells in Northeastern Oklahoma and Southeastern Kansas, whose chief market outlet will be withdrawn January 1, next, when the Prairie Oil and Gas Company ceases to be a purchaser was tackled in earnest today by the petroleum industry.

At the call of E. B. Reeser, president of the American Petroleum Institute, representatives of a dozen of the larger pipe line and purchasing companies met here to perfect arrangements for taking production from the affected wells. Definite action was deferred until a second conference tomorrow.

Reeve Cites Crime Crisis

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (AP)—Organized crime has thrown down the gauntlet to American civilization, Arthur B. Reeve, criminologist and wirter of detective fiction, said tonight in an address broadcast as part of the crime prevention program of the National Broadcasting Company.

Asserting the United States faces the greatest crisis since the World War, Reeve said: "What we need most of all is a ten-year program to save civilization."

Auto Factory Expects Rush

TOLEDO (O.) Dec. 26. (AP)—Officials of the Willys-Overland Company said today they expect a 50 per cent increase in employment in their factory here next month, dependent largely on the impetus given the industry as a whole by the winter automobile shows.

The factory has 8500 employees working five days a week.

MISSOURI BREAD PRICES TO BE INVESTIGATED

JEFFERSON CITY (Mo.) Dec. 26. (AP)—An investigation of bread prices in Missouri's larger cities and towns will be made by the Attorney-General's Department to determine whether prevailing prices have responded to the lower wheat market, Atty.-Gen Shartel announced today. If it is found that baking concerns are getting an unfair profit and violating State laws, prosecutions will follow, the Attorney-General said.

OUTPUT OF LUMBER IN COAST AREA LARGE

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 26. (AP)—Lumber output of the Pacific Coast region, including five far-western States, was about 11,315,000,000 board feet in 1930, said J. B. Fitzgerald of the West Coast Lumbermen's Association in a survey prepared for the Associated Press.

SCION OF WASHINGTON NEIGHBOR CELEBRATES

PITTSBURGH, Dec. 26. (AP)—George Washington and the grand parents of Mrs. Jane Ann May once disputed over title to land near the farm on which Mrs. May tomorrow will observe the 100th anniversary of her birth.

POWER BOARD'S MOVE CLARIFIED

McNinch and Williamson Not Consulted on Ouster

Dismissal of Employees Was Ordered by Quorum

Independent Senators Seek Reconsideration

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (AP)—Chairman Smith of the Federal Power Commission said today the dismissal of three of its employees was decided on by a quorum of the commission members, and Frank R. McNinch of North Carolina and Ralph B. Williamson of Washington were not consulted because they had not taken the oath of office.

Smith's explanation came after McNinch telegraphed friends here he was not consulted about the dismissals which have caused a group of Republican independents to demand the confirmations of the commission appointments be reconsidered by the Senate.

FIRST OFFICIAL ACT

The discharge of Charles A. Russell, Frank E. Bonner and William V. King was the first official act of Smith, Marcel Garsaud and Claude L. Draper after they took the oath.

The five commissioners, prior to swearing in the three, however, had agreed no appointments would be made until all had been seated and had held their first meeting, Smith said. He added the three had power to act and since McNinch and Williamson had not taken the oath, they were not members.

McNinch, in his telegram, said he was surprised at the commission's action because he left Washington with the understanding the power group would not be organized until after the first of the year.

MOTION PROMISED

Independent Republican and Democratic Senators announced they have a promise from a Senator, eligible under Senate rules, to make the reconsideration motion.

Administration leaders challenged the legality of the proposal because the three commissioners in question have already taken the oath.

Another development was the announcement by Chairman Nye of the Senate Public Lands Committee that if his committee orders an investigation of the Ralph S. Kelley charges of irregularities in disposition of oil shale lands he will employ Russell as an investigator.

COMPOSER DIES

Local Port Gets $410,000 From Emergency Fund

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (Exclusive)—Formal allotment of $410,000 to the Los Angeles-Long Beach Harbor out of the emergency appropriation for unemployment relief recently enacted by Congress was announced today by the War Department.

This money will be immediately available for speeding up the breakwater project in the harbor. It is in addition to $250,000 for improvement and $125,000 for maintenance carried in the regular river and harbor appropriation bills effective in July, 1931.

NORTHERN BRUSH FIRE, UNOPPOSED, SPREADS

SANTA CRUZ, Dec. 26. (AP)—A week-old forest and brush fire that has burned over 1000 acres twenty miles north of here, invaded another canyon today and is burning unopposed in all directions. George Claussenius, county fire warden, said the fire cannot be contested because there are no funds and the State fire-fighting forces were withdrawn early in November at the supposed close of the fire season.

CUBAN REVOLT PLOT FOILED BY OFFICIALS

HAVANA, Dec. 26. (AP)—Authorities tonight announced a revolutionary plot, scheduled to mature Christmas Eve, was frustrated by secret police. Col. Aurelio Hevia, one of the leading figures in the Nationalist Union, was arrested in connection with the asserted conspiracy.

CAPTAIN ON SHERMAN'S CIVIL WAR MARCH DIES

MONROE (Wis.) Dec. 26. (AP)—Capt. Nathaniel B. Treat, 91 years of age, believed to be the last surviving officer of Gen. Sherman's staff during the famous Civil War march to the sea, died today.

ONE DIES IN AUTO CRASH

REDWOOD CITY, Dec. 26. (AP)—Henry T. Batterson of Birmingham, Ala., was killed here today and his wife and daughter, Pauline, a Stanford student, were slightly injured in an automobile collision.

ICE IMPORTED FROM TROPICS

"Sub-Zero" Products Obtained From Gas Wells Being Sent from Mexico

It is a product of carbon dioxide gas found in wells of the Tampico (Mex.) oil fields, flowing to the surface at a pressure of 1000 pounds to the square inch.

A New York concern has erected a factory which solidifies the gas into "sub-zero" ice. It has a capacity of 40,000 pounds a day. Vessels with insulated chambers of cork board a foot thick will bring the ice to the United States.

LEVINE IN NEW MIX-UP OVER STOCK

Air Enthusiast Called to Explain Possession of Missing Securities

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (AP)—Charles A. Levine, aviation enthusiast, who recently was held by Vienna police in a counterfeiting mix-up, which he subsequently explained away, faced new troubles today. A subpoena was issued asking him to tell the District Attorney how he came into possession of $21,900 worth of missing securities.

The Fidelity Deposit Company of Maryland, an insurance concern in the financial district, asked to have Levine summoned for the inquiry, charging the stock, 100 shares of American Telephone and Telegraph Company, vanished while en route by messenger from one downtown house to another.

According to the summons, Levine pledged the missing stock at the Manufacturers' Trust Company as collateral for a loan last May.

Levine's attorney declared his client will be able to explain his possession of the stock to the company's satisfaction.

STORE BLAZE FATAL

SACATE (Ariz.) Dec. 26. (AP)—Robert Kincaid, 65 years of age, of Nevada, Mo., was burned to death today when a store operated by his son was destroyed by fire.

SURVEY FAVORS PRIVATE POWER

State Regulation Indorsed Over Federal

Ngtional Chamber Reports on Referendum

Sale or Lease of Shoals as Is Recommended

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (AP)—Private operation of power facilities and regulation of them as fa. as possible by the States is favored by members of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States.

The organization today made public the results of a referendum on the power question in which 1147 commercial organizations and trade associations belonging to the national chamber participated.

The vote was 2815 to 63 for the proposition "that the Federal government should leave to the States all possible control over utilization of water resources within the States."

A vote of 2136 to 679 was registered in favor of the proposal "that interstate power, so far as now incapable of regulation by States, should be regulated through concurrent action of State agencies made effective by the Federal Power Commission, and only in the event of failure of concurrence on the party of the State agencies should be regulated directly by the Federal Power Commission."

The proposition "that municipally operated utilities should be subject to the same regulation as privately operated utilities was approved, 2596 to 226.

The chamber voted 2640 to 187, that the Muscle Shoals project should be "sold or leased, as is, on the best possible terms."

Two Found Dead From Gas Fumes

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 26. (Exclusive)—The reason the San Pedro daughter of Mrs. Cleo Spillman of this city was not able to reach her on the telephone last night to wish her Christmas greetings developed today when the bodies of Mrs. Spillman and Charles W. Towner, printer, 58 years of age, were discovered in Towner's gas-filled apartment.

The gas flame still burned, but the oxygen had been exhausted in the room. At Mrs. Spillman's own apartment, unopened Christmas packages still lay under a Christmas tree.

JACK FROST IN VAIN EFFORTS

He Fails to Damage Fruit to Any Marked Extent

But Redlands Growers Burn $100,000 Worth of Oil

"Spotted" Cold Snap One of Freakiest in History

REDLANDS, Dec. 26.—It cost the orange growers of the Redlands district all of $100,000 to repel the attack Jack Frost made on their oranges in the recent cold snap, and while there was a small percentage of the fruit damaged by the cold, it is believed, it will be so small as to make little depreciation in the total shipments for the season.

It was one of the "freak" cold snaps in the history of the orange industry, with streaks and spots of cold where it took the best efforts of the heaters to keep the temperature above the danger point. Sometimes during the four or five nights of the cold snap almost every section in the district had to get in and burn the midnight oil and the early morning oil, to keep Jack Frost away.

It was what growers call a spotted snap. One night the Crafton section was entirely free and the next night the growers there had to work hard to keep damage from being done. Another night the Bryn Mawr section was hit hardest and then there was one night when the Redlands groves, usually free, had cold uncomfortable hours.

It is estimated that more than 100,000 gallons of oil were burned in the heaters during the cold snap and that an army of 700 or more boys and men worked for three or four nights to repel the attack.

Brock Urged as Commissioner of Agriculture

ORANGE, Dec. 26.—Indorsing A. A. Brock, Orange county agricultural commissioner, for appointment as head of the State Department of Agriculture, directors of the Orange County Fruit Exchange have adopted a resolution urging Governor-elect James Rolph, Jr., to appoint the Orange county man to succeed George H. Hecke, resigned.

Representatives of the various citrus associations affiliated with the exchange voted at the same time to adopt similar resolutions to be forwarded to the Governor-elect from the individual houses.

Mayor W. E. Clement, on behalf of the city, joined the movement for Brock's appointment. The boom for Brock is expected to spread throughout agricultural circles of Southern California, developing into a virtual unanimous indorsement of the Orange county entomologist.

County Farm Bureau leaders also are said to be strongly in favor of Brock's appointment because of his policies in respect to marketing, plant quarantine and pest control in the State, which agriculturists wish to see put into practice.

Mexican Taken in Raid on Still Remains in Jail

ARCADIA, Dec. 26.—Pending payment of his fine of $500, Joseph H. Hartwell, young Mexican, arrested last Sunday when local officers raided a still at 2111 South Second avenue, is still being held in the Monrovia Jail.

Chief of Police Richards stated today that Hartwell will begin to serve a sentence of 250 days in the County Jail next week, unless he can pay his fine.

The heavy jail sentence was imposed by Judge Horlock when the case came up for trial on the 23rd inst.

SCHOOLGIRL HURT IN FALL FROM HORSE

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 26. Miss Patricia Burke, 17 years of age, Hollywood High School girl, fell from a riding academy horse while galloping in San Fernando Valley on Ventura Boulevard and suffered concussion of the brain. PROMINENT MAN OF MONROVIA EXPIRES

Charles H. Ainley

MONROVIA, Dec. 26. — Last rites will be held tomorrow for Charles H. Ainley, 77 years of age, prominent church worker and banker, who died on Christmas Eve, following a short illness. Services will be conducted from the First Methodist Church tomorrow at 2:30 p.m., and interment will be made in Live Oak Cemetery.

He had served as president of the board of trustees of the First Methodist Church here for several years, and was instrumental in the church erecting its magnificent new edifice on East Palm avenue, a few years ago, as it was he who purchased the lot upon which the church now stands.

For about eighteen years he served as superintendent of the adult Sunday-school department of the church, and at one time served as president of the Los Angeles County Sunday-school department of the Methodist Church.

Born in Dracut, Mass., April 3, 1853, Ainley took family responsibilities upon his shoulders at an early age, as at the age of 16, he was supporting his father and mother, while working in the freight department of the Rock Island Railroad Company at Des Moines, Iowa. A few years later he was given a responsible position in an abstract office and bank at Panora, Iowa, whence he moved to Perry, Iowa, and became engaged in the hardware business. After seventeen years there, he moved his family to Des Moines in 1890, when he became president of the Des Moines Fire Insurance Company.

He sold his interests in the company and moved to Monrovia in 1907, where he has since resided at 201 North Myrtle avenue.

From 1916 to 1918 he served as president of the American National Bank of Monrovia, which is now known as the Monrovia branch, Bank of America. During the World War he was active in Y.M.C.A. work at Camp Kearney.

Besides his widow, Mrs. Agnes M. Ainley, he leaves five sons, Fred G. Ainley of Monrovia, Dr. Frank C. Ainley of Los Angeles, Ralph G. Ainley of Woodlake, Charles H. Ainley, Jr., of Mexico City, Mex., and Joseph T. Ainley of Minneapolis, and one daughter, Mrs. Hope Vanderhoof of Pasadena.

New Governor May Arrive at Mexicali Tonight

MEXICALI, Dec. 26.—Telegram from El Paso, Tex., today informed Mexican officials here that the new Governor of the Northern District of Lower California, Carlos Trejo y Lerdo De Tejada, with Secretary of State Carlos Riva Palacio, will arrive here tomorrow. Although the exact time of arrival is not known, it is believed they will arrive at about 9 p.m.

Another Bullet Pierces Auto

VENTURA, Dec. 26.—Another bullet has pierced another passing automobile from ambush, this time going through the windshield of C. E. Ratliff of this city, as he drove over the Burnham Road at 10:30 o'clock Christmas Eve. He reported to the Sheriff's office that the bullet was from a .22-caliber rifle.

HIT-RUNNER SUSPECT TAKEN

Two Santa Monicans Pursue and Put in Custody Tony Moriso, After Exciting Chase in Streets

SANTA MONICA, Dec. 26.—Two young Santa Monica citizens constituted themselves police officers late yesterday, and following the trail of an asserted hit-and-run driver, who, assertiedly, had fifty gallons of alcohol aboard his car, captured their quarry after an exciting chase over a maze of city streets, according to a police report.

Tony Moriso, 2331 Main street, this city, was held under $750 bail after police officers had relieved the two citizen-officers of their prisoner, R. R. Stanley, 909 Fifteenth, street, first saw Moriso, he reported, at Fourth street and Ashland avenue. Moriso, who had been drinking, according to investigating officers, assertedly turned his car around in the center of the street, then crashed a boulevard stop and ran into a car driven by J. B Birdsong, of the Angelus Hotel, Los Angeles. Birdsong's machine overturned from the impact, and the driver was treated for cuts and bruises.

Without stopping, according to the report, Moriso turned into Pico Boulevard, almost overturning his own car. Stanley pursued, and was joined in the chase by G. W Parry, 1423-A Seventeenth street, this city.

In the ensuing attempt of Moriso to escape, according to the report, he narrowly missed hitting an old man at Broadway and Sixth street, and at Fifth street almost struck the car of one of his pursuers. He was finally headed into the curb, where police found ten five-gallon cans of alcohol in his machine.

Moriso was booked for investigation of Wright Act violation and hit-and-run driving. Today his hearing was set over for a later date.

BOY SWAPS BIKE FOR HORSE

Santa Monica Sleuths Unravel Half of Mystery About Disappearance of Riding Academy Steed When They Find Lad's Abandoned Wheel

SANTA MONICA, Dec. 26.—"Half a mystery solution is better than none," detectives of the West Los Angeles police division agreed today, when a horse, minus its saddle and bridle, strayed back to the Las Pulgas Riding Academy, Pacific Palisades. The juvenile "hoss thief," who rented the animal, fully equipped, is still at large; but he left his bicycle behind him. It is still in the hands of the academy proprietor.

For a time it was feared the lad had fallen from the horse or encountered some other accident in the hills. He had rented the steed for a two-hour ride, and when he failed to return many hours later, police and the academy were torn between worry over his safety and suspicion that banditry of a sort believed to have been relegated to the days of a wild and woolly West had been revived to complicate further the modern era of outlaw activities dealing with automobiles rather than cayuses.

The boy was 13 to 14 years of age, had dark eyes and wore blue trousers, a light shirt and no hat. He is still wearing them, for all police know; and presumably he has added a saddle and bridle to his equipment. The latter were said to be worth more than the bicycle he left behind him when he abandoned the new steed for the old. But the bicycle is a clew which is counted on to bring results later.

SEWAGE WATER USE URGED

O. E. Steward, Engineer, Advocates Reclaiming It for Irrigating Orange County Groves and Fields

ORANGE, Dec. 26.—Declaring that Southland cities must take steps to insure a future water supply if development is to continue, O. E. Steward, Anaheim rancher and engineer, addressing the West Orange Farm Center, called upon County Farm Bureau officials to adopt an immediate water-conservation program.

Discussing water conditions in Anaheim, where he has been a resident for forty years, the speaker stated that the present level stood at 130 feet.

"During the past ten years it has been sinking at a rate of ten feet every year until it now stands only twenty feet above sea level. Unless immediate steps are taken, the level may soon sink below the sea, causing salt water to seep in and ruin the present supply," he said.

As a partial remedy, Steward advocated reclamation of sewage water which, he said, would be treated and turned back into the underground strata.

"We have the greatest natural reservoirs in the world in Orange county and such a plan would be most feasible," he said. "At present there is enough water going to waste in the ocean from the sewers to care for 4000 to 5000 acres during the summer season."

G.O.P. HAS CHANGE OF VIEWPOINT

San Bernardino County Central Body Reverses Stand on Redistricting

REDLANDS, Dec. 26.—The Republicans of San Bernardino county have exercised the prerogative of free men and have changed their minds. For the members of the county central committee in a meeting held in the California Hotel in San Bernardino reversed their former stand and decided that it would not be wise to attempt to form a Congress district of San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange.

The Republicans then issued a statement to the effect that such a district would undoubtedly be top-heavy, and they passed a resolution stating that they felt it would not be wide to attempt any district with more than 264,000 population. This resolution will be sent to the representatives of the State of California in Washington.

When the matter of reapportionment first came up there was considerable agitation for the formation of a district representing San Bernardino, Riverside and Orange counties, because of the fact that the three counties are tied together in the production of the bulk of the citrus crop, and also in the fact that the water to irrigate them all comes from the same source.

But evidently those who were most in favor of it have had a change of heart and seem to be inclined to think now that San Bernardino and Riverside counties would be sufficient to be tied up together.

Imperial Valley Pioneer Dies at Great Age

CALEXICO, Dec. 26.—Nelson B. Weed, 87 years of age, for many years a resident of San Diego and a pioneer of Imperial Valley, died today at the home of his son, Frank L. Weed of this city, after a brief illness. He leaves five sons, six daughters, thirty-one grandchildren, and seven great-grandchildren, all in Southern California, and nearly all of whom will attend his funeral, to be conducted here Sunday at 2 p.m.

The sons are: Solon K. Weed of Holtville; Dr. Dana L. Weed and Leonard S. Weed of Pasadena, Dr. Nelson D. Weed of Ventura and Frank Weed of Calexico. The daughters are: Mrs. Ora Dunton, Eureka; Mrs. Edla Dickinson, 658½ North Alexandria, Hollywood; Mrs. Amy Bates, 507 North Lemon street, Orange; Misses Elizabeth and Erna Weed and Mrs. Ethel Gross of Calexico.

Weed was born at Mendon, Ill., in 1843 and came to San Diego in 1883, moving to Imperial Valley with his family in 1904, where he had made his home since, having been interested in farming and in business.

BURGLARY CHARGES FACE MAYWOOD MAN

HUNTINGTON PARK, Dec. 26.—Charged with burglary, Robert Cousins of Maywood is in the County Jail, awaiting his preliminary hearing, which has been set for the 29th inst. by Judge Edward H. Miller, his bail being placed at $1000.

The home of Gordon Geiger on Fishburn avenue, Huntington Park, was robbed last Saturday, when two small banks were stolen; also a ring and currency, the value of the loot being about $20, it is said. Cousins was arrested by Maywood officers Sunday and local police who have been investigating assert that when Cousins was arrested some of the stolen articles from the Geiger home were found in his possession. He was then brought to this city and the charge preferred against him.

LIBRARY COMPLETED

MAYWOOD, December 26. — The new Library Building, which has been under construction at the corner of Pine and Slauson avenues for some time, has been completed and workmen are now installing the shelving. As soon as this work is finished the books will be shelved and the new building opened to the public.

SEVENTEEN WANTED BY VICE SQUAD

J. J. Adams of General News Bureau, One of Men Sought for Bookmaking

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 26.—At the request of Lieut. George Sears, chief of the police vice squad, seventeen persons today were charged with conspiracy to violate the law and bookmaking by the District Attorney's office. J. J. Adams, one of those named in the complaints, was arrested shortly after noon by Sears and lodged in the City Jail. The General News Bureau is the firm represented by Adams, one of those for whom the bench warrant had been issued.

Two weeks ago the General News Bureau asked for an injunction restraining the San Diego police department from interfering with its activities. Hearing on the injunction has not been held.

Man Hits Yule Tree; Says He Didn't See It

CALEXICO, Dec. 26.—"I didn't see any Christmas tree," was the reply that C. E. Phillipps of Brawley gave Calexico policemen when they pulled the Calexico community Christmas tree and a pile of its supporting lumber off him and his automobile.

Phillipps had driven his car squarely into the middle of the twenty-foot-square platform supporting the thirty-foot electrically lighted tree at the intersection of two principal streets. Christmas spirit from Mexico was given as the cause and Police Judge Anderson assessed a $50 penalty in Police Court this morning.

ELKS READY TO BUILD

SAN FERNANDO, Dec. 26.—San Fernando Valley Elks' Lodge is soon to have a new $75,000 home at Pico and Chatsworth streets here. The building is to be of Spanish design. Members of the building committee of the lodge are planning to start construction soon after the beginning of the new year.

PLENTY OF TIME TO FILL LAKE

Secretary of Bear Valley Mutual Water Company Finds That Heaviest Rains Come After December; Once Fourteen Inches Fell in Twenty-four Hours

BEAR VALLEY, Dec. 26. — There is plenty of time for rains that will fill the Bear Lake reservoir to overflowing, according to Douglas Black, secretary of the Bear Valley Mutual Water Company, who has just been checking over some of the old records of the county. For Black found today in the log book which has been kept for almost fifty years that the big rains there usually come after December.

The biggest rain ever recorded in the valley, according to the records, came in February after a six weeks dry spell in the middle of winter. There was not a trace of rain in the valley in January of 1891, and it was not until February 21 that the floodgates opened.

The log book shows that on February 21 there fell 14 inches of rain in the valley within twenty-four hours, rain and not snow, according to the record. Then on February 22 there was another 14 inches, which made a total of 28 inches in forty-eight hours, and that set a record which will probably stand for a long time, Black predicted.

The caretaker at the dam reported that the water was standing at 49 feet on the dam gauge at the start of the rain. In two days the lake filled to the top of the dam, and the caretaker began to spill water at the rate of 3400 miner's inches in an effort to get enough out of the spillway to keep the water from flowing over the top of the dam. He succeeded, but made the laconic observation that on February 23 it was storming so he could not reach the gauge in order to read it.

WALTON LEAGUE LEADER COMING

John G. Hammond, National Field Man, to Confer

Expected at Upland January 2 to See Southland Head

Reorganization on State Basis to Be Effected

UPLAND, Dec. 26.—John G. Hammond, national field representative for the Izaak Walton League of America, is expected to be in this city January 2, next, to confer with Dave L. Vasbinder, president of the Southern California Council, Izaak Walton League, and with Leigh Thompson, secretary for the Southland organization.

Conservation of wild life in Southern California, in particular, and the Pacific Coast in general, will be one of the subjects to be discussed by the leaders in the Izaak Walton League.

Hammond is planning to spend at least one month in California and will give a number of lectures while on his tour, according to Vasbinder.

The Izaak Walton League is to undergo reorganization the first of the year, going on a State basis. Each county of Southern California will organize its own council. The Southern California council headquarters will be maintained in Los Angeles.

RELATIVES AGREE TO FIGHT WILL

Last Testament of Mrs. Hattie Smith of Highland to Be Contested

HIGHLAND, Dec. 26.—The will of the late Mrs. Hattie Smith of Highland is to be contested, the two nieces who received the $80,000 estate being willing, in order that their brother and two sisters may share in the estate. The contest will be on the grounds that Mrs. Smith was not competent when the will was made and that it was not signed in the presence of Dr. J. H. Evans of Highland and Mrs. Dena Vander Sander of San Bernardino, who signed it.

The estate consisted of $60,000 in cash and securities and a ten-acre citrus grove in Highland valued at $20,000. Under the terms of the will the estate was divided between two nieces, Mrs. Belle Besog of 113 East Fourth street, San Bernardino, and Mrs. Lita Lewis of Edmonton, Mich., and a cousin, L. C. Ohl, of Long Beach. The nephew and two nieces not mentioned were Herbert Ghatto, Mrs. Vern Fuller and Mrs. Ruby Huff, all of Flint, Mich.

If the will is admitted to probate the nieces and cousin will receive shares in the estate of $26,666.75 each. If the will can be voided, it will be divided equally between the four nieces and one nephew, about $16,000 for each.

Mackerel Run Unprecedented

OCEAN PARK, Dec. 26.—That the present run of "greenback" mackerel, unprecedented in the fifty-one years this species of fish has been known off the Southern California coast, is attracting the attention of scores of tourists, as well as local anglers, is evidenced by scores of fishermen visiting the Star of Scotland off the Lick pier at Ocean Park daily.

While the mackerel is a carnivorous fish and prefers to chase a meal before devouring it, the scarcity of its natural subsistence, the small anchovy, has caused it to be more carnivorous than ever, which probably explains, along with the great numbers of them in North Bay waters, why they are at this time so readily caught.

Since the anchovy is a warm-weather visitor to our shores, the visiting anglers to the Star have substituted small bits of the white sides of the mackerel itself as bait, a type of lure found to be most successful, as the "greenbacks" go for it eagerly.

Sculpin, perhaps the most palatable of all off-shore fish, are reported "on the spot" beneath the keel of the Star, but they offer greater endeavor on the part of the sportsman to get, as they are decidedly carnivorous, feeding for the most part off the ocean floor, and prefer crawfish, found on rocky beds.

SEATTLE WOMAN IN CRASH DIES

Mrs. Mary T. Grigsby in Fatal Pasadena Accident; Her Secretary Injured

ALTADENA, Dec. 26.—Fatally injured when her head struck the top of her expensive sedan as it sped across a depression at a street intersection, Mrs. Mary T. Grigsby, 50 years of age, reported to be a wealthy Seattle resident, died a few minutes after an ambulance had taken her to the Altadena Hospital this afternoon.

Mrs. Grigsby, whose Seattle address is said to be 100 West Highland Drive, had rented a home here at 2778 Moralay Drive, where she resided with her secretary, Miss Eleanor Eckerman, who also was injured in the accident.

The Seattle visitor's chauffeur had the day off, so Mrs. Grigsby was at the wheel when she and Miss Eckerman started for Pasadena to do some shopping.

As the sedan struck a sharp dip formed by a surface drain across the intersection of Porter avenue and Homewood Drive, it bounded into the air, jerking Mrs. Grigsby's hands from the wheel and throwing both women against the top supports.

The machine immediately ran wild, it being the theory of deputy sheriffs that the driver was stunned by the impact. The car was demolished after hurtling across a curb and striking a palm tree.

Mrs. Grigsby's body was transferred from the hospital to the Wendell P. Cabot Mortuary.

Deputy Sheriffs E. W. Crabb and Chester Salazar are attempting to inform relatives by telegraph.

Miss Eckerman was cut and bruised and incurred possible internal injuries. The authorities think it possible that the residence believed to have been rented by Mrs. Grigsby may have been occupied by other persons, probably holiday guests. Miss Eckerman was too weak to be interrogated late today.

MAN WITH STALLED CAR HIT BY ANOTHER AND DIES

VENTURA, Dec. 26.—Herman Otte of Oceanview district, was instantly killed on Oxnard Boulevard near the Charles Donlon ranch at 8:30 o'clock Christmas Eve when he was struck by a car.

Otte's car had stalled on the highway and he had walked to a telephone to call an Oxnard garage for help. As he was returning, two passing cars collided, one blinded by the other's lights, and struck the pedestrian. The car which struck Otte was driven by John Buys of Oxnard.

Druggist Fires Twice at Bandit But Misses Him

HUNTINGTON PARK, Dec. 26.—A stranger entered the A. E. Wells Drug Store last night, and stepping up to the owner, ordered the proprietor and a friend to "stick up their hands," at the same time pointing a revolver at both.

They complied with the request when the bandit went behind the counter, removed the money from two drawers, and still pointing the revolver in their direction, backed them behind the prescription case after which he ran to the front of the store.

Willis had a gun on the counter in the prescription department, and grabbing this, fired two bullets through the prescription window, but neither struck the fleeing bandit, one crashing into the wall telephone and the other through the front glass window.

Willis states that several dollars in change were stolen.

The bandit was described as being well dressed, was about 23 years of age, dark complexioned, five feet and four inches in height, weighed 140 pounds, and was an American.

Teague in Move to Put Stop to Overproduction

SANTA PAULA, Dec. 26. (AP)—C. C. Teague, a member of President Hoover's Federal Farm Board and president of the California Fruit Growers' Exchange, said today he is planning immediate interviews with grape growers of the State in hope of finding some plan to relieve overproduction.

"I have no plans in mind," he said, "but I hope to find some practical solution of the situation in meeting with the leaders of the industry."

Teague said he could not comment on the situation at this time. He said he will remain in California until about January 10, when he will return to Washington. He came to his home here a week ago from the East to spend the holidays with his family.

Ventura Kiwanis Seats Officers

VENTURA, Dec. 26.—Officers of the Ventura Kiwanis Club for 1931 were installed today at the weekly luncheon of the club. The new president who took his chair today is Rev. W. C. Cheverton, pastor of the First Christian Church. He succeeds H. V. Cowger, 1930 president.

Other officers and directors installed were: Wayne Clark, vice-president; E. B. Holt, secretary; L. L. Spafford, treasurer; H. V Cowger, district trustee; Wyatt Hedley, Dr. G. C. Coffey, Fred Scherer, C. S. Pool, L. G. Fertig, Kirk Cobb, Joe Noyes and Willard McNeil.

SKETCHES DEPICT WARS WITH INDIANS

Mrs. Mary L. Worden

REDLANDS, Dec. 26.—Mrs. Mary L. Worden of 906 West Highland avenue, is the owner of a valuable collection of sketches and water colors made on the western plains during the period when the United States Army was pacifying hostile Indians.

The sketches were made during the '70's by her husband, who was Lieut. C. A. Worden of the Seventh Infantry, and it is believed that they are the most authentic in existence. It was just forty years ago this month that Sitting Bull, the famous Sioux leader, was killed.

Mrs. Worden was at Fort Ellis, Montana Territory, when the Custer massacre occurred, and was present when the army courier arrived with the first word of that disaster.

Some of the sketches in the collection are:

A Sioux Indian burial ground near Fort Peck. The dead Indian lies on a high platform supported by four forked poles.

Milk River camp, near the mouth of Frenchman's Creek. Lieut. Worden appended a note that this was the region where Sitting Bull crossed the Canadian line to hunt Buffalo.

The head chief of the Crow Indians.

A group of Crow Indian chiefs.

Stockade and tepees at Blackfoot agency.

LAST RITES TODAY FOR OLD PIONEER

HUNTINGTON PARK, Dec. 26.—Oscar E. Pinneo, 74 years of age, one of the early settlers in California, who died at his home here Tuesday night after an illness of one year, will be given burial tomorrow. Deceased was born in Kendallville, Ind., and came to California with his parents when 9 years of age, locating in Stockton. Later they removed to Tulare, then to Placerville, and ten years ago came to this city, where he had been engaged in the grocery business until his death. He was a member of the Masonic and the Odd Fellows lodges at Placerville. He leaves a widow and a daughter, Mrs. Dorothy McMillan of this city, also a sister, Mrs. Meda Orcutt of Oakland. Funeral services will be conducted at the Ray D. Klinker funeral chapel here Saturday afternoon, Rev. S. B. Sampson officiating.

WIFE WINS IN BALM ACTION

Judgment of $16,000 Given to Mrs. Clara Beck

Miss Leonore Rodriguez a Court as Defendant

Latter Says She Can't Pay Because Penniless

SAN BERNARDINO, Dec. 26.—Judgment of $16,000 was awarded today to Mrs. Clara Beck in her $100,000 suit against Miss Leonore Rodriguez, it being asserted that the young girl stole the love and affections of her husband, John Beck, wealthy Colton [illegible]. Mrs. Beck was awarded $15,000 damages as compensation for the loss of her husband's love and affections, while $1000 was added to the judgment as punitive damages. The decision was announced by Judge Dehy after he had spent several days reviewing the testimony of the four-day trial. In making his ruling upon the case, Judge Dehy pointed out that the testimony revealed Miss Rodriguez knew of her asserted relationship with Beck even after she had been informed that he was married. Miss Rodriguez testified that she had been informed that Beck was separated from his wife, but other testimony was to the effect that Miss Rodriguez had demanded that the estranged husband from seeing the Colton business man.

Through her attorney, Miss Rodriguez stated today that she is absolutely penniless and could be unable to pay the judgment. She stated that she does not own property and has no funds other than those "borrowed" from Beck.

Youth Cleared of One Charge, Faces Another

POMONA, Dec. 26.—Robert Whiteside, local youth, was today cleared of robbery charges brought against him by O. J. Ferguson, service station proprietor, who charged Whiteside with holding up his filling station on the night of the 1st inst. Ferguson failed to hold up his charge while the cash register was open. Witnesses corroborated Whiteside's testimony that he was in the Ferguson station at the time. Although Ferguson positively identified Whiteside as the bandit, Mrs. Ruene Franklin, a relative, testified that he [illegible] was in the southern city at the time.

Although released from the charge, Whiteside is still under arrest on robbery charges involving Ted Peck and Robert Kinsler, local youths, who are charged with a hold-up of a woman several weeks ago in Claremont.

A. J. HAWS, CHIEF OF POLICE AT MAYWOOD

MAYWOOD, Dec. 26.—Maywood is to have a new Chief of Police, beginning the first of the new year, J. Haws having been selected by the City Council by a vote of 4 to 1. It has been decided that his salary will be $205 a month, and that he will be allowed $30 a month for maintenance of his automobile.

Haws was Chief of the Maywood police department for some time, but after the city election last fall he was dismissed from service by A. M. Nelson, one of the members of the department, promoted to the office head. Mr. Nelson, who has been Chief since that time, will be promoted to the position as the department which he filled before becoming Chief of Police.

When the matter of the election of Haws came before the Board of Councilmen Dr. Simon and Councilman Johnson voted favorably on it, while Councilmen [illegible] were opposed.

Ferguson, service station proprietor, who charged him with holding up his filling station on the night of the 1st inst., forcing Ferguson to hold up his hands while the cash register was looted. Witnesses corroborated Whiteside's testimony that he was in El Centro at the time. Although Ferguson positively identified Whiteside as the bandit, Mrs. Eugene Pratt-lin, a relative, testified that the lad was in the southern city at the time.

Although released from the charge, Whiteside is still in custody on robbery charges implicating Dean Peck and Robert Koonier, local youths, who are charged with a hold-up of a woman several weeks ago in Claremont.

A. J. HAWS, CHIEF OF POLICE AT MAYWOOD

MAYWOOD, Dec. 26.—Maywood is to have a new Chief of Police, beginning the first of the new year, A. J. Haws having been selected by the City Council by a vote of 3 to 2. It has been decided that his salary will be $205 a month, and that he will be allowed $30 a month for maintenance of his automobile.

Haws was Chief of the Maywood police department for some time, but after the city election last April he was dismissed from service and C. M. Nelson, one of the members of the department, promoted as police head. Mr. Nelson, who has been Chief since that time, will be demoted to the position on the department which he filled before becoming Chief of Police.

When the matter of appointment of Haws came before the Council Councilmen Driscoll, Nye and Stowell voted favorably on it, while Mayor Johnson and Councilman Norton were opposed.

HAS AFTERMATH

nds Faces Manslaughter Charge f Jack Aramis, Crash Victim

...os Aramis, waiter, who was so badly injured when he was being towed, was struck by a truck and killed while standing near Brawley, died in the Brawley hospital. Fields, who has been arraigned on a charge of manslaughter, was ordered by Justice of the Peace Ellis to appear in court in Brawley today to confront many witnesses.

An inquest into the death of Walter S. Marsh, 75 years of age, of 333 West Holt avenue, as the result of having been struck and run over by an automobile driven by Mack E. Bell, 36, of 501 South Trelo street, Los Angeles, at the intersection of Holt and Huntington avenues, Christmas Eve, will not be held until Saturday at 9:30 a.m., Bell was today arraigned on a charge of manslaughter on a complaint signed by Mrs. Luella Adams of Los Angeles, Marsh's daughter.

Bail was arraigned before Justice U. E. White today and was released on $5000 bonds pending preliminary hearing.

According to a police investigation, Marsh was crossing Holt avenue in the pedestrian lane at the west end of Huntington Boulevard, and was struck by Bell's auto about the center of Holt avenue. That he was instantly killed was the belief of investigators.

Bell is a Los Angeles automobile salesman and was making a Christmas delivery to a local purchaser. He was placed in custody immediately after the accident.

Funeral services for the deceased will be conducted Saturday at 1:30 p.m. from the Todd & Reeves chapel, with Dr. Gordon Palmer, pastor of the First Baptist Church, officiating. Interment will be in Rosedale Cemetery.

CHAMBER CUTS FEES

MAYWOOD, Dec. 26.—The Chamber of Commerce has started a drive for new members and in an effort to increase the membership has cut the fee has been cut from $12 to $6 a year for new members.

Fifteen ticket windows will be opened at 9 o'clock this morning at the Coliseum for the game featuring the Notre Dame all-stars and the West-South eleven. Several thousand good seats are available and it will be a case of first come, first served. The game starts promptly at 2 o'clock.

HARD JOB AHEAD FOR COUGARS

Johnny Mack Brown Says Washington Staters Face Tough Problem

BY JOHN MACK BROWN
Star Halfback for University of Alabama, 1925; Now Featured Player for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer

I have seen the 1930 University of Alabama team in action for the first time, and I think the Washington State boys are facing a tougher problem than did the University of Washington when the whistle blew for the 'Bama-Washington game of 1925.

JOHN MACK BROWN

The 1930 'Bama team is heavier than the one I played on, and, to my mind, better balanced. In fact I don't believe I ever saw an outfit which showed such even strength in every department. It has all-Americans, this boy Sington is certainly some sweet player, but, more important, it has really good men for every job, and lots of them.

One of our troubles in 1925 was that we were a little shy on reserve strength. The going was pretty tough at times because it was not safe to let some of the first string players out of the game at any time, except for the shortest possible period. The 1930 team is really three teams, each one as good as the other. We had good backs in 1925, but not three separate and distinct backfields, each with a high record for gaining ground.

I was a little bit worried when I read the weights of the 'Bama line. I thought perhaps that such very heavy men as Clements and Sington might be slow and unwieldy. Instead this 'Bama team is an unusually fast, rangy outfit. They look to be in better shape to "open up" for passes and trick plays than we were in 1925.

I liked the looks of this back, Campbell, whom I had never met before. He is short with piano legs but he is built so wide and square that I'm afraid Washington tacklers will find him a handful.

My brother Bill certainly has grown since I saw him last. He has been on the squad all season with a finger in every game. Except for sand-lot playing around our home in Dothan I have never seen him in action.

KICKING WILL FEATURE GAME

Tide and Cougars Boast Great Punters

W.S.C. Has Better Record at Converting

Cain's Punts Certain to Bother Tonkin

BY BRAVEN DYER

Watching the Washington State and Alabama football teams practice reveals the significant fact that kicking will play a most important part in the outcome of the New Year's Day struggle at the Rose Bowl. Kicking proved the deciding factor in both previous Alabama games here. The Washington contest of 1926 was won because Buckler, guard, was more accurate in his converting than Guttormsen of the Huskies. Stanford got only a tie with the Crimson Tide the following year because Babe Pearce blocked one of Frankie Wilton's punts, and then Herschel Caldwell made good on the conversion.

CARL ELLINGSEN

Kicking figured in the Georgia Tech victory over California, 8 to 7. Each team made a touchdown, the Bears converting. But Benny Lom had one of his punts blocked by Vance Maree, who plays in the Coliseum today, and a safety resulted, giving Tech the ball game.

CAIN IMPRESSIVE

Alabama's punting has been very impressive this year with Johnny Cain shining brilliantly. Cain's punts are going to bother Bill Tonkin, Cougar safety man. The Tide star kicks with his left foot and the ball comes down in a peculiar twisting spiral that is hard to catch. The punts are high and it seems unlikely that Tonkin will be able to return them for any appreciable gains.

Carl Ellingsen will get more distance to his kicks than Cain. The Cougar punter is possessed of powerful legs and he gets plenty of drive and height behind his kicks.

In the matter of points after touchdowns, Washington State has been much more impressive than Alabama, and this may mean the old ball game where you have two such powerful defensive teams pitted against each other.

Lyle Maskell won two important games for Babe Hollingbery this year with his educated toe. He kicked the point that beat the Trojans, 7 to 6, and booted the field goal which upset the Huskies, 3 to 0.

Maskell kicked both goals against Oregon State, 14 to 7, and made one against Villanova.

Mentor Dahlen, sub quarter, is also an accomplished field-goal booter. He kicked one against California for 3 points, while Lainhart added a point after touchdown. Maskell missed his only attempt that day.

Alabama has had a lot of trou-

MERCURIES WIN FROM AGGIE FIVE

BY BOB RAY

The Los Angeles Athletic Clubs' basketball big three, Charley Hyatt, Tom Pickel and "Rags" Wilcox, chalked up another victory for the Mercuries at the downtown gym last night, the trio accounting for all but two of their team's points, to vanquish Coach Dick Romney's Utah State cagers, 42 to 27.

CHARLES HYATT

The Aggies made it a more exciting struggle than the score would indicate, but the Clubmen proved a bit too classy for the speedy Utahans and managed to keep in command of the situation throughout.

By their victory, the Mercuries ran their string of victories to five and remained the only undefeated quintet in these parts.

Hyatt, the spark plug of the L.A.A.C. five, once more corralled high-point honors for the evening by hitting the hoop for fifteen of the Mercury digits. Wilcox was right behind with thirteen, while Pickell, the lanky six-foot six-inch center, came through with an even doz-

Dixie Stars All Set for Charity Tilt

DALLAS, Dec. 26. (AP)—Two high-powered football squads, representing the Middle West and Southwest, got down to hard work today in preparation for the third annual Dixie classic, charity engagement, here New Year's Day. Twenty-two stars from the Midwest, under the tutelage of Bob Zuppke, veteran Illinois mentor, put in two hours of practice on offensive football at Fair Park stadium. A similar troupe of Southwest performers was put through preliminary sessions by Coach Morley Jennings of Baylor University and his assistant, Coach Fred Thomsen of Arkansas University, at the Southern Methodist University stadium.

BRUINS TO BE HONORED

Coach Spaulding and his Bruins of the University of California at Los Angeles will be the guests of the Deauville Beach Club this evening. This is the third in President Newmire's entertainments for Los Angeles football teams. Previously entertained were Southern California and Loyola. All Bruin team members and coaches have been invited.

FEATURED NET STARS DEFEATED

Neer, Casey Are Beaten by Local Court Players in Palomar Event

Elimination of two seeded players in the men's singles featured yesterday's play in the Southern California midwinter tennis championship tournament, now in progress at the Palomar Tennis Club. Phil Neer, No. 3, and Ray Casey, No. 5, both of San Francisco, were upset by Dick Lusch and Joe Ciano, respectively.

PHIL NEER

Sydney Wood, Ellsworth Vines, Jack Tidball, Dolf Muelheisen, Lester Stoefen and Gerry Bartosh, the other seeded players, entered the quarter-final round successfully. Both the quarter-final and semifinal matches will be played today, with the finals scheduled for tomorrow.

After being carried three sets, 6-4, 3-6, 6-0, by Frankie Parker, Lusch came back strongly to rout Neer in straight sets, 6-1, 6-2. The northerner has been playing superb tennis on his own courts, but couldn't get going at all against Lusch yesterday. Ciano played two fine matches yesterday, disposing of Ted Easton, 6-3, 6-3, before he returned to the court to vanquish Casey, the husky southpaw, 6-4, 6-3.

Leonard Dworkin defeated Hugh McArthur, 5-7, 6-1, 9-7, to provide something of a surprise in the morning, and then gave Stoefen a terrific struggle before losing, 12-10, 10-8. Vines gained the quarter-finals by disposing of Elbert Lewis, Pacific Coast intercollegiate singles king, in straight sets, 6-2, 6-3. Wood dropped a set to Leonard Patterson in a morning match, 2-6, 6-2, 6-0, and then downed Chuck Weesner of Stanford, 6-4, 6-3, to gain the quarter-finals. Muehleisen won from Bob Stanford and Phil Hanna, while Tidball defeated Trow Stephens and Gene Mako.

Melva Roquet, sensation of the junior girls' division, continued her fine play in the women's singles yesterday. She defeated Elizabeth Dean, 6-2, 6-2, in a first-round match, and then carried Gladys Patz, Los Angeles county champion, and No. 1 seeded player, three sets, before losing, 9-7, 4-6, 6-2. Miss Roquet is a finalist in the junior

COUGARS GIVEN STIFF WORKOUT FOR ALABAMA

BY BABE HOLLINGBEERY
Head Coach, Washington State Cougars, Pacific Coast Champions

Preliminaries were tossed aside yesterday and the Washington State squad perspired through its first really tough workout since leaving Pullman. A hot sun slowed up a few of the men, but the effort was there on the part of every player and I was satisfied with the practice.

From now on, our program calls for constant bearing down, with the only let-ups coming on Sunday and on the day before the game. The screws are tightening as the players begin to realize that only four days remain for preparation between now and the starting whistle.

I believe my boys are becoming acclimated to the comparatively high temperatures and the low altitude here, and certainly they will be full-fledged southerners by New Year's Day, so that Alabama will have little edge over us on that score. These days are much like our first few practice days early in September at Pullman, where the snow is now several inches deep and the thermometer close to zero.

Yesterday we gave the boys a half-hour of real contact work before starting the usual signal drill. Ahlskog and Hein were kept out of this, since "Skog" is just recovering from an injury and Mel is still showing a persistent limp.

John Hurley also was permitted to take things easy, protecting a knee that was bruised during our practice with the West Shrine team in San Fran-

NORTH AND SOUTH GRID STARS MIX IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (AP)—College stars of the North and South will clash in Ebbets Field, Brooklyn, Sunday afternoon for charity—but just what charity no one seems to know.

Jack McBride, former Syracuse back now playing pro football, who is in charge of the contest and is coaching the northern eleven, has designated President Steve McKeever of the Brooklyn baseball club to distribute the 50 per cent of the gate receipts that will go to charity. Several organizations have been named at one time or another since the contest was first suggested as recipients of the receipts but all apparently have withdrawn.

The northern squad, with big John Karcis of Carnegie Tech, French of Penn State, Antos of Boston College and Hanson of Temple in the starting backfield, has been developing an intricate passing attack from Warner double-wing back formations. Stumpy Thomason, former Georgia Tech star, coaching the southern collegians, has built a husky running attack around Buddy Hackman of Tennessee, and Red Bethea of Florida.

EASTERN GRIDDERS FAVORED

Western Eleven May Take to Air in Annual Charity Contest Today

BY RUSSEL J. NEWLAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 26. (AP)—Strong legs will run so the weak may some day walk when football stars from many parts of the country clash here tomorrow in the annual East-West charity game. Proceeds of the contest, one of the oldest charitable gridiron enterprises, will go to the Shriners' Crippled Children's Hospital.

DICK HANLEY

Upward of 50,000 persons are expected to turn out at Kezar Stadium for the classic that will bring together players whose individual feats were recorded throughout the nation this last season. It will be the sixth renewal of the game inaugurated here in 1925.

Western teams won the first three contests, while in 1928 and 1929 the East claimed victories. This year again, the eastern squad will line up as the favorite. It will have an eight-pound weight advantage per man. Andy Kerr of Colgate and Dick Hanley of Northwestern, coaches of the eastern team, have assembled such luminaries as Len Malcaluso of Colgate, fullback and high scoring ace of the eastern sector; Tony Siano, Fordham center; Hank Bruder, halfback of Northwestern, and George Van Bibber, Purdue tackle.

Greatly outweighed, the western eleven, coached by Dana X. Bible

On the advice of his doctors Mr. Rockne stayed at the Mayo brothers' clinic at Rochester instead of rushing here by airplane, as scheduled.

RUSS SAUNDERS

However, Mr. Rockne designated a very able assistant to direct the destinies of all-American Carideo, Savoldi, Brill, Elder and others in the person of Mr. Hunk Anderson.

Hunk has been Rockne's chief assistant all year, and that means a lot when you consider what Notre Dame did to all opposition, including our Trojans, this year.

IRISH FAVORED

Considering the caliber of the players on Hunk's roster and what Notre Dame accomplished this year and last, the natives have established the Notre Dame All-Stars as favorites over the Coast boys.

This has caused some resentment on the part of Coach Phelan of the Coast aggregation, and he boasts that he has just as many all-Americans as Hunk.

As a matter of fact, there are fourteen all-Americans in the line-up of the two aggregations.

They are evenly divided, seven apiece.

And just to bolster his line-up, if such were needed, Phelan rushed out and signed three more star players yesterday afternoon.

They are Nate Barragar, captain of the Southern California team last year, Don Means, former Trojan back who has been playing with the Firemen this year, and Felder, North Dakota end.

The all-Americans on the Notre Dame list are Carideo, Moynihan, Metzger, Elder, Brill, Savoldi and Cannon.

Phelan was Saunders, Welch, Pickhard, Jonas, Maree, Wilcox and Thomas.

The Notre Dame backfield that plays today is alone worth making a long trip to see in action.

JACK SHARKEY RANKED SECOND

Champion Max Schmeling Is Picked Third Best

Carnera and Griffiths Get Fourth, Fifth Spots

Godfrey, Campolo, Loughran Baer, Risko Listed

YOUNG STRIBLING

Stribling's quick knockouts of Von Porat and Phil Scott and his decision over Young Tuffy Griffiths of Chicago during 1930 raised him from sixth place in last year's rating to the top of the heap.

Jack Sharkey was ranked second, only a few percentage points below Stribling, with Max Schmeling, recognized heavyweight champion, third.

Sharkey fought only twice during the year—in Miami with Scott and in New York against Schmeling. He won the first on a questionable knockout and lost the second on an unquestioned foul. The Boston sailor man led the list last year.

Stribling, given first rank by thirty-five of the critics, made the most progress during the year, gaining 139 points. Sharkey was given eighteen first place ballots and Schmeling ten, while Mickey Walker, Max Baer and Tommy Loughran got one each.

Three of last year's first ten—Scott, Otto Von Porat, and Paulino—failed to finish "in the money" this year, their places being taken by Primo Carnera, the man-mountain from Italy who was ranked fourth this year, Baer and Johnny Risko.

The ratings were: Stribling 647 (of a possible 700); Sharkey, 611; Schmeling, 543; Carnera, 361; Griffiths, 273; George Godfrey, 206; Vittorio Campolo, 167; Tommy Loughran, 160; Baer, 145, and Risko, 94.

One of the surprises in the poll was the ranking of Carnera. The results, however, indicated the critics believe Stribling, Sharkey and Schmeling to be in a class by themselves, since Carnera, in fourth place, was far below Schmeling.

GARDEN OFFERS STRIBLING BOUT WITH SHARKEY

ATLANTA (Ga.) Dec. 26. (AP)—Mr. Stribling advised the Atlanta Journal today he had received an offer from William F. Carey of Madison Square Garden, for his son, W. L. Stribling, to fight Jack Sharkey in New York in February or March.

Pa said he planned to answer the communication today and to tell Carey he was under contract with Nate Lewis, of the Chicago Stadium, for a fight there either in February or March. He said he would suggest if Sharkey was anxious to meet Stribling, Lewis could arrange the match.

Pa said the Carey message also stated the winner of the proposed Stribling-Sharkey match would get Schmeling in a world title bout later in 1931.

DEMPSEY SEEKS TO PROMOTE BOUT

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (AP)—Jack Dempsey came to New York today still noncommittal on the possibility of his fighting again, but quite willing to talk about promoting bouts between other boxers.

"I'm ready for a fight right now," said Jack, "but I want to promote it, not fight it. I'm open for any kind of a proposition."

But when the various intervening reporters began to mention the possibility of his joining with the Madison Square Garden Corporation in promoting a "battle of the palms" at Miami this winter, some of Dempsey's eagerness evaporated as he brought up his current business of refereeing bouts. The former champion averages about $3000 for each appearance as referee, he said, and to stay in Florida two months to promote a fight there he would have to cancel about thirty engagements.

As to refereeing, Dempsey said: "It's not a bad racket because you never have to be sewed up afterward. "It's nice to stay in a ring without being punched around. Of course, there is a lot of bother connected with it, too. You have to be taken around and be introduced everywhere and you stay up half the night being entertained. It's tough on me because you know I always liked to hit the hay early."

Asked about the current crop of fighters, Dempsey had one objection. The guys who should fight each other won't," he said.

ile in getting those points after touchdowns. Scores of the Tide's toughest games prove this—Tennessee, 18 to 6; Vanderbilt, 12 to 7; Kentucky, 10 to 0; Florida, 20 to 0, and Georgia, 13 to 0.

SOUR SHOWING

That's a pretty sour showing in our most important contests. Four conversions out of thirteen touchdowns and it's no secret that Wallace Wade has been worried over his sad state of affairs.

Freddie Sington, all-American tackle, is the best of the lot in practice, being accuracy itself, but can't ring the ball properly during an actual game. Monk Campbell has done some of the kicking, but "Earv" Whitworth, sub guard, is rated the best of the lot, and it is highly probable that Wade will insert this chap to get the extra point if Alabama makes a touchdown Thursday.

The Alabama squad went through a stiff workout at Occidental yesterday afternoon. Passing and kicking were first attended to and then Wade put on a long dummy scrimmage featuring some of his power plays. The linemen showed more snap and drive than on the day before and Wade felt that his players were coming along somewhat better. His squad will work again this morning, take in the Coliseum game this afternoon and then lay off entirely tomorrow when a sightseeing trip to the beaches will be made. Beginning Monday there will be more side trips. Yesterday morning the Alabama party visited the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios as guests of Johnny Mack Brown.

Babe Hollingbery's charges began to bear down in their preparations yesterday, the two-hour workout at Tournament Park being devoted to dummy scrimmage followed by a long signal drill featuring several new formations. The Cougars are in great shape, rarin' to go, and anybody who rates them on the abbreviated end of a 2-to-1 betting, as one writer claims is being done at Patton or some place by some one, knows next to nothing about this great game of football.

COUGARS HAVE HARD PROBLEM

He had better be good on New Year's Day or there'll be a little family argument!

Another brother of mine, Harry J. Brown of Atlanta, traveled west with the team. He is very much impressed with their spirit. He says they are in no way self-confident. To the contrary, Wade has imbued them with the idea that Washington State has been vastly underrated by the critics and that, man for man, they are the most dangerous outfit the "Red Elephants" have faced this season.

Suiter, backfield star, was a player I was glad to see again. He has spread out a lot since he played on the freshman squad I coached in 1926, under Wallace Wade. He is faster than two or three pieces of chain lightning and is one of the most graceful and clever field runners I have seen.

Wallace Wade is in an entirely different frame of mind for this game than the one of 1925. When I played for him he was very worried. He had not had the University of Washington scouted, and knew nothing at all about them specifically, except the reputation of George Wilson. Therefore, his training of us was much along general lines. He polished us up as fine as he could and then told us to go in and do the best that was in us.

This year, however, he personally scouted Washington State and had them scouted by others at various times. He knows as much about his opponents as any coach can ever know by the scouting method. This fact gives Alabama, in my opinion, still another advantage. I have already spoken of their margin of weight over the 1926 squad, and their greater reserve force.

You never can tell about a football game until the last whistle is blown, but after giving them the once-over, I am certainly happy over what Alabama has to offer this year to those who pay their money to see the game at the Rose Bowl.

Clio Captures Yacht Event

NEWPORT HARBOR, Dec. 26.—In calm sunlit seas here today the three yacht clubs on Newport Harbor staged the opening races of the three-day Christmas holiday regatta with nearly 100 sailing craft entered.

While the younger members of the yachting colony here furnished most of the racing skippers, old-timers were out in good numbers. The feature event was the six-meter class race from Los Angeles Harbor which finished the twenty-odd-mile run with Clio, the winner, sailed by Ross Simmons of the California Yacht Club, and Commodore Al Rogers at the helm of his crack Synnove only three seconds apart.

Eleven classes of sailing boats, runabouts and the performance handicap cruiser race from San Pedro to this port via Avalon will feature the card Saturday.

Results:

Star class—Three Star, William Waterhouse, Balboa Y. C., winner; Little Dipper, Irv Chandler, Balboa Y. C.; Mist, B. Rice, Balboa Y. C.

Skimmer class—Don, Don Douglas, Balboa Y. C., winner; Golden Arrow, Marion Himmelstein, Alamitos Bay Y. C.; Patricia, Dick Russell, Alamitos Bay Y. C.

Bay sloops—Walloping Window Blind, W. B. Cook, Balboa Y. C., winner.

RABBIT PUNCHES

REAL EMBARRASSMENT

IMAGINE the embarrassment of Californians who happen to be visiting the East this Yuletide season.

How can they explain the 2-to-1 odds making Alabama favorite over Washington State in the pending New Year's Day game?

Washington State won the Pacific Coast championship cleanly and without the shadow of a doubt.

After beating Southern California early in the season the Cougars had to fight off the thrusts of each succeeding rival.

They all laid for the team that beat the Trojans, and to win under such odds was a praiseworthy performance.

It may be a nice Christmas present to Babe Hollingbery to make his team the underdog, but such odds as those quoted are ridiculous.

Washington State has made scores when it was necessary. What more can you ask of any football team?

The Cougars were the underdogs when they met Brown University fifteen years ago. They won, 14 to 0, on a sloppy field. Perhaps history will repeat itself, and make suckers of the gamboleers.

THE ALL-COLISEUM TEAM

MR. CHARLES WESLEY KEPPEN, the silver-tongued announcer, who tells folks what happens during Coliseum football games, has unveiled his all-Coliseum football team.

Charley sticks to players who perform in the big bowl out Figueroa way, and accepts none but his personal observations as the basis of selection.

Here's Charley's pick:

Ends—Wellendorf (U.C.L.A.) and Felber (North Dakota.)
Tackles—Hall (U.S.C.) and Culver (Notre Dame.)
Guards—Baker (U.S.C.) and Beckett (California.)
Center—Williamson (U.S.C.)
Quarter—Carideo (Notre Dame.)
Halfbacks—Pinckert (U.S.C.) and Hufford (Washington.)
Fullback—Moses (Firemen.)

AN ALL-AMERICAN BATTLE

FOURTEEN all-Americans.

That should turn out the guard at the Coliseum when the Notre Dame All-Stars and Coast All-Stars tangle this afternoon.

There hasn't been such an aggregation of brilliant talent turned loose on a local field since Red Grange and his stalwarts played to a packed house here nearly five years ago.

Grange was the real Galloping Ghost of the gridiron in those days, and the team that faced him was headed by All-American George Wilson and other greats.

That was a great game, and today's should be the same.

IRISH STARS FAVORED IN CHARITY CONTEST TODAY

starred this year — Joe Savoldi, Frank Caridco, the perfect quarterback, and Marty Brill, the blocker, plus Jack Elder, the big star of the game against the Trojans at Chicago last fall.

It was Elder who fired the long 55-yard pass that Conley turned into the first Notre Dame touchdown.

GREAT BACKFIELD

You'll see that combination in action today.

And what a combination.

And in the line is Twomey, the man Tom Lieb says was the best forward on the 1929 Notre Dame team, although critics picked Jack Cannon, the guard, for all-American honors.

Cannon is also playing today, and the battle for line honors will be a treat.

And Chevigny, who broke through for a 50-yard run and a touchdown in the 1928 Notre Dame-S.C. game here.

And Mullins, the South Pasadena boy who got into only two plays in the S. C.-Notre Dame game here two weeks ago, because of a bad leg.

And others too numerous to mention.

Elaboration on these Notre Dame stars does not mean they have a walkaway against the Coast All-Stars today.

TOUGH LAY-OUT

But Phelan has had a tougher proposition than Hunk Anderson in that he had to take men accustomed to other systems and weld them together in a short time.

Phelan has done his job well. His boys have worked hard—much harder than their rivals—and they should play good football today.

Cotton Wilcox and Fest Welch played on Purdue's champion team last year; Russ Saunders was the Trojans' scoring ace in 1929, Price of Utah was the best fullback of the Rocky Mountain Conference on an undefeated team and his team-mate, Jonas, at center, has been a conference selection on all-star teams for three years.

Maffett of Georgia was one of the South's best ends this fall, Artman of Stanford is a giant tackle who needs no introduction, Shaw of Southern California was the most dependable Trojan lineman of the year, Maree was the Georgia Tech tackle who blocked Benny Lom's kick for the safety that won against California in the New Year's Day game two years ago. Apalt was the Trojans' star blocker this fall, Pickhard of Alabama was one of the Crimson Tide's outstanding stars on the 1927 team.

There is terrific power on each team, let alone that sure to be generated by Joe Savoldi, the greatest line puncher developed in the country this year.

It should be a crashing game, with individuals standing out like lighthouses in the fog. The starting time is set for 2 o'clock.

DOUBLE MAIN GO ON CARD TONIGHT

A double main event of two six-round bouts will feature the closing boxing show of the year at the Main-street Athletic Club tonight. A six-round special and two four-rounders complete the card. Tony Fuente, Mexican heavyweight, who has been campaigning in the East for more than a year, will meet Vic Perkins of Glendale in the wind-up. Nish Kerkorian, Armenian light-heavy, meets Manuel Vasquez in the second half of the double wind-up.

Harry Wallinder and Manuel Trevino, 130-pounders, box the six-round special. It is a rematch, Wallinder having taken a decision over the Mexican in a great bout a few weeks ago. Two fours complete the card. They are Eddie Lozano vs. Joe Skube, 147 pounds, and Vincent Martinez vs. Charles Parks, 147 pounds.

TWO FIELDING RECORDS SET

BY HUGH S. FULLERTON, JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (AP)—Record breaking in the National League last season was not confined to batting, the official fielding averages which were released today reveal. Two new marks were ground out in the mill of the players' daily toil in the field.

Chuck Klein of the Phillies, who won renown as a hitter, also stepped into the limelight as a defensive worker when he made a total of forty-four assists for right field during the season. The former record was thirty-nine, made by Michael F. Mitchell of Cincinnati in 1907.

DOUBLE PLAYS

The league as a whole compiled a new mark of 1318 double plays for the season. The former record, set in 1928, was 1227.

Two other outstanding features were that for the first time since 1908, the National League got through the season without having any games left unplayed at the finish and the feat of a pitcher, Ken Ash of Cincinnati, in winning a game on one pitched ball. Ash, a relief hurler, made one pitch to Grimm of Chicago when two men were on base. Grimm grounded into a triple play and Cincinnati came through with four runs in its half of the inning and won the game. Ray Kolp finished the game but Ash was credited with the victory.

The outstanding players in each position, according to the records, were Charley Grimm, Chicago, first base; Hughey Critz, Cincinnati and New York, second base; Sparky Adams, St. Louis, third base; Rabbit Maranville, Boston, shortstop; Wally Roettger, New York, outfield, and Gabby Hartnett, Chicago, catcher. Several other players in each position had higher averages than these six but they were recognized as leaders through having the highest marks of any who played in 100 or more games.

Grimm had an average of .3045, Critz's mark was .2742, beating out Frank Frisch of St. Louis who had .2689. Adams fielded at a .960 clip in 104 games at third and had a .9733 mark for twenty-five games at second; Maranville, also played two positions, having a .960 average in 128 games at shortstop and a perfect record for four games at third base. Roettger's .982 average enabled him to beat out the second best regular outfielder, Johnny Frederick of Brooklyn, by two points. Kiki Cuyler of Chicago came in third with .980. Hartnett made a .980 average, although his record of ten passed balls was the highest in the league.

PHELPS LEADS

Twenty-two pitchers had perfect fielding averages but Babe Phelps of Brooklyn was placed at the top of this list. He handled fifty-three chances without an error.

The New York Giants, who set a new league batting record of .319 also led in club fielding with a mark of .974. Cincinnati and Chicago were close behind with averages of .9773 and .9726. St. Louis made the most double plays of the record-breaking season, 176. There were four triple plays, Cincinnati contributing two, Brooklyn and Philadelphia one each.

COUGARS GET HARD WORKOUT

Today's schedule calls for practice at 10 a.m. in order to enable us to follow other activities arranged for the afternoon. A motor trip in the evening will complete a busy day.

I am not losing a bit of sleep over the condition of the boys physically or mentally. They refuse to be worried by being made the underdogs. It has not hurt their confidence in the slightest. Every notch that the odds leave them is so much more raw meat thrown to my Cougars.

Loss of confidence is one thing I am positive will not occur. Throughout the season my team has looked at "dope" and "odds" from the proper angle, realizing that the opposition cannot use more than eleven men at a time, that the game must be played within the white lines and that games are won by a vital something in addition to mere beef and speed.

FIREMEN PAY HONOR TO NODAK GRID TEAM

Fire department officials led by Chief Ralph Scott and Capt. E. O. Barnett paid honor to the North Dakota football squad last night at a dinner held at Stark's Restaurant. Chief Scott stated that the Nodaks were one of the finest teams that has performed here this season. He hoped that they would be able to return in the future for another game with the fire laddies. Col. Stark, Hugh Pinney and Frank Roche were made honorary battalion chiefs.

Tales of a Wayside Tee

"HOW many golfers," writes H. H. F., "have any one stroke from a short putt to a full drive they would be willing to carry over intact through the next year? I am not referring to the best of the pros and the best of the amateurs, but to the average variety who might play between 85 and 110."

The average golfer's game is made up of many startling varieties. You can check back on the list of those who know and see just how this works out. For a few examples:

1. The one who drives well, around the 80 class, and whose iron play is poor. Net average—95.

2. Those who can't use a wooden club but who are fair with the irons.

3. Those who can't handle the wooden clubs or the long irons, but who can pitch and putt effectively.

4. Those who are not very good with any club, but are not terribly bad with any club.

5. Those who are poor up to the green but who are deadly once they can sight the cup.

6. Those who are fair up to the green, but are cock-eyed putters.

I think the average golfer, if he had his choice of one high-class shot, would take the drive. A good long drive down the middle is at least the most all around satisfying shot in golf. It may not have any greater thrill than the long iron or the brassie to the green, but it is the foundation of most sound golf.

The golfer who is hooking, slicing or topping his tee shots over a good course is usually helpless.

The Test

WILLIE MacFARLANE proved this some time back. The ex-open champion had been giving one of his club members from 12 to 20 strokes. Willie had been shooting around 70—his opponent around 100.

"Nearly all this difference," his opponent said one day, "is in the tee shot." They agreed to play even the next time, each taking the other's drive. The 100 player found himself playing a second from a straight long tee shot. MacFarlane had to play his second from various and unusual places, about 80 yards back of his normal position.

MacFarlane had a 77 and his opponent a 78. They played again and the duffer won by one hole at approximately the same scoring pace. By using the professional's driving the duffer had taken more than twenty strokes per round off his game.

"In place of playing mashie shots or No. 3 or No. 4 irons to the green," Willie said, "I was using brassies and spoons and long irons and I was playing from the rough, from traps and often back of trees."

The missed drive brings about instant depression in playing the hole. There may be a subsequent recovery that makes up for the mistake, but it doesn't take many missed drives to wreck a round.

Bad putting might be almost as annoying, but this is used more as an excuse or an alibi than as a confession of some fault. "I would have had an 80, but I took three putts on eight greens,"—etc., etc. You never hear anybody say, "I would have had an 80, but I missed nine drives."

The better golfers appreciate the long iron to the pin, but that is because most of them take a good drive for granted. Let them begin missing their tee shots and see what happens on a championship course. The type of course can make a tremendous difference. If the missed drive isn't penalized to any great extent it may do no great damage, where the missed approach may run into far more trouble. I think the average golfer would say, "Give me a long, straight drive and I'll gamble on the rest of it working out in some way."

The Great Riddle

ANOTHER common variety of golf might be called "the shifting game." That is to say the player drives well one day and approaches badly. The next time he drives badly, but his approaching is all right. And possibly the next start finds the putter has turned into a corkscrew. It is these constant shifts that leave the average golfer bewildered and baffled. But it also affects the best. I recall Leo Diegel before the open at Winged Foot. "I'm playing fine golf up to the greens," he said, "but my putting is terrible."

I saw Leo after his first round. "How did they go?" I asked him.

"If it hadn't been for my putter," he said, "I wouldn't have broken 90. I couldn't hit a shot with any club up to the green, but I never holed as many good putts, anywhere from five to fifteen feet." His entire game had changed around overnight, from one round to another.

If that can happen to a Diegel, why should the average golfer be astonished at the bizarre turns that strike his own swing?

MERCURY FIVE TRIMS AGGIES

en points. Picke.., however, proved the outstanding player of the evening. The way this big fellow can snag the ball off his opponents' backboard and intercept passes is a marvel. And down under his own basket Pickell is practically impossible to step. He's a specialist, as Chic Sale would put it, at tapping the caseba through the hoop when his mates have missed their shots.

Carl Shy, who went out of the game in the first half when he suffered a cut mouth in collision, and Jim De Mers dropped in free tosses for the only Mercury points not made by Wilcox, Hyatt and Pickell.

The Aggies kept the pace at a speedy clip throughout and forced the L.A.A.C. to play its best brand of basketball to win. Capt. Parkinson, with seven points, was high scorer for the visitors. Watkins and Allsop following him with six apiece. Young played a nice game at guard until he was forced out on four personals.

Utah got the jump and was off to a 4-0 lead, but the Mercuries ran up twelve points after getting started and were set in front, 13-12, at half-time.

The Aggies managed to sneak up within six points of the Mercuries a couple of times during the second half, but, after the score was 31-25, the Clubmen broke out in a scoring rash and ran up nine digits in a hurry to put the game on ice.

The narrow L.A.A.C. court appeared to work a handship on the Aggies, who never had a chance to get their fast passing attack working in such cramped quarters. The officiating by Daugherty and Dubin was very good.

JIM LONDOS WINNER OVER INDIAN MATMAN

More than 10,000 persons jammed the arena and several thousand more were turned away. Just before the wind-up, Ray Fabiana, the promoter, announced that 25 per cent of the gross receipts—approximately $5000—would be given to the committee on unemployment relief.

Billy Doag and Gene Mako, the two favored players in the junior boys' singles, will play for that title at noon today. All other final matches will be played tomorrow. The mixed doubles is scheduled to start today.

LIONS, BEARS BATTLE IN ICE TILT TONIGHT

With the local hockey circuit starting on its final half of the season tonight, the four clubs in the California loop are expected to shoot the works in their remaining twelve games. Tonight's tussle brings together the Gilmore Lions, last season's champions, and the Sunfreze Bears. Two of the fastest sextets in the loop. The Bears, with Mclellan, Collette, Woodley and Weber in their line-up, have four of the outstanding players in the loop. And yet with these veterans, Sunfreze has played fair hockey.

JAPAN SELECTS 1931 DAVIS CUP NET TEAM

TOKIO, Dec. 27. (Saturday) (AP) The executive committee of the Japan Lawn Tennis Association today named a 1931 Davis Cup team composed of Takeichi Harada, Hyotaro Sato and Jiro Sato. Japan again will challenge in the European zone, a practice inaugurated last year.

Both Harada and Hyotaro Sato were members of the 1930 team, but Jiro Sato will be new to Davis Cup competition. Jiro Sato, Waseda University star, made an undeniable claim for a position on the 1931 team by capturing the national singles title in the recent all-Japan tournament last November.

It is considered probable he will be paired with Harada in the doubles.

BEAR CAGERS RALLY TO DEFEAT NEVADA

RENO (Nev.) Dec. 26. (AP)—Coach Clarence M. (Nibs) Price's University of California basketball squad came from behind an early lead piled up by the University of Nevada hoopsters to win the opening game of the year here tonight, 28 to 21.

Dan Bledsoe, sensational sophomore center for the wolf pack, was high-point man for the contest with five field goals and two free throws. Kintana and Davis each scored four points to share high-score honors for California. Nevada led at half-time, 14 to 12.

JACKSON STOPS REED

SAN DIEGO, Dec. 26. (AP)—Dynamite Jackson, Los Angeles Negro heavyweight, won a technical knockout over Wild Bill Reed, Columbus heavyweight, in the second round of a ten-round bout here tonight.

STANFORD FIVE HARD AT WORK

Indians Prepare for Game With Y.M.I. Quintet

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Dec. 26. (Exclusive)—Stanford's basketball team was hard at [illegible] again today following the short Christmas holiday it was allowed in order to prepare for the game Young Men's Institute five of San Francisco, which will play the Indians here Tuesday night.

Coach John Bunn, after watching the Stanford weaknesses as regards to shoot goals and follow passes to the basket as displayed by the San Jose Teachers' game, in which the Cardinals won, 27 to 22, declared he would emphasize shooting and passing in the game with the San Francisco quintet.

Bunn intends to keep to original line-up, as started in the San Jose game, hoping the team celebrated his debut as Stanford coach.

Diminutive Tom Cooley, forward, who is tested as to the find of the season, has a good chance to retain his berth if he continues to perform as he did against the Teachers.

Capt. Mike Reynolds, a former Los Angeles high-school star, is certain to stay at the center post unless his work in one of the forward positions is better than that of the players now occupying the posts.

Vance Fawcett, who showed a marked improvement in playing over that of a year ago, is fighting down an uncertain berth at guard. His place on the first team depends largely on the showing during the next few games.

Kelleys Face Royal Giants in Twin Bill

With Win Ballou and Ray Schupp slated to handle the pitching duties for them, Fred Haney Kelley Kars will be out to hold off the Philadelphia Royal Giants in both games of tomorrow's double-header at Wrigley Field. Haney is confident that Schupp's puzzling array of southpaw stuff will check the all-star colored squad, while Ballou also figures to turn back the Giants.

The games will mark the second-half debut of Haney's strengthened Kelley line-up. At the Giants, who won the first half of the Winter League race in a breeze, had their second-half start in the Commercial Club Christmas Day. The defeat ended an eleven-game winning streak.

Lefty Foster, who struck out fifteen Commercial Club players on Sunday, will pitch one of tomorrow's games for the colored aggregation, while Brewer or Ray will be on the mound in the other.

The first game of the twin bill will get under way at 1:15 o'clock. Ladies will be admitted free.

Miss Baggage Wins Feature

AGUA CALIENTE (Mex.) Dec. 26. (AP)—Los femmes collected their Christmas gift a day late this afternoon as the Agua Caliente Jockey Club celebrated its first holiday by staging the second winter race meeting. Fair fans were admitted free as guests of the management. Thursdays and Fridays are set aside for that purpose.

Miss Baggage, a fleet 3-year-old filly, appropriately won the feature number of the afternoon, the Palm City purse. She led all the way in the five and one-half furlong dash to win, pulled up by a length and one-half.

First race, five and one-half furlongs, claiming—Terry O'Neil, Ben Ali Boy, Red Rider, second; Dusty Miller, third. Time, 1:09 2-5.

Second race, five and one-half furlongs, claiming, purse—Miss Baggage, Forecaster, second; Ballad, third. Time, 1:09 2-5.

COACH ABEL QUITS VIRGINIA GRID POST

RICHMOND (Va.) Dec. 26. (AP)—Earl Abel, head football coach at the University of Virginia, has resigned. Neither he nor Johnny Driver, director of athletics, could be reached tonight, but Fred Scrivenell, chairman of the board of committee on athletics, confirmed the report of the resignation.

Coach Abel came to the university under a three-year contract which does not expire until July 1, 1932.

Voshell said the athletic board met Saturday in Charlottesville and conferred with Mr. Abel regarding his resignation.

Cricket

HOBART (Tasmania) Dec. 26. (AP)—The cricket game between the touring West Indies team and Tasmania, ended in a draw today after rain had interrupted play several times.

Birkett and Martin opened for the Tasmanian bowler and were 123 to the good when play was called at the close of play.

West Indies had scored 337 runs in two innings when play was stopped.

STANFORD FIVE HARD AT WORK

STANFORD UNIVERSITY, Dec. 26. (Exclusive)—Stanford's basketball team was hard at practice again today following the short Christmas holiday it was allowed, in order to prepare for the tough Young Men's Institute five of San Francisco, which will play the Indians here Tuesday night.

Coach John Bunn, after analyzing the Stanford weakness as inability to shoot goals and follow through to the basket as displayed in the San Jose Teachers' game, which the Cardinals won, 27 to 22, declared he would emphasize shooting and passing in the game with the San Francisco quintet.

Bunn intends to keep his original Hse-up, as started in the San Jose game, intact. This team celebrated his debut as Stanford coach.

Diminutive Tom Corley at forward, who is rated as the find of the season, has a good chance to retain his berth if he continues to perform as he did against the Teachers.

Capt. Mike Reynolds, a former Los Angeles high-school star, is certain to stay at the center position unless his work in one of the forward positions is better than that of the players now occupying these posts.

Vance Pawcett, who showed a marked improvement in playing over that of a year ago, is holding down an uncertain berth at guard. His place on the first team depends largely on the showing during the next few games.

Kelleys Face Royal Giants in Twin Bill

With Win Ballou and Ferdie Schupp slated to handle the hurling duties for them, Fred Haney's Kelley Kars will be out to knock off the Philadelphia Royal Giants in both games of tomorrow's double-header at Wrigley Field. Haney is confident that Schupp's puzzling array of southpaw stuff will defeat the all-star colored squad, while Ballou also figures to turn back the Giants.

The games will mark the second-half debut of Haney's strengthened Kelley Kar outfit. The Giants, who won the first half of the Winter League race in a breeze, lost their only second-half start to the Commercial Club Christmas Day. The defeat ended an eleven-game winning streak.

Lefty Foster, who struck out sixteen Commercial Club players last Sunday, will pitch one of tomorrow's games for the colored aggregation, while Brewer or Britt will be on the mound in the other.

The first game of the hargain bill will get under way at 1:30 o'clock. Ladies will be admitted free.

Miss Baggage Wins Feature

AGUA CALIENTE (Mex.) Dec. 26. Los femmes collected their Christmas gift a day late this afternoon as the Agua Caliente Jockey Club celebrated its first ladies' day of the second winter race meeting. Fair fans were admitted free as guests of the management. Tuesdays and Fridays are set aside for that purpose.

Miss Baggage, a fleet 3-year-old filly, appropriately won the featured number of the afternoon, the Palm City purse. She led all the way in the five and one-half furlong dash to win, pulled up by a length and one-half.

First race, five and one-half furlongs, claiming—Terry O'Malley, first; Kelly, second; Cheshire, third. Time, 1:07 4-5.

Second race, one and sixteenth miles, claiming—Hornpipe, first; Miss Formander, second; W. Morris, third. Time, 1:47 3-5.

Third race, six furlongs, claiming—Miss Baggage, first; Cheshire, second; Terry O'Malley, third. Time, 1:13 2-5.

Fourth race, six furlongs, claiming—Formander, first; Kelly, second; Miss Gaul, third. Time, 1:13 2-5.

Fifth race, seven furlongs, claiming—Sunspot, first; Tube, second; Knight's Ink, third. Time, 1:26 4-5.

Sixth race, one and one-half furlongs, claiming—Pyrarogah, first; Mediterranean, second; Hornpipe, third. Time, 2:39 4-5.

Seventh race, one and one-sixteenth miles, claiming—Passions, first; R. West, second; Knight's Ink, third. Time, 1:47 3-5.

Eighth race, one and one-half furlongs, claiming—Terry O'Malley, first; Kelly, second; Cheshire, third. Time, 1:13 2-5.

Ninth race, one and one-half furlongs, claiming—Miss Gaul, first; Tube, second; Sunspot, third. Time, 1:13 2-5.

Tenth race, one and one-half furlongs, claiming—Miss Baggage, first; Cheshire, second; Terry O'Malley, third. Time, 1:13 2-5.

BROKERS' LOANS AGAIN DECLINE

Thirteenth Weekly Decrease Reported by Board

Total Marks Another Bottom Since Compilation

Drop of 40 Per Cent Shown in Past Three Months

WASHINGTON, Dec. 26. (AP)—Loans to brokers and dealers held by New York Federal Reserve member banks for the week ending the 24th inst. were announced by the Federal Reserve Board today as $1,919,000,000 representing a decrease of $80,000,000, compared to the preceding week and establishing another new low record. The loans for the week ending December 25, 1929, were $3,328,000,000.

The detailed distribution of the loans over the three weeks dealt within the board's report was:

	Dec. 24.	Dec. 17.	Dec. 25, 1929.
For own account:	$1,262,000,000	$1,184,000,000	$ 843,000,000
For account of out-of-town banks:	294,000,000	305,000,000	716,000,000
For account of others:	363,000,000	430,000,000	$1,767,000,000

Brokers' loans as reported yesterday by the Federal Reserve Board at $1,919,000,000 as of the 24th inst. represent the thirteenth consecutive decrease that has been shown by the weekly statement, the aggregate decline from September 24, last, totaling $1,303,000,00 or 40 per cent. The highest total on record was marked October 1, 1929, at $6,804,000,000.

Security loans to members of the Los Angeles Stock Exchange as of the 24th inst. were announced by the exchange yesterday at $13,406,-160, a gain for the week of $413,-114. The loans marked the year's low the 17th inst. at $12,987,046 and the high on March 5 at $29,419,173.

Sears, Roebuck Sales Continue Under Last Year

CHICAGO, Dec. 26.—While sales of Sears, Roebuck & Co. continued to run below a year ago, the Christmas trade came up to expectations of the management, it was reported here today. Indications are that gross sales for 1930 will somewhat exceed $390,000,000 against $443,-453,000 in 1929.

The estimate that net income for this year will equal about $3 a share on approximately 4,750,000 common shares at present outstanding remains unchanged.

The company will close 1930 with a considerably better current ratio than a year ago. Inventories will show a substantial decrease from the $78,000,000 at the end of 1929 while notes payable will probably be down at least $10,000,000 from last year's level of $30,798,000.

Graham-Paige Reports Loss

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—Graham-Paige Motors Corporation and subsidiaries reported today net loss for nine months ended September 30, last, of $2,228,884 after charges, against net profits of $1,396,344 a year ago, equal after preferred dividends to 65 cents a share on 1,726,-941 common shares.

Operations for the third quarter resulted in a net loss of $1,347,924 against net loss of $391,480 in the preceding quarter and net profits of $54,633 in the third quarter last year.

Motor Company on New Models

TOLEDO, Dec. 26.—Willys-Overland Company is employing 8500 men and is running its plant here five days a week in production of its new models. The company turned out 8000 cars this month in its plant here.

If the New York automobile show gives the industry the impetus expected, more employees will be added next month, L. A. Miller, president, stated in expressing the opinion that the company officials consider the outlook encouraging.

DIVIDEND PASSED

CHICAGO, Dec. 26.—Directors of Inland Utilities, Inc., today passed the quarterly dividend of 42 1-2 cents on Class A stock due January 1, next.

Bank Rate Cut Regarded as Helpful Move

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (AP)—Dun's tomorrow will say:

A point of general interest was injected into an otherwise uneventful holiday week by the unexpected reduction of the New York bank rate. The marking down of the rediscount charge to 2 per cent, a figure without parallel in the annals of the Federal Reserve system and the lowest current quotation of any central institution in the world, has been variously interpreted, yet is commonly regarded as a constructive move.

Thus far, the effects of the prolonged easy money policy have not been clearly or widely revealed, but an accentuation of this procedure at the present period is viewed as a probable stimulus to confidence. The year which now is closing has been one of sweeping economic readjustment, and the difficulties and adverse results of the transition have been demonstrated in many ways. Compilation of the annual statistics will add little to what already is known, so that the main attention is focused on the future.

Allowing for seasonal influences, the last full week of 1930 has brought no change of outstanding importance in commercial trends, yet none was anticipated. It is possible, however, without minimizing the obstacles and unsatisfactory aspects which continue, to draw encouragement from some of the existing portents.

Weekly bank clearings $7,390,619,-000, a decrease of 14.8 per cent from last year.

RICHFIELD PLANS PROGRESS

Company Expected to Pledge Series "B" Bonds to Secure Notes to Bankers; Merger Not Unlikely

BY EARLE E. CROWE

Following the reorganization of the Richfield Oil Company board of directors, plans were under way yesterday looking to the funding of the company's indebtedness to the banks, amounting to approximately $10,-250,000. The financing program, providing also for the addition later of new working capital, is expected to be ready for announcement soon.

Current conjectures indicate the probability of the banking group accepting the company's notes for the indebtedness, collaterally secured by a Series B issue of the Richfield first and collateral 6 per cent bonds. The authorized amount of the issue is $75,000,000, of which $25,401,000 is outstanding as Series A.

NEW ASSETS AVAILABLE

Under the terms of the indenture, the company is allowed to issue additional series of bonds up to 75 per cent of the cost of new properties or the cost of additions and betterments. Since the Series A bonds were first issued, the company has developed the Richfield Oil Corporation of New York, has acquired control of the Universal Consolidated and improved its properties substantially.

Additional issues, however, are permitted under the indenture only if net earnings after depreciation and depletion are three times annual interest requirements on the total funded indebtedness under the mortgage for twelve out of fourteen consecutive months, or if average annual earnings for the two or three preceding years are three times interest charges. It is probable the Series B bonds will be issued under the latter provision.

With Richfield's finances again placed in order, the company is expected to ride through the coming months satisfactorily. The reorganization of the directorate associates new men with the company who carry additional weight in banking and petroleum circles and who form a strong advisory group to work with James A. Talbot as chairman and W. C. McDuffie as president. The new board comprises the following:

NEW BOARD LISTED

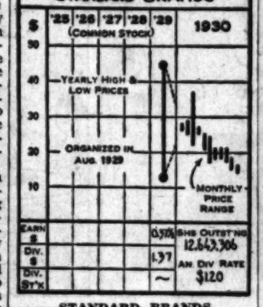
J. A. Talbot, chairman; W. C. McDuffie, S. M. Haskins, Carey S. Hill, R. I. Rogers, Fred W. Flint, Jr., J. W. Henderson, Nion R. Tucker, Garrett:son Dulin, R. W. Walsh, Harry J. Bauer, H. H. Cotton, Joseph P. Loeb, John Treanor and P. H. O'Neill.

At some time in the future, it is likely that the question of consolidating Richfield and Pacific Western Oil Corporation will be a live topic again. The two companies are complementary, in that the former is primarily a marketing organization and the latter solely a producing company. The crude-oil purchase contract existing between the two would also be eliminated.

Pacific Western has always been regarded as a logical sale some day to one of the large marketing companies in order to insure an outlet for increasing production, while Richfield has been forced to buy too much crude for its refineries. As president of both companies, it may be logically expected that Mr. McDuffie will propose a plan at the right time that will be equitable and satisfactory to both groups of stockholders.

WHAT'S BEHIND YOUR STOCK

STANDARD BRANDS



STANDARD BRANDS

With the Fleischmann Company as a nucleus for the organization, this concern was formed in 1929 as a combination of important food products manufacturers. Constituent units include, besides the Fleischmann Company, important yeast maker, the E. W. Gillett Co., Ltd., largest Canadian manufacturer of baking powder, the Royal Baking Powder Company, Chase & Sanborn, selling fine coffees and teas, and Widlar Food Products Company, producer and packer of numerous food specialties. The marketing facilities of the organization include more than 900 direct selling agencies which contact retail dealer customers all over the country.

In the nine months ended September 30, .88 cents was reported earned on the common shares outstanding. No direct comparison with this figure is available, but it is probably below the levels of 1929 earnings for the individual constituent companies because of the large amounts expended this year in rounding out, developing, and consolidating the activities of the organization following the merger late in 1929. These development expenses, conservatively charged directly against current earnings, will probably be favorably reflected in future earnings results.

CAPITALIZATION

Funded debt	None

NEW YORK EXCHANGE SEAT PRICE HOLDS

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—Arrangements were made today for the sale of a seat on the New York Stock Exchange at $200,000. This price is unchanged from that for the two last previous sales, prior to which sales were $10,000 higher.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (AP)—Trading in cotton was very quiet today, being confined largely to evening up of January contracts incident to the circulation of notices. Trade interests appeared to be buying the January against sales of later deliveries, and there also was considerable switching from near to late months. The price movement was somewhat irregular, with an opening advance followed by reactions under realizing and some southern or local selling.

At 2 o'clock January was ruling around 9.68 and May 10.21, or about 3 to 7 points net lower.

COTTONSEED OIL

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (Exclusive)—The cottonseed oil market was moderately active today with trading largely of a switching variety between locals and commission houses. Old December sold at 60 points advance on covering of only one lot, but otherwise the market was barely steady, reflecting the easiness in cotton, grains and stocks. New contracts closed unchanged to 6 points lower. Total sales, 4750 barrels, including 100 in old contracts and 4650 in new. There were two new December tenders issued. COMBINE OF TRUCK UNITS PROGRESSES

Stockholders of Fageol and Moreland Due to Get Merger Plans Soon

Directors of Fageol Motors Company of Oakland and of the Moreland Motor Truck Company of Los Angeles will receive a plan of consolidation the early part of January, at which time the values and benefits of merging will be given definite consideration, according to a statement issued yesterday by officials of the two companies.

"It is evident that the Pacific Coast and intermountain States will be the center of activity in a new era of transportation development during the prosperous years that will follow this present period," the statement said. "It is believed that the future destiny of business in the entire Pacific area, which includes great undeveloped markets abroad, offers even greater opportunities for a strongly organized western manufacturer of transportation equipment.

"There is a definite need and widespread demand for a line of motor trucks and busses built in the West by an organization with interests concentrated in the Pacific area. Western owners and operators want transportation equipment designed, engineered and built to meet their special requirements.

"Plans are now being made to take the necessary steps to build a manufacturing and sales organization to take advantage of the opportunities of this new period. Consideration is being given to the benefits of merging these two outstanding Coast truck and bus builders into one stronger manufacturing and sales organization."

Sugar Company Retires Bonds

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 26. — California and Hawaiian Sugar Refining Corporation has called for redemption February 1, next, $700,-000 face value of its outstanding first mortgage 7 per cent gold bonds dated February 1, 1922. The bonds will be called at 102 1-2 under sinking fund provisions. There are $4,900,000 of these bonds outstanding now and $2,100,000 have been retired out of the authorized $7,000,-000 issued.

The company has a capitalization of $10,000,000 represented by common shares of $100 par value, the entire issue of $2,500,000 8 per cent preferred stock having been retired in 1926. The bonds have been retired at the rate of $700,000 a year commencing February 1, 1926.

OVER-EXPANSION IN CEMENT

BY JOHN F. SINCLAIR

(Copyright, 1930, by the North American Newspaper Alliance)

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—B. F. Affleck, president of the Universal Atlas Cement Company, says the cement industry, like many other industries just now, is overexpanded and "in spots disorganized and filled with sharpshooters."

"The American cement mills have a capacity of about 260,000,000 barrels a year," said Mr. Affleck to the writer. "While the demand at the present time is approximately 150,-000,000 to 160,000,000. In other words, we now have 40 per cent more capacity than demand. I should say that there are about ninety different companies working 140 plants, engaged in making cement in the United States."

"Then the plants, as a whole, are running at about 50 per cent capacity?" I asked.

"That is substantially correct. In such a situation, naturally, you'll find plenty of firms, embarrassed for ready cash, who will sell below cost of production. It can hardly be avoided in such times as we have been going through. The next twelve months should see a good deal of this unhealthy situation cleared up."

Checking from the figures supplied by the United States Bureau of Mines, and other governmental agencies, I find that the overcapacity of American cement plants during the last five years has been larger than ever before.

In 1907, the total capacity of American mills was about 55,000,000 barrels, with 50,000,000 barrels of demand. The business grew fast. New plants were constructed, and the business always kept far ahead of the demand. By 1919, the capacity had reached 130,100,000 barrels but the demand was 90,000,000. Still the cement men continued to build. By 1929, the industry had 260,000,000-barrel capacity while the demand was 170,000,000 barrels.

However, prices have been well maintained on the whole. Cement was $1.65 a barrel for the first seven months of 1929 as against $1.60 for 1930.

The great reductions in the passenger fares between Europe and Canada, announced by all of the major trans-Atlantic lines, should spurt European travel business during the present winter months. Fare reductions of from 10 to 50 per cent have been made, depending upon the accommodations.

Passenger trade between the United States and Europe has suffered a severe decline this year. The Brussels Atlantic conference estimated a decrease of about 30,000 passengers during 1930.

Apparently these new fare reductions are to be made permanent, for they apply not only to the present winter rates, but also to summer rates as well.

The Leviathan, the flagship of the United States Lines, has reduced its major suites, consisting of three rooms, three baths, a veranda, and a trunk room, from $2340 to $1530 for three persons. Smaller suites costing $1000 or more, range from $755 to $780 under the new schedule.

It has been estimated that the de luxe outside rooms will cost only $5 a day more than the minimum fare.

Week-end trips to London are liable to become as popular as airplane parties to Palm Beach and Miami now.

QUOTATIONS ON WOOL AT OLD LEVELS

BOSTON, Dec. 26. (AP)—The Commercial Bulletin of Boston will say tomorrow:

The week has been dull in the wool market as is usual during the year-end holiday and inventory period. Such few purchases of wool as have been made this week have been chiefly of the fine and half-blood order on which prices have been changed little, if any. Medium wools continue neglected for the most part.

The latest statement of selling policy by the wool co-operatives has created a feeling of uncertainty in the trade as to just where the selling price of the National Wool Marketing Corporation really is, although there have been assurances that no plan of dumping wool is being considered. New York still is dull and apparently bewildered.

The foreign markets are mostly closed for holiday period. The river plate markets are slightly easier.

Mohair is dull and prices nominally quoted without change.

The rail and water shipments of wool from Boston from January 1, 1930, to December 24, 1930, inclusive, were 128,400,000 pounds against 168,294,000 pounds for the same period last year. The receipts from January 1, 1930, to December 24, 1930, inclusive, were 218,558,813 pounds against 301,134,500 pounds for the same period last year.

The Bulletin will publish the following quotations:

Associated Gas and Electric in Earnings Gain

In a consolidated statement of earnings and expenses of properties since dates of acquisition, the Associated Gas and Electric System for the twelve months ended November 30, last, showed gross revenues of $110,960,292, as compared with $85,-826,042 in the preceding year, an increase of $25,134,250 or 29 per cent, according to a report issued yesterday.

Net earnings were $46,808,745, an increase of $9,293,965, or 25 per cent over the $37,514,780 reported for the corresponding period of last year. After underlying dividends and interest, the balance was $17,658,278, compared with $12,962,480 in the previous year, a gain of $4,695,798, or 36 per cent.

A comparative statement of an earning power basis in which the dates of acquisition are disregarded showed total gross income for the year at $112,251,494, as against $109,009,317 in the previous year, an increase of $3,543,177, or 3 per cent. On the same basis net earnings were $46,581,022, or slightly better than last year's net of $46,495,562.

Corn Products to Pay Special

NEW YORK, Dec. 26.—Extra dividends were declared today by Corn Products Refining Company and W. R. Grace & Co. Corn Products voted a special of 50 cents on the common stock in addition to the regular quarterly of 75 cents, both payable January 20 to stockholders of record January 5.

W. R. Grace & Co., engaged in an exporting and importing business and holding company for subsidiaries in many industries, voted an extra of $1 a share, in addition to the regular quarterly of $1 on the common stock, payable the 29th inst. to stockholders of record the 27th inst. A similar extra was paid a year ago.

CHICAGO RATE FIRM

CHICAGO, Dec. 26. (Exclusive)—The Federal Reserve bank here made no announcement today regarding its rediscount rate of 3½ per cent.

LOS ANGELES EXCHANGE

Stock Market Softens Generally While Bolsa Chica Oil Hits New High Record

Bolsa Chica featured the resumption of trading on the Los Angeles Stock Exchange yesterday by advancing further into record high territory on the prospects of its well at Coal Oil Point. The issue ran up 2 points to a new high at 17½ and closed at 17 after a turnover of 2700 shares.

The balance of the market drifted easier with only the more popular issues being called in the dealings. Richfield Oil, despite the announcement of a change in management, softened with the rest of the market, falling off ½ to 5 3-8. Union of California, continuing to trade rapidly, fell 7-8 to 21 1-4 and Union Associates, ½ to 20 5-8. Standard of California with a turnover equally as brisk dropped ½ to 44 3-8. Rio Grande Oil, on light sales, eased 3-8 to 5 5-8.

Transamerica, less active than usual, yielded 1-8 to 12½. Security-First National Bank, however, continued in a downward direction to mark another new bottom at 80 after a loss of 1 1-4 points for the session. No other bank stocks were traded.

Southern California Edison sold down a point to 42½ on light sales. Claude Neon broke 1½ points to 14. Los Angeles Gas and Electric prior preferred rallied a point to 102. Broadway Department Store preferred, ex-warrants, crossed the board at 65 for a net drop of 3 points. Pacific Finance softened 3-8 to 14 3-8, while Pacific American Fire Insurance and International Re-Insurance held unchanged at 25 and 32, respectively.

"TIMES" THEATER GUIDE

MOTION PICTURES

California, Main and Eighth—"Oriente y Occidente." Reviewed in today's Times.

Chinese, 6925 Hollywood Boulevard, "Morocco." Von Sternberg's style, styled to reverse and realism, is a definite contribution to the screen. Garry Cooper and Marlene Dietrich.

Forum, Pico at Norton—"Maybe It's Love." College adventures with Joe E. Brown.

Million Dollar, Broadway at Third—Held in West. Lupe Velez scintillates as a Chinese girl.

R.K.O., 842 at Eighth—"Madonna of the Streets." Reviewed in today's Times. Adds make the most of a redemption story.

United Artists, Broadway near Ninth—"One Heavenly Night." The talent and charm of Evelyn Laye, a lovely cinema star, is reflected to fine effect.

STAGE

Belasco, 8th at Eleventh—"Do Penn the Devil." Some moral of this I don't let your wife support you. The play is capital entertainment.

El Capitan, Hollyw'd Blvd. nr. Highland—Reviewed in today's Times. Joe E. Brown supplies in this Ring Lardner farce score, a decided hit.

Hollywood Playhouse, Vine near Hollywood Boulevard—"Stepping Sisters." A rowdy farce that doesn't quite come off, except in noise. With May Boley.

Music Box, Hollywood near Gower—"Peter Pan." Scenically sumptuous revival of Never-Never Land fantasy with Marion Clayton a gay Peter Pan. Sure to please youngsters, especially.

BURLESQUE

Follies, Main at Fourth—Burlesque.

FATHER SLAIN WITH GUN HE GAVE TO SON

BELEN (Miss.) Dec. 26 (AP)—A shotgun H. L. Hall gave his son Hall, 12 years of age, as a Christmas present, is said by authorities today to have been used by the youth to kill his father in a family dispute last night. According to the police report, Hall, a plantation manager, was shot to death after threatening his wife with a stick of wood in the presence of Paul and five other children.

FILM ACTOR WOULD KEEP DAUGHTER

Richard Barthelmess to Seek Full-Time Custody of His Child

In his first public statement involving the fight he has waged for a number of years over the custody of his daughter, Mary Hay Barthelmess, 8 years of age, Richard Barthelmess, motion-picture actor, yesterday declared he believes the child's welfare was not fully considered by a recent ruling which gives his former wife her custody for six months of each year.

RICHARD BARTHELMESS

The order which sends back the child to her mother on the 30th inst., came from Dr. S. Parkes Cadman, a Brooklyn clergyman, before whom Barthelmess and his former wife laid the question of the child's custody for arbitration.

Barthelmess said yesterday he is led to make his public statement in view of asserted unfair tactics employed by his former wife.

"I feel it is an injustice to break up the child's school year and I feel that if Dr. Cadman were thinking of the child's welfare he would not have rendered such a decision," he said.

Barthelmess said it is the intention to abide by Dr. Cadman's ruling and his agreement with his former wife, but he intimated he may take other steps to have the order set aside. Just what his future plans are regarding his daughter's custody he would not say.

SWEDISH-AMERICAN YULE DINNER MONDAY

Swedish Americans of Los Angeles are to enjoy a charity dinner Monday evening at the Mona Lisa Cafe. This is an annual affair of the Swedish American National League of this city. Dr. Albin Peterson is to be the chairman and a program of music and song has been provided.

POSTMAN PROMPT SANTA

O'Brien Reports 2000 Extra Workers Here Kept Up With Great Christmas Mail Rush

Santa Claus was on time in Los Angeles this year. The package from Sister Mary from Kokomo, Ind., containing a hand-made table runner and the letter from good old Uncle Bill containing that $100 check were delivered promptly by the local letter carriers, with a few exceptions, a check-up yesterday revealed.

The 10,000,000 or more Christmas greetings from everyone you have been introduced to the past five years also were delivered promptly, Postmaster O'Brien said yesterday.

"I am convinced that Los Angeles people mailed their gifts early," he said. "Our peak day was on the 20th inst. There were heavy mailings for ten days before. We will have every Christmas package, every Christmas greeting card and every letter delivered this morning."

At Central station, A. V. Anderson, local baggage agent for the Union Pacific and the Southern Pacific, said but five carloads of Christmas mail arrived Christmas, and but two carloads yesterday. The peak showed close to forty carloads of Christmas packages. At the Santa Fe, while no figures were available, officials declared the mail receipts to be light.

"We used ten schoolhouses in various parts of the city as depositories for Christmas packages and letters," Postmaster O'Brien said. "We employed 2000 extra people to aid us in the rush. I made a trip around yesterday afternoon, and all the storage piles at the schoolhouses had been delivered. Things will be back to normal again today, despite the fact that no deliveries were made in any part of the city on the 25th. It looks as if everybody mailed their packages early."

The air-mail terminals, however, were piled up for a short period Christmas, according to E. J. Fluke, superintendent of mails for Trans-

JUDGMENT FOR STORM LOSS UPHELD

City Loses Appeal of Mulder Case Involving Damage to Dwelling

Storm waters carried dirt, sand and debris on to the land of Fred Mulder in West Third street near Cabrillo street, San Pedro, as a result of neglect by the city in street improvement work whereby the grade of a thoroughfare was changed, interfering with the natural flow of run-off water, according to a decision handed down yesterday by Division One, District Court of Appeal.

Mulder was awarded $1790 by Superior Court for damages suffered. He said his dwelling was made uninhabitable as a result of the matter washed upon his lot in a rain storm on March 1, 1926. The city appealed, contending there was no municipal liability, that the flood was caused by natural run-off of surface waters and that the storm was of unprecedented character.

The court, in a decision written by Presiding Justice Conrey and concurred in by Justices York and Houser, held that on the facts shown by the evidence it was the duty of the city to maintain over the street work such supervision as would reasonably guard against any neglect which would leave the street in an unsafe and dangerous condition.

A new job, that of radio technician to superintend the City Council's loud-speaker system, was created yesterday by the Council. The position pays $100 per month.

STATE OUTLAY TO BE PARED

Vandegrift Tells of Rolph Budget Economy Plans in Talk to Statistical Association

The budget of the State of California, as prepared for the administration of Governor-elect Rolph, will be reduced to meet existing economic conditions and will show the smallest percentage in increase of any in the last ten years, Rolland A. Vandegrift, recently appointed by Rolph to work on the budget, yesterday told members of the Western Statistical Association. The latter were assembled at a special luncheon meeting held in the Windsor Tea Rooms at the Masonic Club.

"Large savings will be effected on the fact that California is one due to the decreased cost of supplies and the fact that the purchasing power of the dollar now is approximately 10 per cent greater," Vandegrift said. "A humanitarian government is the idea to be stressed in the budget. It is designed to relieve unemployment. There will be no cutting of salaries and, as beforehand, when merited there will be normal salary increase."

Vandegrift also told members of the statistical association, an organization of which he is a past president, that under Rolph's administration of State and not divided into a northern and southern section. He also said an effort will be made to reduce the per capita tax burden, but that the regular road-building and construction program will not be curtailed.

The budget worker stated that although there will be decreased allotments to certain State divisions, in others there will be corresponding increases. He said that of the more than $25,000,000 surplus in the State treasury, at least $15,000,000 must be retained.

AMERICAN LEGION HEAD TO ARRIVE WEDNESDAY

Ralph Thomas O'Neil, national commander of the American Legion, is due to arrive in Los Angeles Wednesday in company with his wife to address meetings of the local Legion posts.

Commander O'Neil, elected at the twelfth national convention in Boston, is scheduled to be the guest of the Pasadena Tournament of Roses on New Year's Day. He is to ride at the head of the American Legion division which is to include the colors of more than 100 posts. He is to be the guest also of the Pasadena Rose Bowl during the Washington State and Alabama football game.

Present plans arranged by the local Legion posts include his appearance at Patriotic Hall at 8 p.m. Friday before the Los Angeles county council. Delegates from more than 150 Legion posts are expected to be present.

O'Neil, an attorney in Topeka, Kan., served as national vice-president of the American Legion in 1927 and he was commander of the Kansas department of the Legion in 1926. He was chairman of the Legion's national C.M.T.C. committee in 1929 and was a member of the national defense com-

OWENS VALLEY DEAL APPROVED

Citizens Who Have Accepted Values Involved

Board Asks Council Action on $2,000,000 Plan

Employment of Engineers to Alter Dam Voted

Authority to proceed at once with purchases of individual town properties in Owens Valley the owners of which have accepted the adjusted values fixed a year ago was granted yesterday by the Board of Water and Power Commissioners.

In resolutions unanimously adopted the City Council is asked to approve the purchases. The properties represent a total of more than $2,000,000. Procedure to be followed in purchasing the properties will first receive the approval of the board, the City Attorney and Special Counsel T. B. Cosgrove.

MILLIONS INVOLVED

The board last week granted authority to purchase all of the property in the five Owens Valley towns. The action of yesterday concerns only the properties already listed as accepting the adjusted values.

More than $5,000,000 is involved in the purchase of all properties in the five towns. Funds for the purchases will be made available from the $38,800,000 water bonds voted last May.

EMPLOYMENT APPROVED

Employment of consulting engineers to report on alterations to be made on Chatsworth Dam, also was authorized by the board. The engineers, all residents of Los Angeles, are Allen T. Sedgwick, Col. Charles T. Leeds and B. F. Jakobsen. Enlargement of Chatsworth Dam was provided in the water bond issue.

Ralph T. Simonson was employed as executive assistant to the Board of Water and Power Commissioners. Mr. Simonson is a business efficiency expert. He will act as the board's representative in connection with the operation of the many divisions of the Department of Water and Power.

VISITOR TO CLOSE DEAL IN RUBBER

Ex-San Diegan Coming to Arrange Merger Details for Samson Company

Herbert E. Smith, vice-president and member of the executive committee of the United States Rubber Company, will arrive in Los Angeles Monday as the guest of A. Schleicher, president of the Samson Tire and Rubber Corporation, to act for his company in the merger of the two companies on the Coast.

HERBERT E. SMITH

The plan for the participation of the United States Rubber Company in the affairs of the Samson company has met with substantial enthusiasm among the stockholders of the Samson company as well as the board of directors of the United States Rubber Company. It is expected Mr. Smith will spend several days in conference with Mr. Schleicher to complete the necessary working agreements vital to the success of the merger.

Mr. Smith is a native of San Jose and an alumnus of the University of California. He spent several years in the State in the service of the company before being transferred to New York. Before returning East he will visit his mother, Mrs. Sanford E. Smith of Oakland.

Mr. Smith will stay here at the Biltmore.

STORK EYES FIRESIDE OF LLOYD HOME

Screen Comedy Star and Wife State They Expect Visit in Three Months

A new arrival—and the father and mother hope it will be a boy—is expected within three months at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Lloyd in Beverly Hills. This much was learned yesterday from the comedian and his wife, the former Mildred Davis, who gave up her screen career to marry the bespectacled comedy star of films.

"It is true that we anticipate a visit from the stork some time early in March," said Mrs. Lloyd yesterday.

"I am happy over the event and hope it's a boy," said Lloyd.

The Lloyd family now comprises two children—girls, one of whom, Marjorie Elizabeth Lloyd, 5 years of age, was recently adopted by Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd in Superior Court. Their other daughter is Mildred Gloria, 6.

The Lloyds were married seven years ago following a romance which began when Mrs. Lloyd played the leading feminine role in several of his pictures.

Garland Urges Remittances on Health Seals

A plea for persons who have received Christmas seals from the Los Angeles Tuberculosis Association to remit at once was made yesterday by William May Garland, treasurer of the association. Funds raised through the seal sale are the association's sole source of revenue, which enables it to maintain activities designed to prevent the spread of tuberculosis. The association needs $100,000 to consummate the 1931 health program.

"The association is anticipating a greater demand for its services during 1931 than at any period in its history," said Mr. Garland. "This is due to the fact of the city's tremendous growth and also because adverse economic conditions always create a large proportion of dependent men and women.

HENRY CLAY SCOTT'S FUNERAL TO BE TODAY

Henry Clay Scott, president of the North American Polish Company of Cleveland, who died Thursday, is to be carried to his last resting place in Forest Lawn Memorial Park today. Funeral services will be conducted at 2 p.m. at the Renaker chapel, Monrovia. Mr. Scott, who was 60 years of age, came to Southern California three years ago. His home was at 259 West Mariposa street, Altadena. He leaves his widow and one daughter

DRY NEW YEAR'S WARNING GIVEN

Federal Official Writes to Cafe Proprietors

"Set-ups" for Hip Flasks Placed Under Ban

Liquor Supply Expected to Be at Season's Normal

Service of ginger ale, cracked ice, mineral water and glasses intended for drinking of intoxicants were placed under Federal ban yesterday for New Year's Eve in caution letters sent to owners of hotels, cabarets, night clubs and restaurants.

The New Year's edict, destined to provide a sober celebration of the arrival of 1931, and the absence on hundreds of tables of clinking glasses of amber hue, was issued by William G. Walker, Federal prohibition administrator for the Pacific Coast.

STRICT ORDERS

Orders for the rigid enforcement of the prohibition laws, with especial attention to the serving of set-ups by waiters in various places where the departure of 1930 and the birth of 1931 is to be celebrated, went directly to owners and operators in a special letter in this district. It was signed by George H. Sweet, acting deputy administrator for Southern California.

In announcing the new edict, Sweet wrote as follows:

"SET-UPS" BARRED

"Acting under direct instructions from the administrator of the district, this office respectfully cautions you against permitting the drinking of intoxicants on the premises, as well as the serving of set-ups for liquor, with particular reference to the present holiday season.

"It is not our purpose to subject you to any unusual or harassing procedure, but we do ask and expect your effective co-operation in an endeavor to keep your employees and patrons from violating the law.

WILL ENFORCE LAW

"Our officers have been instructed to exercise courteous but vigilant observation on New Year's Eve particularly, and they will not hesitate to enforce the law wherever conditions are found to warrant such action."

No particular shortage of holiday liquor has been observed by the Federal investigators, according to reports that have come to Sweet. There seems to be a plentiful supply, with ships still hovering off the coast to unload their cargoes of intoxicants, according to Sweet, and it is practically impossible for the Federal agents to choke the liquor conditions at the source, according to Sweet.

DRINKING EXPECTED

"We have 300 miles of coast to cover," said Sweet, "with thirty-five men. In addition there seems an abundance of home-made concoctions derived from fruit juices and alcohol. Also a liberal amount of so-labeled gin made in washtubs and placed on the market under fake labels. Faced with this situation it is foolish to expect a halt on the drinking of intoxicants during the holiday season, but we can curb open violations of the law in places where hundreds gather for their cheer."

Federal agents will mix and mingle with the throngs New Year's Eve in half-a-hundred places. In some cases a polite warning might be the only necessity, Sweet pointed out, but in others a more severe attitude will be maintained.

Committee to Aid Holland in Recall Formed

Asserting that the attempt now under way to remove Councilman Holland from office represents an abuse of the recall, M. J. Bicknell, Highland Park realty man and member of the City Planning Commission, yesterday announced organization of a citizens' committee to combat the recall.

Whether Holland will be recalled will be decided at a special election set for January 13, next.

"Expense of this special election," Bicknell declared, "will aggregate about $10,000. This constitutes a needless burden on the taxpayers. While the recall faction complains of high assessments, its leaders did not hesitate to institute this special election, knowing full well that by waiting ninety days all controversial matters could be decided at the primary without the necessity of expending extra money."

GANGSTER ROUND-UP BEGUN

Arrest of Several Violent Criminals Expected as Fitts Launches Vigorous Campaign

With the echoes of bandit gunfire still ringing in the streets, the special antigangster detail of officers from the District Attorney's office last night began a quiet round-up of known gangsters and hoodlums which is expected to result in the arrest of several violent criminals.

The move came as the first concentrated effort of Dist.-Atty. Fitts to put into effect his campaign against gangsters utilizing the newly formed antigangster detail comprised of picked detectives from his office.

Before the officers were sent out with secret orders, they had spent nearly the entire afternoon in conference with Dist.-Atty. Fitts mapping out details of the campaign and pooling all available information thus far obtained.

Among those who attended the conference with the District Attorney were Blayney Matthews, chief of the bureau of investigation; Capt. Clyde Plummer, in active charge of the detail; Jack Chriss, Tom Cavett, investigators, and Tom

OF COURSE it is highly gratifying to our teeth-gritting moods, but I am afraid a sentence of 100 years doesn't mean a whole lot.

THE BENGAL LANCER

Santa Claus brought me one of the most fascinating books I have read—"The Lives of a Bengal Lancer."

It is the life story of a young British lieutenant in a native regiment who played polo and stuck pigs, flirted with girls and rode elephants; but always the mysterious finger of India was beckoning to him from behind the curtain. And finally these whispers came to envelop his life.

PURE WATER

There is one statement in this book that fairly staggers me.

Thousands of people afflicted with various and sundry diseases bathe in the Ganges every day. Always they have a happy little habit of floating the corpses down the river for the turtles to eat. Yet the author says that the water of this river is as pure as any water in the world; and that the most careful chemical analysis shows it to be so. Nevertheless, I am not buying any bottled water from the Ganges.

REDS

I am afraid we are taking the Reds too seriously.

"This stuff about crucifying the "Spirit of Christmas" in a New York hall sounded very much like some college freshmen engaged in the annual high jinks.

I can understand myself how it would be a lot of fun to be able to leap out of obscurity by the simple device of becoming a wicked demon, with the clergy and the newspapers shuddering with horror every time you passed.

METEOR! WELL!

There must be a new and very potent brand of bootleg in Idaho, where they saw a meteor split up like a pawnbroker's sign, making flashes, roars and thunders in the stilly night. No one has been able to find any trace of the fallen star since then.

BANDITS

I don't know why we should have been so horrified Monday morning to learn that the Mexican bandits have kidnaped another American. Bandits are kidnaping them around here early and often.

On the whole, if I had to be kidnaped I think I should prefer the Mexican brand.

I was in Ixtlan last spring when a man staggered into town, having just been released by Mexican bandits after his loving relatives had paid the ransom money.

Bristow—that was the American's name—said they were very decent to him. They were all starving most of the time, but when they managed to catch a chicken they gave him the best parts and kept the neck for themselves.

INJURIES KEEP HOSPITAL BUSY

Receiving Station Handles Nearly 95,000 Cases

Auto Accidents Contribute 11,238 Patients

Sixteen Hundred Bitten by Dogs in Past Year

Revealing a tremendous amount of first-aid treatment given free of charge during the calender year of 1930, Chief Police Surgeon Dodge yesterday submitted a report to Mayor Porter, showing 3240 more cases handled and 2662 more ambulance calls made than in 1929. The total number of cases diagnosed and treated at the main receiving hospital at Georgia-street police station and the various outlying branches was 94,837 as compared with 91,597 in 1929, while the ambulance calls increased to 20,599 as compared with 17,617 the year before.

Of the total number of cases handled, 44,618 were civilians, 13,405 were policemen and firemen, and 34,754 were prisoners.

ACCIDENT CAUSES

Cases classified as to causes were as follows: Automobile accidents, 11,238; airplane accidents, 7; athletics, 1293; bites, 2197; bicycle accidents, 503; burns, 540; electrical accidents, 14; explosions, 237; falls, 4558; fights and assaults, 233; firearms, 103; motorcycle accidents, 432; poison, 1001; railway accidents, 911; accidents at schools, 457, and sobriety examinations, 1908.

Cases classified as to diagnosis were: Amputations, 79; bites, 2197, of which 1608 were caused by dogs; burns, 752; dead when entered, 92; dying in hospital, 285; dislocations, 258; fractures and suspected fractures, 3433; compound fractures, 376; depressed skull fractures, 108; basal skull fractures, 118; suspected skull fractures, 594; internal injuries, 172; extensive lacerations, 5163; shock, 225; suicidal, 496; tension wounds, 106; laparotomy, 31; laparography, 109, and trephine, 12.

Emergency cases treated by ambulance surgeons in which patients were not transported to the hospitals totaled 3662.

DISPOSITION OF CASES

Disposition of cases shows 7742 held for observation in bed, 1862 sent to private hospitals and doctors, 2946 sent to the General Hospital, and 377 sent to the County Morgue.

Branches of the Receiving Hospital are located in Venice, San Pedro, Wilmington, Van Nuys, Hollywood and on Pasadena avenue in the Lincoln Heights district.

The staff consists of Chief Surgeon Dodge, Assistant Chief Surgeon Sebastian, eleven assistant surgeons, one chief deputy, nine clerks, one chief nurse and thirty-seven nurses. In addition one assistant surgeon is stationed at the various branches and thirty-six ambulances are manned by as many ambulance surgeons and civilian drivers on constant duty.

Anagnosti Jury Fails to Agree

Announcement was made yesterday by Asst. U. S. Atty. Redwine that William Anagnosti, formerly head of the United States Securities Corporation and of the R. D. A jury in United States District Judge Cosgrave's court failed to agree in the case and was discharged, after deliberating thirty-six hours.

It was charged the defendant misrepresented the values of various stocks.

ANTIVIVISECTION BILL GETS SUPPORT HERE

The Humane Commission of Los Angeles yesterday announced adoption of a resolution urging Congress to pass, promptly and without amendment the bill prohibiting vivisection of dogs in the District of Columbia. Copies of the resolution have been forwarded to the President, Senators Shortridge and Johnson and Representative Crail.

SCOUTS GAIN LORE OF SEA

Youths on Practice Trip to Catalina Buffeted Three Days by Storm, Becalmed Two

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

LONG BEACH, Dec. 26.—After two attempts to cross the channel between Catalina Island and the mainland in their twenty-foot sailboat—the first time buffeted for three days and three nights in a heavy storm and the second time becalmed for nearly two nights and a day—eleven Sea Scouts were safe at home here today.

The lads, ranging in ages from 14 to 20 years, set out in their scouting craft, the Trade Wind, from Long Beach last Saturday. They had an uneventful crossing to their camp at Emerald Bay on the island.

Shortly after their arrival winds started kicking up a rough sea and the boys decided to go back to the mainland before conditions became worse.

They had put out to sea only a short time, however, before it became obvious they could not make it across, so they tried to turn back. High winds made it necessary for them to reef in their canvas and before they could get the Trade Wind's auxiliary motor started seas breaking over the open craft put it out of commission.

In the early hours of last Sunday morning they jockeyed for a break in the weather to get back to camp, but were thwarted by the high seas and all they could do was to keep the light boat headed into the waves by rowing.

Only a small jug of water was aboard and the boys portioned this in small drinks—with an eye on the possibility of having to remain at sea for a long period.

Seafaring men pointed out today that the lads' farsightedness probably saved them much suffering, because Sunday dawn saw no let-up in the gale and high seas—nor had the ocean calmed Monday night or Tuesday morning.

It was not until last Tuesday night that the young adventurers were successful in fighting their way back to camp.

Then, after a night's rest, they started out again—this time with plenty of water and provisions.

Brisk winds carried them to a point about four miles off the local coast, and then suddenly fell. There they rode, becalmed. Christmas Eve passed as they tried in vain to signal the shore.

Parents of the boys became alarmed when the Scouts did not arrive home for Christmas, and a Coast Guard patrol boat put out and located the Trade Wind Christmas Day.

With much experience in the ways of the sea acquired, the Scouts are resting at their homes today, none the worse for their adventure.

Salvation Army Greets Children Again Tonight

Every child in the city who was missed by Santa Claus during Christmas Day is invited to attend the old-fashioned post-yuletide party to be given by the Salvation Army at 7 p.m. today at Polytechnic High School. A giant Santa Claus, eleven feet in height, will greet each child.

Entertainment will include the presentation of the Beverly Hill Billies, whose antics on KMPC have attracted nation-wide attention; the Citadel Silver Band, directed by Capt. Edward Taylor; Eddie Mahoney, Peggy and Teddy Stanley, W. J. Van Berkel, European magician; Ira Sweat, organist, and Dempsey the Ventriloquist.

"We are glad to offer this program to the poor children of the city, children who are poor only in money," said Brig. James C. Bell, commanding officer of the Los Angeles and south coast division. "The Salvation Army has adopted the policy of having a post-Christmas party each year because during the holiday rush and excitement there are numerous children who are left without gifts or a Christmas dinner.

"Every child of those who were recipients of baskets at the hand of the Salvation Army, which gave 2000 on Christmas Day, will be welcome."

Health Office Asks Jobs Made for Employees

City Health Officer Parrish and the Health Commission yesterday filed with the City Council a request for thirteen new positions, aggregating $2580 per month and increases in salary for present employees aggregating $900 per month. The Council referred the requests to its special Salary and Efficiency and Personnel committees.

The new positions asked are for a physician, a laboratory inspector, four clinicians, two clerks, a stenographer, nine nurses, a supervisor and six part-time inspectors, to be filled by employees of the department who have been working for more than twenty years.

Protest Voiced at Meet of Colonials Here on Pending Immigration Law

Resolutions protesting against the proposed bill now pending in Congress which would bar Filipinos from coming to the mainland of the United States for two years, a measure said to be conceived in the interest of abating the unemployment problem in America, were adopted at yesterday's business session of the fourth annual national convention of the Filipino Federation of America.

The resolutions characterized such action as unjust to wards of Uncle Sam. Dr. Hilario Camino Moncado, president of the federation, was instructed to transmit copies of the resolutions to leaders in Congress. The resolutions were unanimously adopted.

Honors will go to Lieut.-Col. Le Roy F. Smith of the Better America Federation as the principal speaker at the celebration tonight of the fifth anniversary of the founding of the Filipino Federation of America with a program in Trinity Auditorium open to the public. The festivities will be broadcast over radio KFWB from 9 until 10 o'clock.

TRAFFIC CHARGE BRINGS ANSWER

Mayor Porter Hits Back at Portland Criticism

Great Influx Held to Blame for High Death Toll

Letter Tells Experts Police Not Ones at Fault

Answer to criticism of traffic conditions of Los Angeles made recently at a gathering of traffic experts and officials at Portland, Or., was made yesterday by Mayor Porter through the Los Angeles Citizens' Traffic Safety Committee of the California State Chamber of Commerce.

Mayor Porter, in the letter, points out that much of the trouble is caused by the rush of visitors here to obtain what Southern California has to offer them in abundance and not through the breakdown or failure of the traffic division of the police department.

REPLY RECOMMENDED

Rowland P. Pontana, Los Angeles attorney who, with City Councilman Holland, Mrs. Louise Schuesmann and Vernon Taylor, constitute the publicity committee of the safety committee, said a member of the State Chamber of Commerce attended the Portland meeting and felt that an answer should be made to the charges that Los Angeles traffic conditions are unsafe. Copies of the letter will be mailed to newspapers and organizations all along the coast, he said. Mayor Porter's letter follows:

"One of the vital problems facing our municipal government at this time is the congested traffic condition, which often results in injury or death.

WHAT SURVEY SHOWS

"A survey made by the Los Angeles Citizens' Traffic Safety Committee of the California State Chamber of Commerce revealed that this congestion is not due to inefficient handling of traffic by the traffic division of our local police department, but because the advantages which Southern California has to offer are bringing ever-greater numbers to this area.

"Every civic body and all fraternal organizations within our city have been putting forth great efforts to reduce traffic fatalities. Meritorious service has been rendered by them in educating the public against carelessness in the operation of motor vehicles and in 'jay-walking.'

"If each person will become safety conscious, and vow not to cause injury or death to another by careless operation of an automobile, and take proper precautions in crossing streets at designated crosswalks, with watchfulness for moving vehicles, so that they may not be injured, the number of accidents will be materially reduced."

Arthur W. Record yesterday petitioned the City Council to initiate steps for the dedication and grading of Zelzah avenue between Plummer street and Nordhoff street. The matter was transmitted to the City Engineer and to the Public Works Committee.

TREASURE HUNT IN PARK VETOED

Board Refuses Permission for Excavations

Opinion by City Attorney's Office Quoted

Applicant Says Device Has Located Loot

Gold digging in Elysian Park is prohibited in a decision of the Park Commission yesterday when it directed Secretary Hassett to inform R. C. Hoffer, who requested permission to excavate in Elysian Park for buried treasure, that his application is denied under an opinion of former City Attorney Stephens.

Stephens, when the question of digging for gold in Griffith Park once was broached, held, on April 8, 1926, that only under supervision of the park department could digging for treasure be carried on even if the department receives a substantial part of the bullion recovered. He did not believe that under the deed of gift of Griffith Park any applicant could be allowed to dig promiscuously, even though the recovered treasure is placed in a museum or elsewhere.

Hoffer claims to have a device with which he has located treasure in Elysian Park, but has declined to give the park board its location. He has promised the department a substantial share if allowed to dig, but the board placed no faith in the "find."

According to park employees, unknown parties recently dug holes at Elysian Park at night in a search for treasure, but were stopped when daylight disclosed their activities.

According to information to the Park Commission, the theory is that Indians during the early days of California raided Southern California missions for valuables and buried them in ravines which now are included in Griffith, Elysian and other parks of the city.

Arthur C. Henderson Must Pay Alimony as His Mate Gains Divorce Decree

Told to choose between his wife and "the other woman," Arthur C. Henderson walked off with the triangle's third angle, Mrs. Jeanette Henderson testified yesterday when she won a divorce from her husband, a fruit and produce broker. By strange coincidence the Henderson divorce was granted by Superior Judge Henderson.

The wife asserted that in November, 1929, she discovered letters to her husband signed by Helen Hickok. These missives were filled with affection and endearments, and when she confronted her husband with them he admitted keeping company with the other woman, Mrs. Henderson said.

"On February 28 of this year, I met Helen Hickok at the Biltmore," testified Mrs. Henderson. "She admitted she had been going with my husband. Leaving the hotel, we met my husband outside. In her presence I told my husband he must choose immediately between us. He gave me his key and left with her. He never returned."

The Hendersons married in Wyandott, Kan., February 26, 1914. Judge Henderson awarded Mrs. Henderson $40 a month alimony and two places of real estate.

ACTRESS' ROMANCE NEARING MARRIAGE

Marceline Day

HAPPY DAY TO BE NAMED FOR FURRIER

Meaning That Marceline's Christmas Diamond Says She'll Be Mrs. A. J. Klein

Five years ago they were introduced. Five months ago their friendship was renewed. On Christmas Day he presented her with a four-karat, square-cut diamond. Yesterday Marceline Day formally announced her engagement to Arthur J. Klein, wealthy Los Angeles furrier. They have not yet set a date for the wedding.

"We have been friends for five years but it was not until recently that the romance began when our friendship was renewed," said Miss Day yesterday. "I am so happy about it and the ring was a wonderful Christmas present."

"Not too soon and not too late," was Miss Day's manner of expressing it.

Children to Be Party Guests

A Christmas party for 150 children of the eastern section of Los Angeles will be given from 2 to 6 p.m. today at Ukrainian-Russian Civic Center, 358 South Boyle avenue, according to Mrs. Valentina Kachmarsky, in charge of the center. Gifts have been provided by members of the Daughters of the American Revolution and the Kiwanis Club of Whittier.

Within the last three days more than 1000 well-filled baskets donated by the D.A.R. and other organizations were sent from the center to needy families.

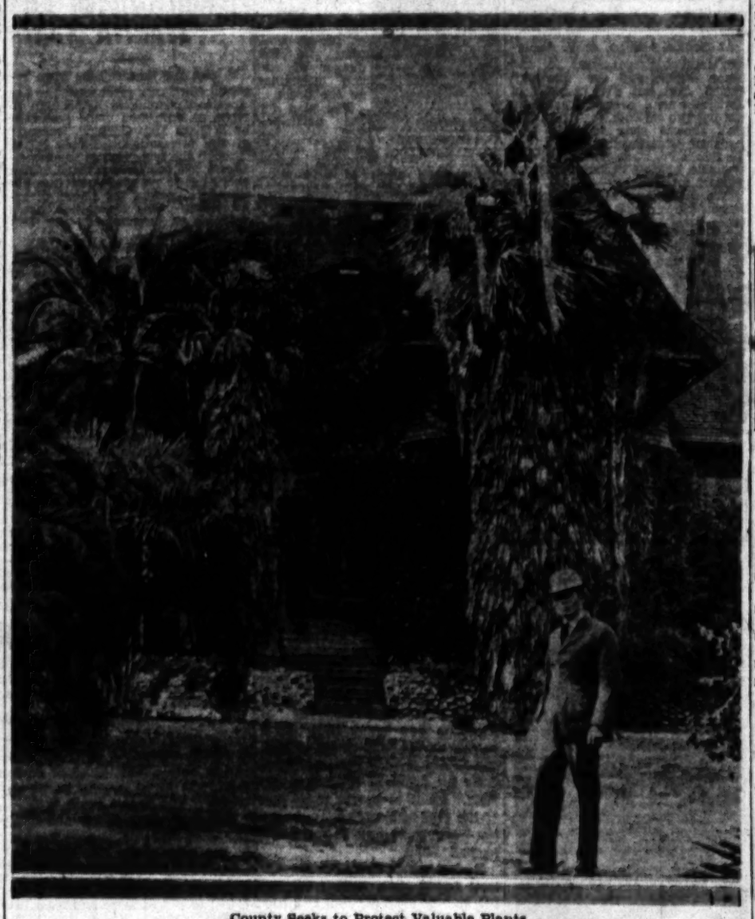
OLD HOME GUARDED TO FOIL THIEVES

Rare Shrubs and Vines Stolen From Wills Place



County Seeks to Protect Valuable Plants

H. T. Anderson of the county forestry department on guard at the old Wills homestead on Justicia street to prevent further loss of rare plants and shrubs.

GUARDS from the Sheriff's office have been placed around the grounds surrounding the old Wills homestead, 501 Justicia street, to prevent the further loss of rare vines and shrubs which have been stolen from time to time since the property was taken over by Los Angeles county in the opening of Spring street from Temple street to Aliso street.

The grounds was taken on complaint of County Forester Turner to Chairman Wright of the Board of Supervisors. Monday a force of men from the county forestry department will begin removing the plants and vines to a county nursery, where they will be kept until replanted in county parks or at the grounds of the new General Hospital.

The Wills property, where the shrubbery was stolen, was formerly occupied by Madaline F. Wills, descendant of one of Los Angeles county's pioneer families. For years persons stealing young trees his department is setting out on public highways. In some places, he says, fully a mile of the trees have been removed after the forestry department planted them.

CENTENARIAN DIES ON CHRISTMAS DAY

ROUND-UP BEGUN OF GANGSTERS

rest in the kidnaping plot. Through the special work of his added group activities of hoodlums and their plans along the harbor front will be uncovered.

While these new moves were being made in the battle against organized criminals, Ralph Sheldon, eastern gunman and hoodlum, remained in the Long Beach jail on three charges of assault with intent to murder as a result of a gun battle on the docks. He is held on $75,000 bail. Officer W. H. Waggoner, dangerously wounded in the affray, was reported slightly improved.

Two other gangsters are being sought by police in connection with the revolver fight. The identity of one has been made certain by identifications by the wounded officer.

WAR ON GAMBLING

It also was disclosed that a special effort is being made by the District Attorney to find some legal means of curbing the operation of gambling ships off the coast of Los Angeles county, the plan being to stop every known form of "racket" in the city, or at least to reduce such activities to a minimum.

Formation of an antigangster detail was completed by Dist.-Atty. Fitts Wednesday after numerous conferences with the heads of all other law-enforcement agencies in the city and with leading businessmen.

The fundamental rule upon which these officers have been ordered to work is to meet violent criminals on their own ground and "shoot to kill" whenever it is necessary. This includes employment of the "stake-out" system with officers guarding vulnerable places where robberies are expected. They will be expected to shoot it out with any bandits attempting a crime of violence, according to Dist.-Atty. Fitts.

Judge Stricken as He Prepares to Open Court

Stricken with acute indigestion in his chambers just as he was about to open court yesterday afternoon, Judge Burt L. Wix, Glendale justice of the peace who is sitting temporarily in traffic court, was taken to his home in a police ambulance.

Clerk Roy Foss attempted to give Judge Wix first aid, but was forced to call police surgeons who ordered him removed immediately to his home, 1208 Viscaino Drive, Glendale.

POSITIONS COMBINED

The City Council yesterday adopted ordinances changing the status of the City Attorney's salary ordinance whereby two positions of deputy City Attorney paying $300 and $350 per month are dropped, and a new position as deputy City Attorney is created paying $500 per month.

OLD AGE TAKES 'SCOUT' TAYLOR

Veteran of Three Wars Was Past Century Mark

Served Under Gen. Custer as Dispatch Rider

For Years He Had Worked in Western Films

Old age brought an end on Christmas Day to the life of a soldier who lived through twenty years of fighting yelling, war-painted savage Indians and grimly quiet white enemies. The soldier, veteran of three American wars, was William H. (Scout) Taylor, bachelor, born in 1827 in that part of Old Mexico which is now Texas. More than 103 years of age, he died without known relatives in a Santa Monica hospital under the care of his friends of the Hollywood motion-picture colony.

Although a resident of Los Angeles for thirty-four years, his friends here knew little of his early history other than what he told them of his birth in Mexico and of his boyhood spent in the wild days of the American frontier changes.

MILITARY HISTORY

His military history started in 1856 when he enlisted in the United States Regular Army and for five years was with the troops in the Southwest engaged in the intermittent warfare with wandering Indian bands. Then, with the outbreak of the Civil War, he served with the Seventy-eighth Confederate Virginia Regiment, under Gen. Pickett. With the close of the struggle between the North and South, he returned his allegiance to the United States and under the leadership of Gen. Nelson A. Miles, was in the ranks during the fighting with Sitting Bull.

During the course of a reunion of Indian War veterans four years ago, the old scout told how he could have captured Gen. Custer during the Civil War. Taylor with four companions one day found the hero of the Little Big Horn in a war council in the Virginia woods. He told how he and his companions decided not to take Custer, and later of his gratification that he had spared the officer, for he served under Custer in the Indian conflicts as a dispatch rider.

Billy the Scout, as he was known to the survivors of the Indian wars, during the same gathering of veterans in 1926, gave a demonstration of old-time dancing. He was then 99.

WORKS IN FILMS

William H. Taylor came to Los Angeles thirty-four years ago when he believed he was nearing his allotted span of three score and ten. He lived quietly here and with the rise of the motion-picture industry watched the growing popularity of the western story film.

Billy the Scout came out of retirement and in 1910 went to work before the motion-picture camera, and for fifteen years in dozens of "westerns" he appeared as a white-bearded Indian fighter. Five years ago the veteran retired again only to find that idleness was too irksome and again he applied for work and has since appeared as a featured character in several of the elaborate prologues staged for the modern version of the western film story. When the "Covered Wagon" appeared, he was featured in the prologue "Pioneer Days" and only recently he appeared at the Chinese Theater in a similar capacity.

The old soldier boasted to his friends that he had never married and his friends in the Hollywood studios know of no living relatives. During his last illness, which attending physicians described as simply old age, he was attended by representatives of the Motion Picture Relief.

The funeral services for Billy the Scout will be conducted on Monday afternoon at 2 o'clock by the Indian War Veterans, in the Le Roy Bagley Mortuary, 5440 Hollywood Boulevard.

HEARING SCHEDULED

The resolution of intention calling for the establishment of setback lines in Avenue 53 from Longfellow street northerly was adopted yesterday by the City Council and set for the hearing of protests January 27.

ONE DEAD IN TRAFFIC AND NINE HURT

Woman Killed in Altadena When Car Strikes Pole; Four Men Arrested

One person was hurt fatally and half a score of others were injured badly in traffic accidents in and near Los Angeles yesterday.

Mrs. Mary Grigsby, 40 years of age, of 2778 Morsley Drive, Altadena, died from injuries received when her car crashed into a tree in the 1600-block on Homewood Drive. With her was Mrs. Eleanor Eckerman, 42, of the same address, who is in the Altadena Hospital suffering from injuries which may cause her death.

James Whitney, 24, of 1442 West Sixty-eighth street, received a possible fracture of the spine; Mrs. Martel Ferguson, 34, of 2122 Thurman street, suffered a fractured pelvis, and Martin Ferguson, husband of the injured woman, was hurt painfully in a collision at La Cienega and Venice boulevards. J. L. Bird, 1220 Washington Boulevard, driver of the second car, was hurt painfully.

An inquest into the death of E. C. Archer, 42, of 745 North Fuller street, who died as the result of a crash into a street car last Tuesday, will be conducted at 1:30 p.m. Monday at the Coroner's office.

Jacinto Ybarra and two members of his family were sent to General Hospital as the result of hitting a parked truck on Alameda Boulevard near One Hundred and Tenth street.

Robert Dunn, 29, and Richard Sawyer, 21, both of 1713 Columbia street, yesterday were held in the prison ward of General Hospital on accusations of drunk driving after the car in which they were riding is asserted to have collided with a car driven by John Porter, Negro, 21, of 1156 East Fifty-fourth street, injuring both Porter and a passenger, Wilson Yarbo, Negro, 24, of the same address.

Accused of driving while drunk, as the result of a collision with another car, Manuel Gaytan, 22, of 232 Dangler street, was ordered held by deputy sheriffs. The mishap occurred Thursday night at Ford Boulevard and Dozier street.

Zurap Simonian, 42, of 1557 South Sidney Drive, was held by deputy sheriffs who arrested him at his home Thursday night following a search for the driver of a truck who ran on the sidewalk at Eastern avenue and Telegraph Road, and struck Henry A. Murr, 29, of 1544 South Sidney Drive injuring him slightly.

Anthony Racine, 66, of 2643 Magnolia avenue, crossing the street at Adams and Hoover streets, was struck by a machine driven by Fred Hynes, 958½ Valencia street, and is at the Georgia-street Receiving Hospital suffering from injuries which may cause his death. Both legs are broken, his pelvis is crushed and he is suffering internal injuries. Hynes was not held.

Will Fight Won by Yale Heirs

Division One, District Court of Appeal, yesterday directed the Superior Court to enter a judgment notwithstanding the verdict of the jury on the petition of the proponents of the will of the late Charles Yale, who died September 6, 1927, leaving a $200,000 estate.

The court decided the case some time ago in favor of the will proponents but failed to enter the order issued yesterday.

CLUB WILL GIVE TEA

Members of the Los Angeles Mills Club and alumni association of the Mills College in Oakland will give a tea the 30th inst. for visiting Mills College students who are spending the holidays in the city. The tea will be held at the home of Mrs. E. R. Thrapp, 531 North June street.

COE GIRL FOUND ON HITCH HIKE

Disappeared Last Saturday From Hollywood

Tucson Editor and Wife in Auto Give Her Lift

Proves to Be Relative of Bisbee Police Chief

The mystery surrounding the disappearance of 17-year-old Dorothy Eileen Coe, who left her home last Saturday afternoon for a Christmas shopping tour, ended yesterday when her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward J. Coe of 6512 Bella Vista street, received word that the girl is safe in Bisbee, Ariz. Mrs. Coe left last night for the Arizona city to bring her daughter back.

The search for the Hollywood girl came to a dramatic close in Bisbee early yesterday morning when Clarence A. Brown, Chief of Police there, identified her as his first cousin. News dispatches said the only explanation the girl would give for leaving home was the brief comment: "I just couldn't get along."

HITCH-HIKING

Miss Coe was taken to Bisbee Christmas Day by Harold Wilson, city editor of the Tucson Daily Citizen, who, driving with his wife to spend the holidays in Bisbee, found her walking along the highway near Tombstone, with 20 cents in her purse; a blanket over her shoulder and a few personal belongings in a paper shopping bag.

She was well dressed and appeared well educated, and so reticent about herself that Wilson, before reaching Bisbee, decided she was running away and offered to make arrangements to return her to her home, but she refused. The newspaper man placed the girl with friends for the night and yesterday, his curiosity aroused, spoke to Chief Brown about her.

IDENTITY ESTABLISHED

The police chief quickly established her identity when Miss Coe gave meager bits of information regarding her family, and although he had not seen the girl since she was a small child, was able to recognize her as one of his Pacific Coast relatives.

The parents of the girl at their home in Hollywood yesterday said the cause of her hitch-hiking runaway was as much of a mystery to them as it was the day she disappeared. They said she always returned home with her two sisters and two brothers before dark, and when she did not appear on Saturday night, they notified police, fearing she had been kidnaped. They said their home life was peaceful and could give no reason for her act.

Suitor Kills Self Because of Rejection

Unrequited love was blamed by deputy sheriffs yesterday for the dramatic suicide late Christmas night of Loren Wilcox, 28-year-old Long Beach salesman, who sent a bullet into his head outside the home of Miss Marjorie Daniels, 200 West Rives street, Compton, a moment after she had spurned his fourth proposal of marriage.

The suicide climaxed an outing on an off-shore gambling boat, in which Miss Daniels and Wilcox had been accompanied by the young woman's brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. James Z. Harris. After escorting Miss Daniels home, Wilcox asked her to marry him. When she declined to give him a definite answer he hinted he might end his life. He then went to the porch and shot himself.

Questioned by the deputies, Miss Daniels said she had known Wilcox only about five weeks, during which he had proposed marriage on three other occasions. She stated he had been unemployed for some time. He lived at a Long Beach hotel.

Last Rites Today for Mother of Charles Farrell

Funeral rites will be conducted at 3 p.m. today in the Wee Kirk o' the Heather, Forest Lawn Memorial Park, for Mrs. Estelle W. Farrell, mother of Charles Farrell, motion-picture actor. Interment will be in the family lot at Forest Lawn.

Mrs. Farrell, who was 59 years of age, came to Los Angeles eighteen months ago from Onset, Mass. She was born in Marblehead, Mass., and educated in the public schools there. She was a member of the Eastern Star chapter at Norwood, Mass. Besides her son she leaves her husband, David H. Farrell, of 9018 Toluca Lake avenue, and one daughter, Mrs. William Jeliff.

IMPROVEMENT INDORSED

The City Council yesterday adopted the ordinance of intention for the improvement of Rockledge Road between Los Altos Place and Camrose Drive. The ordinance was set for the hearing of protests February 2.

THIS HUSBAND HAD ENOUGH

So He Declares Concerning Matrimony and Court Grants Divorce

Enough is enough, especially of matrimony, according to Gerald A. Ward, who obtained a divorce from G. Gertrude Ward yesterday in Superior Judge Turney's court.

"Did you consent to her leaving with the idea of getting a divorce and remarrying?" asked the judge.

"I know when I've had enough," replied Ward.

Do your Xmas shirts need altering? Are the neck bands too large or too small, or the sleeves too long? If so take them to Arthur M. Werner, the Custom Shirt Maker of 122 S. Spring. (MUtual 1589.)

Don't be embarrassed again by using worn discolored silver. Do you know that the finest of replating of silver is done by the Peerless Platers of 239½ S. Spring st. (upstairs?) They charge but $3.50 a dozen to re-plate your knives, forks and tablespoons; $2.50 a dozen for teaspoons, which you know is reasonable!

Before having the house painted, coat all the windows with a cleaning powder; when the painting is finished, the powder and any paint on the glass can be removed in one operation.

The best olive oil as well as the finest imported Italian and French groceries may be bought at R. Fazzi & Co., 219 South Spring, MUtual 7612.

Cloths for cleaning windows without use of water can be made with a semiliquid paste of benzine and calcined magnesia. The cloth, which should be coarse linen or something free from lint, is dipped into this mixture and hung in the air until the spirits have evaporated and it is free from odor. This cloth may be used again and again and is a great convenience; when soiled, wash and redip.

CIDER CUP

1 cupful GUASTI WHITE CONCENTRATED GRAPE JUICE
4 cupfuls sweet cider
1 cupful grated pineapple
1 cupful peeled, seeded grapes
2 cupfuls finely chipped ice

Mix the above in a cold bowl and when ready to serve add 2 cupfuls carbonated water and serve in tall glasses. Garnish with sprays of mint. This recipe makes 2 quarts.

Let's not put off another day getting out the old carpets and having Fluff rugs made out of them by that splendid concern known as the Hoffman Rug Works, 2014 W. Jefferson st., EMpire 2048. They do such work very cleverly—nor are their prices high. They will make Colonial rugs out of rags for you, too.

Maple Layer Cake—Beat up one egg until light, add one cupful of crushed maple sugar and one cupful of sour cream and stir thoroughly. Mix and sift together two cupfuls of flour, one teaspoonful of soda, 1-4 teaspoonful of salt, and add it to the first mixture; beat all until smooth, then add ½ cupful of nut meats. Bake in layers. When cool put together with the following Maple Frosting between layers and over the top of the cake: Cook one cupful of crushed maple sugar with 1-8 cupful of water until the syrup will spin a thread; pour it gradually into the stiffly beaten white of one egg and beat up until stiff enough to spread properly.

A cloth dipped in vinegar gives a wonderful polish to windows after washing as usual; rub afterward with soft, dry cloth.

For less dust in sweeping, sprinkle the floor or carpet with sawdust, dampened with kerosene; this may be kept and used several times if a little oil is added each time. Or, sprinkle floor with pieces of newspaper wrung out of hot water.

Pear salad—Cut pears in halves, scoop out the centers and fill with currant jelly and cream cheese; serve on lettuce leaves with fluffy whipped cream.

Soaking new brooms in a strong solution of salt and hot water, or hot soapsuds, is good; let them dry well before using.

. . . and now what will we do with our Christmas money? Why not spend it at Steinen's Cutlery Shop, 210 W. Third st? It's not hard to make a selection there for their things are so very attractive and practical, and also inexpensive.

When you have any clothes you have discarded, and when there are articles about the house you have grown tired of, won't you send them all to the Children's Hospital Salvage Department, 712 Maple ave., (TUcker 1203?) They make such good use out of them all, and you thus contribute to one of the finest charities.

When windows are hard to raise, pour a little hot lard between the window frame and casing, also on the roller and rope, to remedy the trouble.

Celery salad dressing—Mix together one teaspoonful mustard, ½ teaspoonful salt and two tablespoonfuls flour; beat into it 3 eggs, one tablespoonful melted butter, one cupful milk and ½ cupful vinegar; add milk first, then the vinegar and cook in double boiler, stirring constantly till thick; remove from stove and add one large cupful of celery and one small onion, both finely chopped.

When washing linoleum or oilcloth, to each gallon of water add some starch or a tablespoonful of kerosene, or turpentine, to make it bright and new. Never use clear kerosene as it rots the fabric.

For tarnished silverware, fill a clean, grease-free aluminum dish with water enough to cover the articles to be cleaned and add 1 teaspoonful of baking or washing soda and 1 teaspoonful of salt for each quart of water; bring it to a boil. When boiling, put in the silverware, keeping it covered a few seconds (be sure the silver comes in contact with the aluminum;) it will come out bright and clean. Rinse in clean water and wipe with a soft cloth. A little whiting put in with the soda will contribute brilliancy. If the aluminum is slightly discolored after this process, it can easily be cleaned.

CANNON HELD FOR TRIAL

Son of Bishop Bound Over to Superior Court on Charges of Passing Worthless Checks

Financial affairs of the Richard Cannon Schools of El Monte were aired before Justice of the Peace Wilson yesterday morning, at the conclusion of which young Cannon, son of Bishop James R. Cannon, Jr., of the Methodist Episcopal Church, South, was bound over to the Superior Court on three charges of fraudulently issuing checks without sufficient funds.

A fourth count against Cannon was dismissed by Judge Wilson on motion of Dep. Dist.-Atty. Scott, who handled the cases against the defendant at the preliminary hearing. The case dismissed involved a check for $52 and Walter E. Bishop was the complaining witness.

CHECK TO CONTRACTOR

The first count was based upon the issuance of a check for $100 on account to George H. Myers, Alhambra contractor, who did the plastering for the new buildings of the Cannon schools, organized as a military academy. The structures themselves are modest affairs, located in the corner of a walnut grove northeast of El Monte, and presenting the appearance of a drab bungalow court with box-like units. The contract called for payment of $745 for the plastering, Myers said. About September 15, last, he said, he got the check for $100 from Cannon. It came back from the bank marked insufficient funds. He never has gotten the money, he said.

Eugene R. Case of the El Monte Military Academy, which has taken over the defunct Cannon institution, testified that when he was commandant of the Cannon schools, there were faculty meetings at which Case asked Cannon, "What are we going to do about all these people coming out and presenting the bad checks?" He said Cannon admitted overdrawing the account a little and offered an explanation of why he, Cannon, had figured there would not be any legal trouble over it. When asked whether Cannon had made any direct statement on a phase of the situation, Case, with evident feeling, shot back: "There are very few statements that Richard Cannon makes that are not mere inferences. He seldom makes a direct statement." A ripple of laughter swept over the courtroom, among the spectators being witnesses and others who had claims against Cannon.

MANY COMPLAINTS

The matter of the "bad checks" was brought up several times later at faculty meetings, Case said, until he got tired of bringing it up. He read off a list of about a dozen checks which, he said, had been the subject of inquiry from persons to whom they had been issued—contractors, laborers, and business houses.

"These people wrote letters, called in person, or on the telephone asking that we do something about these checks," he said.

Robert Rankin, assistant cashier for the First National Bank of El Monte, where Cannon Schools had their account, testified as to technical details of the checking. The overdraft on the account grew from $37 to $400 in about ten days, his testimony showed. He denied the inference that there was any agreement on the part of the bank to permit such overdraft.

Judge Wilson denied a defense motion to dismiss the charge when the State rested its case and the defense put in no evidence. In binding Cannon over to the Superior Court for trial the court fixed bail in the amount of $500.

C. S. Wilson, formerly member of the school faculty and acting as solicitor getting students for the school, was the complaining witness on the second charge, covering a check for $25 which Cannon gave Wilson. The latter said that although he knew the school was having financial trouble he felt that when Cannon wrote out the check for $25 for him the money ought to be in the bank because he, Wilson, had just brought in a pupil two days previously and got a $25 deposit. But Cannon's check came back and Wilson had to make good to the man who cashed it for him.

Cannon was bound over on that charge and bail fixed at $100.

THIRD CHARGE

The final charge involved a check for $40 issued to Rose Burwell. She was not in court and the defense stipulated to testimony that would have been offered. Cannon was bound over on that charge, with bail at $300.

Throughout the hearing Cannon sat at counsel table with his wife, conferring with the attorneys. Before the cases were taken up, Cannon was arraigned on a new charge of failing to pay a labor claim of Frank Schwenn of El Monte for $20. He pleaded not guilty and asked for a jury trial, which was set for January 22. Charges against Cannon are set for hearing at El Monte beginning January 8, involving wage claims.

RICH MAN'S DIVORCE AT RENO VOIDED

Local Court Rules Against Pasadenan and Decree Goes to His Wife Instead

Although Hamilton Maynard Dickinson, member of a wealthy Pasadena family, obtained a divorce from his wife in Reno, Nev., after he had answered her complaint here, Superior Judge Valentine held his local action made the Nevada suit illegal and yesterday granted Mrs. Dickinson a divorce.

A property settlement had been made out of court, by attorneys for both sides, it was announced, and Dickinson did not appear in court.

Mrs. Dickinson's complaint about her husband involved his asserted association with a nurse employed at her home. He admitted an affair with the woman, the plaintiff testified, but declared he wanted to be free of both his wife and her nurse, to marry a wealthy Chicago woman, Mrs. Ruth K. Reed. Some months ago, Mrs. Dickinson sued Mrs. Reed for $100,000 heart balm. This suit still is pending.

Husband Kept Pay, Says Wife

Acting in motion pictures paid her husband a good salary but he did not share it with her, complained Mrs. Barbara Langton yesterday when she obtained a divorce from Francis Langton.

"My husband was employed regularly at motion-picture studios, but he did not give me any money to live on," asserted Mrs. Langton. "I had to appeal to my mother for support and for money to buy clothing. In addition to that, he left me."

BABY ORCHESTRA WILL PLAY MONDAY

Concert to Be Rendered at First Methodist Church

The Talented Group Which Will Entertain Public

THE Hollywood baby orchestra, sponsored by the Wurlitzer Music Company and consisting of about thirty talented youngsters under 6 years of age, taught by Karl Moldrom, will give a concert Monday at 7:45 p.m. at the First Methodist Church, Eighth and Hope streets. The tiny conductor, Billy Barty, 3 years of age, has received letters from the King of Norway and from Mussolini of Italy, both expressing their great appreciation of this orchestra, which they had heard through two musical films. The Literary Digest of February 15, last, gives a full column story concerning the genius of the orchestra. Many recent current monthlies have called attention to the possibilities of the musical capacity of childhood as vividly and tangibly portrayed by the orchestra.

The concert Monday evening is sponsored by the Los Angeles County Jail Commission, which body maintains a chaplain and assistants in the County Jail.

THOROUGH SEARCH MADE FOR ATTACK SUSPECTS

A wholesale round-up of suspects in an effort to apprehend the two men responsible for attacks on Maxine and Thelma Ungeheur, two sisters of Glendale, was under way last night as police spread a net throughout the Riverside Drive district.

Plans to send six detectives on the man hunt and to comb the entire area on information uncovered during the day were made late yesterday by Chief of Detectives Taylor.

Glendale police late yesterday detained Cruz Alvarado, 23 years of age, and Gorgonio Gonzales, 27, both of Burbank, as suspects, when a length of lead pipe on which were possible blood stains and bits of hair was found in their automobile. The Ungeheur sisters, however, were unable to identify the pair as their assailants. They were nevertheless booked in the County Jail on suspicion of robbery. The improvised blackjack, ownership of which was denied by the men, was turned over to county chemists for analysis.

Two suspects picked up by Lieuts. Kriewald and Hoy of Lincoln Heights division, who have been directing the search for the attackers, were released yesterday after the two victims were unable to identify them as the men who dragged them to a secluded spot Christmas Eve.

Ownership of an auto, which police declare answers the description of the machine used by the two in their hold-up and attack, is being traced. The car has been identified as one used in Burbank, but police are of the opinion it had been stolen.

Roland Oakley, Griffith Park employee, who was robbed by the two bandits and held captive during the attack, is assisting police in their drive.

Today's Bible Text

Who shall not fear thee, O Lord, and glorify thy name, for thou only are holy: for all nations shall come and worship before thee: for thy judgments are made manifest.—Rev. xv:4.

THE MONEY CHANGERS

Gambling appears to be the barometer of prosperity in a country whether it be a slump in Wall street or the lack of big-money players at Monte Carlo.

CHECK AND DOUBLE CHECK

Sweden has an official, known as the People's Counsel, whose duty it is to see that public officials obey the law and behave themselves. We wonder who looks after the People's Counsel.

OUR ARMS ARE OPEN

That announcement by the Southern Pacific that 2262 men will be restored to a full-time schedule the first of the year means that the railroads are anticipating heavy travel to California this winter. And the auto roads are in pretty good shape, too.

NO SUCH LUCK

In any event, we may be sure that those fellows in Congress who hide behind special immunity to say what they please about anything or anybody never will migrate to Italy or Russia; they appreciate, if they abuse, the blessing of free speech.

THE BUSY "B"

The Boston Chamber of Commerce estimates that retailers of that city will spend $27,477,800 for goods between November 15, 1930, and February 15, 1931. A Boston journal comments on the fact that "B" in Boston stands for Business as well as Beans.

ORANGES

The unemployed in some eastern cities set up their wheelbarrows filled with apples and sell them at street corners. There is some evidence that oranges are retailed by the same fraternity in Los Angeles. That is one way you can help the man who is down but not out.

DOAK MAY DO IT

Doak went into office one day and the next came back with a plan to investigate the history of underworld characters with a view to their speedy deportation. We are going after the gangster problem with all the resources at our command, says the new Secretary of the Department of Labor. His decisions meet with popular approval. He will not only cut down crime everywhere, but will also reduce much of the unemployment.

FRENCH HOLLYWOOD

There is just one Hollywood. It is unnecessary to put "Calif., U.S.A." to have the letter delivered. People on other planets can even locate it by its Klieg lights.

But there are base imitations. One is Joinville, France. No, Joinville is not a take-off of the Hollywood-marrying idea, any more than the real Hollywood has much to do with the "holler" in the talkies made there. Both are accidents of birth.

The Paramount people are making talkies in fourteen different languages in Joinville, France. It is a sort of polyglot place. Numerous tongues can be collected without much effort in Europe. All the parts of speech can be found contiguous without great expense.

Europe is full of talkie about the next war, talkie about America, talkie about Sinclair Lewis, talkie about our talkies themselves. Europe is a great place to get plenty of talkie and that is why Joinville has been given the needle.

Just how long its thermometer will be able to weather the competition of the real thing in California may be something of a gamble. But it is one thing to get plenty of language and another to get something to say. It is also quite another thing to acquire stars who can twinkle before the lights. Films, demand more than a pretty face. Character and ability are now a requirement.

And Hollywood has been laying in a store of authors and artists over against the lean days of thinking. She has corralled most of the world's output of celebrities.

There are many places where movies are made, but just one Hollywood!

A WAR ON GANGSTERS

Dist.-Atty. Fitts, Chief of Police Steckel, Sheriff Traeger and a committee of leading citizens and business men have agreed upon a definite program for war on gangs and organized crime. Such a program is excellent as far as it goes and will undoubtedly produce beneficial results, but to get the best out of it something more is required. That is the complete co-operation of all these agencies with the courts and the prison authorities, with the active help and backing of the entire honest citizenry.

The program calls for establishment of the "stake-out" system to deal with hold-ups, with officers instructed to shoot to kill; organization of a special gangster detail of detectives and prosecution as vagrants of all crooks against whom no other charge can be made; aid to the police and sheriff's deputies, in gathering evidence, by the District Attorney's staff; use of special prosecutors to speed up trials, and two more departments of Superior Court to try felony cases. That this program, if carried out, will reduce violent crime in this city very markedly, there is no doubt; but if any element in the program fails of full effectiveness, the campaign will bog down.

The deflation of the Police Commission was the necessary first step in this program. Chief Steckel has been freed from the hampering restrictions with which this handful of amateur theorists tied up his office, and it is evident that the shaken police morale has been restored to a considerable degree. Public sentiment must make it plain that it wishes this condition to continue, that it wants no more inexpert fingers meddling with a very serious business, and that it will support Chief Steckel and his officers to the limit. Incidentally, the Chief of Police asked for more men and must have them. The city Council must be spurred into activity in this matter.

What can be accomplished in Los Angeles with real teamwork between the duly constituted authorities with the backing of the public is proved by the example of Milwaukee, which has neither gangs nor gangsters, in which organized crime has been reduced to a minimum, and in which other crime is of small proportions. This condition is the more surprising because of the nearness of Milwaukee to Chicago. Milwaukee is about half the size of Los Angeles, but has not anywhere near half as much crime. In fact, burglary insurance rates are the lowest in the Wisconsin city of any large city in the United States, much lower than in Los Angeles, and this is a fairly reliable index.

There are several reasons for Milwaukee's relative immunity from trouble, as detailed by William G. Shepherd in a recent magazine article. One of the most striking facts to Angelenos brought out by Mr. Shepherd is that Milwaukee has had exactly two chiefs of police in forty-six years. The present chief has been on the job ten years; his predecessor served for thirty-six! Los Angeles has had a dozen in not many more than as many years.

Further, there is but one judge for all the criminal cases in Milwaukee and its surrounding county and he handles from 1500 to 1800 cases a year. Here there are four departments regularly handling felony cases and will be six. The Milwaukee judge runs his court, sets cases for trial, and permits no fiddling and no delays. There is no grand jury. There are records of cases being tried and men sentenced and on their way to prison within four hours after their commission of crime.

According to Mr. Shepherd Milwaukee has about nine murders a year—there are fifty to sixty in Los Angeles—but with no professional murder since 1926. By professional murder is meant one committed in the course of a hold-up or burglary, as distinguished from a crime of passion. There has been only one unpunished murder in ten years.

The quick and sure justice which professional criminals dread is an actuality in Milwaukee. It can be made an actuality here with the adoption of similar methods.

The program just adopted looks toward this end. With the co-operation of citizens it can be reached.

REDS AS DISTURBERS

Discovery by police in New York that Communists in that city had attempted to start runs on various banks by telephoning various depositors and advising them to withdraw their funds gives rise to the suspicion that the recent whispering campaign in Los Angeles was of the same character. The Los Angeles campaign has had no effect, the public being here well informed and knowing that the condition of the local banks, as regards liquidity of assets, was never better than at present. But the campaign deserves notice as an interesting sample of Red tactics, even if it can here be passed over with a grin.

These disturbers, being financed either directly by Moscow or indirectly by Moscow from the purses of sap-headed parlor pinks, have no personal interest in American prosperity and no objection to destroying it, if they can. Their sole object is to foment unrest, in the hope of promoting the work revolution which Stalin has been promising the peasants and workers of Russia. Any kind of trouble elsewhere is relished by the Communist leaders in the land of the soviets, because it helps to keep the Russian people from thinking about their own troubles. Further, if a good deal of misery can be produced in other countries the Russians will have less of a glaring contrast with their own miserable condition.

It happens that giving false information derogatory to a bank or business is a penal offense. Anyone to whom such rumors are peddled can confer a favor upon the community by reporting the facts promptly to the police or district attorney. Few would be sorry to see some Communists jailed for efforts to sabotage industrial and business recovery, even if such efforts are unavailing. The intention to do damage is there and intention is the essence of every crime.

STAGECOACH IDEAS

When it took three months to arrive in Washington, the lame-duck Congress was an adjustment to the old stagecoach days. Congress still drives an oxcart.

LEE SIDE O' L.A.

By Lee Shippey

WE NOW can report, on the basis of emphatic personal information, that there is a lot more old-time reverence for Sunday in this territory than we thought there was.

The other day we tried to hold up for consideration a picture of Sunday as it used to be and, alongside it, a picture of Sunday as it is now to many people. We especially compared the Sunday clothes of bygone days with the coveralls so many men now don in order to clean up the family car. We drew no moral—just held up the two pictures and left the rest to our readers. And since then a lot of our readers have turned writers.

Our pan-mail has been heavy with letters expressing their disappointment in us because we spend Sunday tinkering up the family car instead of going to church.

We Hasten to Explain

Dear friends, we had hoped to keep it secret, but occasionally we deal in fictions. The fact is that we have no family car and do, sometimes, go to church with our helpsend or our mother. We are, indeed, technically rated as a church member, because of a little annual pledge, and our children go to Sunday-school regularly. But we must confess that we do spend more Sunday mornings gardening than churching, and believe we get just as much out of it for our own peculiar soul, for we never have been much of an indoor worshiper.

But we try honestly to hold up the mirror to what is going on in Southern California, and we must report that this last week we have received as many evidences that many of our residents still reverence Sunday as a holy day as we have Christmas cards. We received one of those letters from a prominent realtor, and it was such an earnest letter we'll bet you couldn't induce that realtor to take you out and show you a piece of property on a Sunday.

Building Better Business

If you want proof that the business depression is passing you can find a good deal of it where any building operation is going on. Last May all kinds of building material reached lowest ebb and thousands of people who had a little money were wise enough to start building homes then, to take advantage of that situation. The result is that building materials, though still far below the cost levels of a year ago, are noticeably higher than they were last May. Steel, sand, rock, lumber, plaster, brick and other essentials all have advanced since then, and it must have taken widespread building operations to bring about that general advance. And there cannot be widespread building operations without general prosperity.

Harry Lyons is a man who does his own thinking and he has supplied us with some notes which show how building operations create prosperity.

"Nearly two months ago," he writes, "work was begun on a one-room studio, attached to our already-built garage. The studio is fifteen by thirty-six feet. It contains a massive brick fireplace, a built-in bookcase, three closets, lavatory, shower bath and nine electric outlets, but is not ceiled and the native wood is not painted. The floor is of oak. The exterior is of frame construction with stucco over chicken wire.

"Up to date, the following men have worked on this studio: One carpenter, one amateur carpenter, two bricklayers, one bricklayer's helper, two plumbers, one electrician, three lathers and three plasterers, not to mention the day laborer who removed the dirt for the foundation and the men who delivered material, who were not paid by me but by the firms from which material was bought but none the less were busy because of that one-room job. Fifteen skilled, well-paid men were on the job, and all of them arrived in motor cars. Counting in the plumbing inspector and the men who delivered materials, the total number of men to whom it gave employment was twenty-one.

"So if you can't build a whole house build a room, and make better times for all of us."

Joshua Little Says

Any motorist could kill at least three pedestrians or fool drivers a day without any of the accidents being technically his fault. But it's his fault if he doesn't drive with that idea in mind.

A real egotist feels as important when he is hotel-paged as he would if front-paged.

"Girl Throttles Armed Bandit," says the headline over a Pasadena story. This modern necking certainly is wonderful practice.

And "Mixed Quartet Held to Answer Bandit Counts" was over a Redlands dispatch. I bet it was the same quartet I paid 50 cents to hear at a church benefit.

The street car tracks on California street, Pasadena, are being taken up. I've seen 'em taking up street car tracks in several places in Southern California during the last three years and can't recall seeing them laying a single new one.

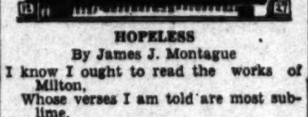
The people who will enthusiastically welcome Einstein to Pasadena are not the same ones who would joyously welcome swel steins.

DRIVERS' SCHOOLS

In Minneapolis, drivers who repeat in accidents are sent to drivers' schools. That school might establish a successful branch in Los Angeles. Dr. Flexner, the watch dog of endowed institutions of learning, might object to any diploma being given; but a lot of lives and vast property loss would be saved.

FOR THE ASKING

Grounds upon which divorces are being granted would indicate that a reason no longer is demanded by the courts, just an excuse.



HOPELESS

By James J. Montague

I know I ought to read the works of Milton,
Whose verses I am told are most sublime,
One cannot be educated
Who has seldom contemplated
The work of such a man of such a time.
I know that Edmund Spenser was a wonder,
That I ought to know "The Faerie Queene" by heart,
If I nurse the least ambition
To attain the erudition
Which arises from a grasp of noble art.

I ought to read the stuff about Piers Plowman,
Mr. Chaucer I should have upon my tongue,
I am told the dear old fellow
Had a style extremely mellow
Though a foggy form of rhetoric he slung.
There are divers books by Smollett, Sterns and Fielding,
There are even books by Dickens and by Scott,
Which I ought to know minutely
And to comment on astutely,
Which, I own, with burning shame, that I cannot.

But I need a bit of time to make my living,
I have to read the tidings of the day,
And a thousand folks are writing
Novels thrilling and exciting,
Which, when once begun, I cannot put away.
So I still remain an utter ignoramus,
Knowing nothing of the literary seers,
Though the wisdom of the ages
May I be found upon their pages,
For I don't expect to live a thousand years.

WHAT OTHERS THINK ABOUT IT

THE FOLLY OF CENSORSHIP
[New York Herald-Tribune]

A renewed battle for a stage censorship is not likely to win much support in this community. The results of previous efforts have been too obviously failure. They have not raised the moral level of the community as a whole or of the stage; chiefly they have served, in some instances, to reveal the stupidity of self-appointed censors; in others to draw unnecessary attention to plays which would else have been forgotten.

The persistent efforts to censor the essentially serious plays of Mr. Eugene O'Neill are examples of the former. The spotlight thrown upon the rather dull productions of Mr. Earl Carroll and Miss Mae West are samples of the latter. As efforts to clean the stage they have been equally lamentable failures.

The sophisticated public of today enjoys jokes which might have shocked their fathers, but it does not enjoy sheer dirt. It is not true that mere dirt is enough to fill a theater. Mere dirt, unadvertised by the would-be censors, is usually left to talk to empty seats, and the show soon closes.

Mr. John Haynes Holmes was, we think, too pessimistic in his recent remarks upon the stage and censorship in New York today, but his philosophy was sound. The stage, he said, has always been a mirror of contemporary conditions, and our age is among the most degenerate. But, he concluded, there are no persons competent to sit as judges upon what the people should think or see, and the only real remedy lies in improving the morals of the age through education.

THE MOSCOW VERDICT
[New York Times]

Out of eight defendants in the trial of the Moscow engineers, charged with criminal damage at home and conspiracy abroad, five were at first sentenced to death. The prompt commutation to imprisonment confirms the view that the whole trial was for theatrical effect. One of the five is Prof. Ramsin, who had been the chief figure in the case. On this page appeared a letter from Michael Karpovich, a member of the Harvard University faculty, commenting on the official text of Prof. Ramsin's confession as printed in the Moscow Izvestia. In it Prof. Ramsin mentions, among the emigres with whom he held treasonable commerce in Paris in 1927 and 1928, a certain industrialst named P. P. Riabushinski. That name occurs in the text no less than twenty-four times as one of the chief intermediaries between Ramsin and members of the French government. But Mr. Karpovich in his letter points out that P. P. Riabushinski died in France in July, 1924.

WHAT IS AN AMERICAN?
[Kansas City Star]

Dr. Edward A. Steiner of Grinnell College, Iowa, is willing to offer immortality to anyone who can define the term "an American." We should like to suggest a definition. An American is a person who will put up with anything. He will put up with corruption in public office. He will put up with gangsters and racketeers. He will put up with medical quacks. He will put up with foreign lecturers who preach at him. He will put up with sopranos who sing "At Dawning." He will not only endure these things, but ask for more. How about that degree of immortality, professor?

A Good Example

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 22.—[To the Editor of The Times:] The information has just come to the attention of the writer (and he believes it is worthy of emulation by the business men of Los Angeles and its environs) that the Pacific Mutual Life Insurance Company this year, for the first time in its history, has placed its mammoth order for calendars in its "home town," and one must readily admit the calendars are "a work of art."

When it is considered that this company will soon be sixty-three years old and fully realizes it can get equal, if not superior, service locally and at the same time keep this large sum circulating at home it speaks "volumes" for this pioneer California organization. The writer believes, as a result of giving full credit to the Pacific Mutual and in calling attention to this fact, it may forcibly remind others who are sending work of various kinds East that they may act upon the hint and also keep their dollars circulating at home, thereby materially assisting advancing our date of prosperity, which surely appears to be in the offing.

False Loyalty

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 23.—[To the Editor of The Times:] A mistaken fealty of an employee to employer has been emphasized in the failure of the Guaranty Building and Loan Association of Hollywood. At least two employees have admitted knowing of the defalcations of Gilbert Beesemyer for several years, but as they state, out of loyalty to their employer have not let the public know of his defalcations. This course of conduct on the part of an employee cannot be too severely condemned.

In this day of big business, confidential employees of officers and directors of corporations, are often more familiar with the inner workings of such corporations than the heads themselves, and if under some assumed code of ethics as to loyalty the employee or employees cover known wrong entries, from which the public suffers, and the employee not held to account unless participating in the default, a great injustice is done the public.

While there is no charge in the Guaranty Building and Loan Association debacle that an employee received any part of the "loot," yet if they had guilty knowledge of wrongdoing, the law, if not their sense of moral responsibility, should hold them to account for not divulging the facts.

Golden Rule

LOS ANGELES, Dec. 22.—[To the Editor of The Times:] On the editorial page of your issue of December 17 there appeared an article entitled, "Golden Rule," by Lannie Haynes Martin. This movement is apparently ready to abandon high-sounding phrases that deal with supposed classes and is ready to devote energy to direct and useful work.

The individuals pledging themselves to the success of this work could devise no more certain formula for their own reward. The philosophical principle is expressed in the following quotation taken from a recent issue of a daily paper—"Serve and thou shalt be served. If you love and serve men, you cannot, by any hiding or strategem, escape the remuneration."

ARTHUR P. MORAN.

The Moving Colony

NEWLLANO (La.) Dec. 20.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I saw an article in your paper of December 2, headed, "G. B. S. Recants." In it, commenting upon the failure of different societies, you speak of Llano Colony as a failure. I beg to advise that you are entirely mistaken.

The Llano Co-operative Colony moved from California in the latter part of 1917 and the early part of 1918 to Newllano, La. Now we own 15,000 acres of land, a small town of more than 100 buildings and are operating something over fifty different industries.

We do not compute our success on a dollar and cent basis, but are able to assure you that the colony is financially successful and is proving the way to a better economic and social system.

Every year your paper has told of the failure of Llano Colony. I urge you to make the correction in the light of justice.

LLANO CO-OPERATIVE COLONY,
By George T. Pickett.

WEALTH IN STRAW PILE

Cellulose now rivals coal in the number of useful products it provides. Paper, artificial silk, artificial leather, roofing material, artificial ivory, smokeless gunpowder and celluloid are all forms of cellulose. Most of the cellulose now used for paper making comes from the pine forests of Canada and America, where the trees are being cut down four times as fast as they can be grown. The great piles of straw annually burned on the farms of these countries are suitable for cellulose production. Under scientific treatment every ton of straw can be the raw material for the manufacture of articles ultimately worth more than the original grain. Burned in the open air a ton of straw leaves behind only a few pounds of ash. But from that same ton modern scientific methods can produce a quarter of a ton of carbon, fifteen gallons of chemicals used for the manufacture of antiseptics, 400 pounds of cellulose material, and substantial properties of dyestuffs and of acetic acid.

CALIFORNIA IN 2030
BY LAURENCE ALLIOT

If California's population continues to increase in the next twenty years in the same ratio that it has in the past ten the State will in 1950, the one hundredth anniversary of her first enumeration, have 18,175,228 inhabitants. The most pessimistic of realty holders should take heart from these figures.

It is not at all probable that there will be such a phenomenal increase extending over the period of the coming twenty years, for from 1910 to 1930 conditions arose that gave tremendous impetus to California's growth—especially in the southern section of the State—namely the exploitation of the oil fields and the vogue for motion pictures.

California had her first census enumeration in 1850, when some 165,000 souls constituted her entire population, exclusive of Indians. The decade preceding 1850 had witnessed a more remarkable increase, proportionately, than the past ten years has, for the "Gold Rush" of 1849 multiplied the estimated 12,000 residing here prior to that time by more than tenfold. It is interesting to study the facts set forth in that first official record of our State, a volume including which was published last year by the Times Mirror Press under the editorship of Marco R. Newmark, to whose family we owe the preservation of the original transcript. The native white population of Los Angeles in 1850 was 4091, of which 1173 over the age of 21 were born in the United States. Only one industry of commercial importance was listed, a bakery, which had produced during the year preceding 42,280 loaves of bread, its working force consisting of the proprietor and two helpers.

Although California has been of the family of States for a mere eighty years of official record, the earliest national census enumeration took place in 1790, 140 years ago. It embraced but seventeen States, and of these Virginia, with 747,610, had practically double the population of any of the rest. Pennsylvania stood second with 434,373, North Carolina came third with 393,751, Massachusetts with 378,787 was fourth and New York was in fifth place with 340,120.

Virginia continued to hold first position for three decades, losing in 1820 to New York, Pennsylvania falling back to third and North Carolina dropped to fourth, with Ohio—which had first appeared in the enumeration of 1800—already forged ahead to fifth place in the list. One hundred years ago, in 1830, New York was still first, a position she has continuously sustained ever since, with Pennsylvania second and Virginia third; Ohio had moved up to fourth, and North Carolina was fifth. Pennsylvania has consistently held her position as second State in numerical importance for the entire century past. Virginia, on the contrary, for a long time steadily lost ground. After standing first for three enumerations she had in 1850 retrograded to fifth; in 1870 she had dropped to tenth, fifty years later—in 1920—she stood twentieth in the list and is still held to that place.

California made her first appearance in 1850 twenty-ninth in rank, only Delaware, Florida, New Mexico, District of Columbia, Oregon, Utah and Minnesota trailing behind her. By 1900 she had advanced to twenty-first, the growth of the next ten years saw these figures transposed and in 1910 she ran twelfth. In the census of 1930 just compiled she had advanced to sixth, only New York, Pennsylvania, Illinois, Ohio and Texas outranking her.

The United States in 1830 had a recorded population of 12,856,407. In the enumeration just completed for 1930 there are 122,186,893, an increase of practically tenfold. In the past ten years the growth was more than four times as much as the entire enumeration in the first census, while for the century we have increased thirty times the number of that modest record of 1790.

California in the present census is accredited with 5,642,282, a growth of 64 per cent since 1920; should this rate of increase continue for the next ten years, and each succeeding decade of the century to come, we would in 2030 have some 325,500,000 people within our State, four or five times as many as are now in the entire country. Social economists of that not-so-far-away time will have many problems confronting them. Since with our present means of living and production it will be manifestly impossible for us to sustain that many persons, it is a wild surmise—fraught with some anxiety—as to just what fate may have in store for our progeny of the next three or four generations.

CROSSING FRONTIERS

Tourists passing the frontiers of European countries are sometimes put to considerable delay and annoyance in complying with the passport regulations, which they are liable to denounce as entirely unnecessary. This seems to be avoided in the case of the air traffic. Fly, for instance, from London to Paris, and all that apparently happens is that you hand your passport to an affable gentleman at the London booking office, get it back again from an equally affable gentleman at Croydon, pass an uninterested policeman, and enter the plane. And when you get to Paris airport, you show it to an official who stamps it almost without looking at it. Only what I fancy they don't tell you is that in the few minutes the officials have so kindly carried your passport for you, it has been thoroughly checked with the lists of "wanteds," and that while you pass the few yards that lead to the steps of the plane, you are being scrutinised by the plain-clothes police both of the country you are leaving and of that you are going to. Which, after all, is a good deal more efficacious than any number of sentries who do not know you from Adam.

Health and Diet Advice
by FRANK McCOY

WHAT CAUSE BACKWARD CHILDREN

Today, child labor is no longer, although in the not distant past it was not unusual for children of 6 and 8 years of age to labor in ill-lighted and poorly ventilated factories from twelve hours a day. These things resulted in crippled bodies and dwarfed intellects. Even though a great improvement has taken place in most civilized communities there is much progress that should be made. There are still a few states and countries where the 14-year age limit is not fixed by law, and in others, children of very youthful years may be forced to work if needed by their parents.

A human body does not usually develop to full strength until the age of 18. If during the growing years the muscles are held in a constant position, or used for eight or more hours a day, it is found to be in an immatured working condition. Often times arise in immatured workers which can be directly attributed to the occupation. For the body to develop properly it is necessary to have a great variation of exercise during the day. Even school children with the child sitting for several hours a day in one position, tend to develop certain physical handicaps such as crooked spines or shoulder higher than the other, chest is often cramped, making them susceptible to tuberculosis. Recovery must be overcome by periods of regular exercise, which is now compulsory in many schools. When for some reason it is necessary that a child study, care and watchfulness should be used to see that the child is relieved and there should be a distinct change in occupation sufficient to balance the task. Where the body has become deformed it is practically impossible to undo the harm done. The bones are of a pliability that readily changed once they have become set. Parents have a great responsibility in rearing children to health is the best endowment they may give to a child. Children should be a good mind in a good body.

If you observe any defects in your child, as stooped or slouching shoulders, flat chest or limping, you should by all means see that the defect is corrected before it is too late. Usually an osteopathic or chiropractic doctor or a physical-culture director will be able to tell you just what exercises the child should take. It should not be forgotten that the diet plays an important part in the bone formation of a child, and you should see that your child is properly and sufficiently nourished. The eyes should also receive attention. There are thousands of children handicapped by poor eyesight unknown to parents and even to the children themselves. Many children considered backward in school are suffering from some defect of the eyes or ears. We are just beginning to realize how important the teeth are to the health. Many children are unable to properly digest food because of bad teeth. Others are poisoned by abscessed teeth, and may be nervous because of the teeth growing in improperly. Every child should be taken to the dentist once or twice a year for an examination of the teeth.

Defects in children should be corrected as soon as they are noticed, and any neglect to do this may irretrievably injure the child's health and chances for future happiness. No parent would do this intentionally, but unfortunately the best intentions in the world are valueless if vigalance is not constantly exercised.

Oh, Those Hands!

Kerosene will clean your hands better than anything else after blacking a stove. Pour a little in the water, wash your hands in it and then wash with white soap and a brush. The kerosene will loosen the grease so it is readily washed out. Finish by using a hand lotion to keep the hands soft.

Stick To It

When you find a brand of food that you like a great deal, remember the maker's name when next you order. It is foolish to keep trying various kinds of canned foods when you know of a perfectly satisfactory brand.

CHEF WYMAN'S RECIPES

Every Friday at 2 o'clock Mrs. A. L. Wyman will conduct a free class and demonstration of good cookery in the lecture room of the Southwest Building, 130 South Broadway.

BAKED HAM

Boil a ten or twelve-pound ham in boiling water for ten minutes then simmer slowly for three hours, remove from the water, and remove the skin, three-quarters of the way down. Place in a baking pan, and bake in a moderate oven for one hour fat side up. Baste with a mixture of one cupful of pineapple juice, one cupful of the ham liquor and, one teaspoonful of mustard. Take one can of apricots, and drain them of all their juice, press them through a sieve, and spread over the baked ham. Sprinkle heavily with brown sugar, return the ham to the oven, and bake for one hour longer. Place the baked ham on a larger platter, cook another can of apricots in their own juice, adding a half a cupful more of sugar, cook them slowly so they will not lose their shape. Place them around the baked ham, garnish with parsley and serve.

PUMPKIN PIE

One and one-half cupfuls of cooked pumpkin, one teaspoonful of cinnamon, one-half teaspoonful of ginger, one-fourth of a teaspoonful of nutmeg, one-half teaspoonful of salt, two-thirds of a cupful of brown sugar, four eggs, one and one-half cupfuls of milk, two tablespoonfuls of butter; mix the sugar, spices and salt with the pumpkin, beat the eggs slightly and add them to the milk, then beat the pumpkin and egg mixture together. Add the melted butter, pour into an unbaked crust, and bake for ten minutes in a hot oven, then reduce the heat to a moderate oven and bake about thirty minutes longer.

EGGS AU GRATIN

Two cupfuls of milk, one onion, six whole cloves, two tablespoonfuls of butter, six eggs, two tablespoonfuls of flour, one teaspoonful of salt, half a teaspoonful of paprika, one cupful of soft bread crumbs, one cupful of grated cheese, a few grains of mace. Scald the milk, quarter the onion, and press into it the whole cloves, melt the butter and flour and slowly add the milk. Place in a double boiler, stir until the sauce boils. Then add the seasonings, strain, pour half of the sauce in a baking dish, add half the crumbs, and cheese, cover the sauce with the other half of the crumbs and place in the oven until hot. Remove from the oven, break the eggs carefully on top of the crumbs, cover with crumbs and bake in a moderate oven until the eggs are set.

Mrs. Wyman does not reply to letters, but requests for recipes are answered in the department, PRACTICAL RECIPES, published every Friday.—(All rights to reproduce reserved by A. L. Wyman.)

YOUR BABY and MINE
by MYRTLE MEYER ELDRED

Mrs. Eldred will be glad to answer all questions pertaining to babies and children. A stamped and self-addressed envelope forwarded to this office will bring a personal reply.

This department offers leaflets on weaning and feeding the child from 6 weeks to 6 years, prenatal care and diet for the nursing mother, constipation, eczema, outfits for the new baby, sleeping, walking, teething, thumb sucking, abnormal habits, bed wetting, training in cleanly habits, periods of nursing, cod liver oil, orange juice, hives, worms, vomiting, refractory children, prune juice, lime water, rupture, styes and boils and cradle cap. Before asking a personal question about one of these subjects, it is better to send a self-addressed stamped envelope for the leaflet you need. If your particular problem is not covered in the above list, Mrs. Eldred will be glad to give you a personal reply.

DISCIPLINE ESSENTIAL, EVEN IF SPANKING IS TABOO

Human nature is accurately viewed through the thousands of letters which pass through my hands monthly. Just as a composite portrait results in a definite type of individual, so do thousands of letters result in a knowledge of a definite attitude of mothers. This attitude is, therefore, typical of large groups of individuals.

We find two very definite attitudes of mothers on the subject of discipline, especially spanking, and they are amusingly characteristic. The nonspanking mother is never very sure of herself. She does not spank because someone has convinced her it is a wrong type of discipline, or else she is an individual who couldn't spank a child, even if she wanted to. But always she is somewhat diffident about expressing her opinion.

PICTURE OF SPANKING MOTHER

Not so the spanking mother. She, too, is typical. She is always very vehement in expressing her opinion. Also, she is ready to revile anyone who doesn't believe as she does. She acts as if she alone had discovered spanking and should have a medal for being a strong and virtuous parent who rules her children with the rod. She is like a small tug with a piercing whistle which in a sea full of calm ocean liners screams at them, "Look at me!"

Why these attitudes are typical of the two types of mothers is a little hard to analyze. There is nothing original about spanking; it has been going on for years with most indifferent results. Why any mother should consider that she needs any special commendation for using it is one of the eternal mysteries.

Here is a mother who has tried spanking and drawn her own conclusions. Having had the usual bad results from spanking she now wants to throw discipline out of the window. That is just as faulty a conclusion as for the mother who gets results with one spanking to conclude that a spanking for everything would bring equally good results.

DISCIPLINE ESSENTIAL

Authority, which is usually disagreeable for the child, has to be learned in the home. The methods by which it is learned are many and must be suited to the individual situation. Our leaflet on "Obedience and Discipline" discusses them. Any interested mother may have this leaflet if she will send a self-addressed, stamped envelope with her request to the "Your Baby and Mine" department of this newspaper.

Mrs. R. E. R. says "I commend your stand on spankings. After twenty years' experience I have reached the conclusion that children of good heritage and right environment need no punishment, in preference to a spanking. Our two older children were spanked by me until they were too old and then by their father. Now they have no respect for either of us.

"We have a younger child and have decided that if there is nothing but a spanking fitting his crime there shall be no punishment. Most parents, in their endeavor to have other adults consider their children well-behaved, overdo punishment instead of considering misbehavior as a passing stage."

A Bedtime Story

JERRY MUSKRAT MOVES

—Old Mother Nature.

It was true that Jumper the Hare was right to Stumpy the young Rabbit was speedily taken home. Stumpy was somewhat disappointed to learn that Little Joe Otter had had a slippery slide farther up the Laughing Brook he was not very much frightened. Still it was fun while it lasted, and he felt that his friend Jerry Muskrat and Mrs. Muskrat should be told at once. So Jumper bade Stumpy farewell and, diving down under the ice straight to the house in which he and one of his sisters were spending the winter with their parents, His brother and sister were out, but Mrs. Muskrat was at home. Stumpy repeated what he had heard from Jumper the Hare.

Mrs. Muskrat's surprise, Jerry Muskrat seemed very much disturbed. "I don't like this. I don't like it at all," said Jerry. "I don't like Little Joe about in winter when food is plentiful and I don't want him around in winter. If he has moved up the Laughing Brook we will be paying the Smiling Pool a visit one of these days I suppose, would rather not have him around when he does. It looks as if we must move and the sooner we do it is the better."

"Where shall we move to?" asked Stumpy. "Where we can move under the sun," said Jerry with a twinkle in his eye. "We must move under the ice." "Move under the ice will be fun!" demanded Stumpy. But Mrs. Jerry came in and was at once informed of Little Joe Otter's presence on the Laughing Brook. "We must move at once," she declared. "The sooner the better."

"That is what I have told Stumpy," said Jerry. "There is no knowing when Little Joe Otter may take it into his head to visit the Smiling Pool and the fact that it is covered with ice will make no difference. If he should happen to be very hungry I would rather not be around.

Just then Stumpy's sister, a somewhat headstrong young Muskrat, came in and was told the news. "But I don't want to move," she declared.

"It is sometimes wisest to do things we do not want to do," said Jerry mildly.

"But this fellow may never come here at all. Even if he does he may not so much as look at one of us," protested the young Muskrat.

"True enough, he may not. On the other hand, he may. So I think we will move and we will waste no time about it," declared Jerry.

"Where will we move to?" Stumpy asked again.

"To the hole in the bank beneath the Big Hickory Tree," replied Jerry. "As you know, the hall from the water up to the bedroom passes between some roots that no one larger than ourselves can squeeze between. We'll be safe there from Little Joe Otter."

Stumpy's sister turned up her nose. "That old place!" she exclaimed. "We'll be crowded half to death there."

"Better to be a little crowded than to have room to spare in Little Joe Otter's stomach," retorted Jerry. "Come on now. When we know that Little Joe Otter has left these parts we'll move back to this house."

So, with Jerry leading the way and Mrs. Jerry bringing up the rear the four Muskrats swam under the ice to the hole in the bank under the Big Hickory Tree that grew on the bank and over the Smiling Pool. The bedroom was well back and not far beneath the grass roots. It hadn't been dug for so many and when the four squeezed into it they were rather cramped. But, as Jerry said, "they would sleep all the warmer for that." Only Stumpy's sister made objections. She grumbled and complained and declared that it was all foolishness, anyway.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS

Soiled Coat Collars

Keep a watch on the collars of both yours and hubby's coats and sponge them frequently with gasoline or some fabric cleaner. You will be surprised how quickly the grease accumulates and how soiled the collars will be.

Attractive

If you are fond of a bowl for cut flowers, cover the bottom thickly with small colorful pebbles and use them as supports for the flower stems. They make the glass holder a much more attractive decoration.

Home-Made Polish

A polish good for all metals can be made with one cup of cigar ashes mixed with two tablespoons bicarbonate of soda, brought to a smooth paste by adding water. Use on a soft cloth, rubbing vigorously.

BANDITS BREAK CRIME RECORDS

New All-Time Peak Reached in Month's Robberies

Ruthlessness of Hold-up Men Shown by Reports

Many Thousands of Dollars Lost by Victims

With forty-two robberies reported during the thirty-hour period between 6 p.m. Christmas Eve and midnight Christmas Day, the total for the first twenty-five days of this month soared to 318, or forty-three more robberies than were reported during the entire month of November, last, when 275 hold-ups shattered all previous records. These figures were released yesterday at the police statistician's office. In the first twenty-five days of December, last year, only 135 robberies were reported.

Indication of the ruthlessness which has characterized the operation of bandits during this season's crime orgy is revealed in the report, which shows that, out of the 318 robberies reported, sixteen of them were perpetrated in the homes of citizens after bandits had entered by armed force.

The other robberies are analyzed as follows: Twenty-six service stations, twenty-six drug stores, twenty-nine groceries, forty-nine motorists, forty-three pedestrians, ten shoe and clothing stores, twenty-one cafes, nine malt-and-bottle supply shops, two jewelry stores, eight ice cream parlors, three banks, fourteen taxi-cab drivers, eight hotels, twelve motorists driving in their home garages, twenty-five variety stores, and miscellaneous hold-ups, seventeen.

The total number represent a monetary loss of $40,000 in cash and valuables, according to records of the statistician's office, exclusive of the theft of automobiles by bandits.

The plunder obtained by burglars is computed at approximately $125,000.

Thefts from parked automobiles, lawns of residences, stores and open garages where no forceful entry was made have averaged thirty a day, according to the records, with a total loss estimated at $25,000.

TWO SUSPECTS CAUGHT

Opportune arrival of Motor Patrol Officers Heacock and Manes at the scene of an asserted robbery in front of 212 Manchester avenue, resulted in the capture of two bandit suspects, early yesterday morning.

Immediately after he was robbed of $1, which he said he had just borrowed from a friend, by a trio of bandits, Richard Trepte of 443 East Eighty-fifth street, shouted for help at the top of his voice. Heacock and Manes heard the cry and sped to the scene. In the subsequent chase of the bandits one was caught, who gave the name of Everett Scruggs, 19 years of age, and two escaped.

But one of those who got away was recognized by the officers as a youth they had repeatedly warned to stay off the streets late at night, according to their report. The officers went immediately to the suspect's home at 10508 South Main street. He had not returned, but his brother, Kalmon S. Simon, 17, was taken into custody and held on suspicion of robbery.

Verbal argument proved mightier than pistols when W. M. Stewart of 832 South Pedora street, was held up by two bandits in front of his home.

Facing the menace of two revolvers, Stewart declared: "I will not be stuck up. Go on and shoot if you want to. You'll both then be hunted for murderers, but I will not be stuck up."

For five minutes Stewart did not stop talking long enough for the bandits to edge in a word, according to the police report, and they finally pocketed their guns and walked disgustedly away.

MERCHANT SLUGGED

In a daring robbery shortly before noon yesterday Chin Yin, merchant of 1012 South San Pedro street, was struck down unconscious by a blow from a piece of gas pipe wielded by a bandit in front of a cafe at 502 East Seventh street.

Yin stated he had just made a delivery of goods to the cafe and had walked out to his automobile parked in front when the slugger stepped up quickly and hit him without warning. Then before passers-by were attracted to the scene the bandit rifled Yin's pockets of $300 in cash, ran a short distance down Fifth street and escaped in an automobile driven by a confederate.

HUSBANDS' VIEWS DIFFER ON WORKING WIVES ISSUE

Husbands differ about the question of their spouses taking jobs outside of the home, two wives testified yesterday in obtaining divorces. One wanted to work and wasn't allowed, and the other couldn't and always was being urged to seek a position, they related in two courts.

Mrs. Gertrude Perkins told her version of the problem to Superior Judge Tyron, who granted her a divorce from Earl Thomas Perkins.

"My husband gambled and refused to work, but he wouldn't permit me to work," asserted Mrs. Perkins. "Last June I obtained a position at a fireworks stand in Culver City, but he locked me in the house to prevent me from taking it. I escaped by climbing through a window."

Superior Judge Wilson granted a decree to Mrs. Agnes E. Slicton after she testified regarding George H. Slicton's views on working wives.

"He always was nagging me to get a job," said Mrs. Slicton. "Even when I was ill he would insist that I go to work. Why, I even had to work to earn money to pay my doctor bills when I underwent an operation. And May 15, last, he got me a job at Malibu Beach and forced me to accept the position, although I was ill at the time."

Judge Wilson granted her a divorce.

YOUTH ENDS LIFE, USING AUTO FUMES

U.C. Graduate Believed to Have Been Brooding Over Campus Romance

The unhappy termination of a campus romance is believed to have been the motive for the suicide of Charles H. Pein, 22-year-old University of California graduate who was found dead in his automobile yesterday on a secluded road on Malibu ranch between Latigo and Solstice canyons.

The youth disappeared Wednesday and the indications when his body was found were that he took his life that day. He brought about his death by carbon-monoxide poisoning by attaching a length of pipe to the exhaust of his car, leading it inside the car, carefully sealing all other openings and then placing over his face a phonograph horn which was attached to the other end of the pipe. The motor was left running and it kept running until all the gasoline in the tank was exhausted.

A passing motorist reported finding the body to the Fairfax substation of the Sheriff's office, and deputies who investigated found a note in the automobile addressed merely to Pein's home address, 1144 West Sixty-fourth street, but with no name on it. The note read:

"When certain qualities are missing or destroyed, and everything such a person does causes unhappiness, the best thing that can be done is to remove that person."

Pein lived with his brother-in-law, T. G. Hamilton. The latter told deputies investigating the case that Pein graduated from the Berkeley institution last June and came to this city three weeks ago to work as a draughtsman for an engineering corporation. While the dead youth had not confided in him, Hamilton said, he believes the boy had been brooding over a love affair with a Berkeley girl.

FOILED LOVE FOR INFANT TOLD COURT

Husband Declares Wife Twarted Affection for Babe and Wins Divorce

Fatherly love for a baby born after the parents separated was thwarted by the wife, Melvin O. Naugle yesterday testified in Superior Judge Keetch's court while obtaining a divorce from Irene H. Naugle.

"She always said it was her baby, and that I had forfeited all right to it," Naugle testified.

Naugle offered in evidence a postcard, reading:

"Where do you get this 'my baby' patter? Please do not bother me with any more of your crackbrained absurdities."

The husband said he had sent money for the support of the child, now outside the State, despite the wife's attitude.

"She called me 'Whiney,' 'Cry Baby' and other names," asserted Naugle. "I learned through friends and relatives of her stepping out and spoke to her about it. She replied that it was none of my business."

Orange Belt Smudge Pots Put in Play

Firing of smudges in some of the colder localities in the Southern California citrus belt began at midnight last night when the temperatures began dropping near the danger point and the threat of frost hovered over the groves and orchards.

F. D. Young, chief of the government's frost observers at Pomona, said that some firing would be done in more exposed places in most of the districts and, although the temperature indicated nippy weather, no extreme frost conditions are expected. The observer believed that not more than 25 or 30 per cent of those groves equipped will find necessity to fire. The temperature generally at 10:30 p.m. ranged around 35 deg., he said.

E. S. Ellison, observer for Santa Clara Valley, reported that general firing might be done before morning, although no sharp drop in the temperature was predicted. A slight easterly wind was expected to blow after midnight but not sufficiently to sustain the mercury for a long period. The temperature at Ellison's station at Santa Paula at 10:30 p.m. was 35 deg.

Locally the United States Weather Bureau forecast fair weather for today and tomorrow, with frosts in the interior and moderate north and northwest winds offshore. Los Angeles temperatures yesterday ranged between 51 and 67 degs.

Man Who Beat Two Children Sent to Jail

Because he beat two children who sold a milk bottle for 3 cents to buy Christmas candy with the money, Arnold Wertz, 38 years of age, was sentenced to serve 180 days in the City Jail by Municipal Judge Bogue yesterday.

Wertz, with the children's mother, Mrs. Louise Wehking, was arrested by Police Officer John Hamilton and Policewoman Nellie Schreiner at 1327 Santee street after neighbors complained they heard Perry Wehking, 7, and Harriet Wehking, 9, screaming. Perry told the officers he was beaten with a heavy leather strap for selling the milk bottle and his sister was beaten for not telling on him. Wertz pleaded guilty to a charge of inflicting unjustifiable cruelty on a child.

Mrs. Wehking was held in jail temporarily. The children are being held in Juvenile Hall pending action by Juvenile Court.

Exhaust Gases Used in Suicide

Making fast a rubber hose to the exhaust pipe of an automobile and placing the other end in the machine, Francol Smitty, 22 years of age, dishwasher in a cafe at 12117 Ventura Boulevard, ended his life yesterday by inhaling carbon monoxide gas, according to a report at the Van Nuys Police Station.

The car belonged to the manager of the cafe and was parked in a garage at the rear. Acquaintances told police Smitty had been despondent because of ill health.

WINDOW CUTS ARM

NORTH HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 26. When he rammed his arm through a French window as he tried to close a door, Charles Thornton, 26 years of age, of 19821 Herrick street, severed two blood vessels, ligaments and muscles of the right arm. After first-aid treatment he was conveyed to the General Hospital in Los Angeles.

M.-G.-M. SIGNS NEIL HAMILTON

Cast in Norma Shearer Film and Loaned to Laemmle

Charles Bickford Slated to Act for Warners

Edward Knopf Gets Contract With Universal

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

There appears to be a new shuffle and deal of stars going on these days.

NEIL HAMILTON

Now it is Neil Hamilton who has just been signed on a long-term contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, we learned yesterday.

Also we find that Hamilton is to play the lead opposite Norma Shearer in "Strangers May Kiss," which George Fitzmaurice is to direct.

But this isn't all the news about the popular young actor. Even before the ink was fairly dry on his M.-G.-M. contract, he was loaned to Universal to play the leading male role in "Gambling Daughters," which Hobart Henley is to direct. He will play opposite Sidney Fox and Bette Davis.

Hamilton made his first success in D. W. Griffith's "Isn't Life Wonderful." Since then he has appeared in various Paramount films.

CHARLES BICKFORD GOES TO WARNERS

Authoritative report received yesterday was to the effect that Charles Bickford, who recently terminated his contract with Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer, has signed or is about to sign a long-term contract with Warner Brothers, under which the actor agrees to star in four pictures for the concern.

CHARLES BICKFORD

Bickford was one of the most popular stars Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer ever had. Coming from the New York stage, he is a skilled and polished actor, and is besides one of the screen's most magnetic personalities.

He starred in a number of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer pictures, all of which were successful.

DIRECTOR SIGNS WITH UNIVERSAL

Edward Knopf, former actor but lately a director and writer with Paramount, has changed his allegiance.

Although Knopf's contract with Paramount had still several months to run, it was terminated this week by mutual consent, and yesterday he signed a long-term contract with Universal.

Just what the director's first story, whether an original or a story which Universal already has, will be isn't settled as yet.

Claire Windsor Returns

Now there will be a fluttering of male hearts. Claire Windsor has come back to town. She has been away something like a year or a year and a half and she slipped into Hollywood on Christmas Eve and surprised her family.

CLAIRE WINDSOR

"I've had a very pleasant stay in the East," said Miss Windsor, "but now I mean to get down to work in pictures. I am going to take a course in voice culture and in languages."

Miss Windsor at one time was under contract to Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. Before going east she completed several starring pictures for Tiffany.

Two for Paramount Film

Paramount officials signed a number of noted players for various roles yesterday before they called it a day.

Two of the most important were Helen Johnson and Junior Coghlan, who signed for "Have You Got It?" to be directed by Frank Tuttle.

Junior Coghlan is a juvenile screen star formerly under contract to Pathe. Coghlan signed a contract with Cecil B. De Mille after he played in "The Road to Yesterday." He was featured in "Slide, Kelly, Slide," "The Country Doctor" and others.

Barbara Kent With Gloria

While there is nothing in the way of signed contracts as yet, we hear from an excellent source that the diminutive and clever Barbara Kent will play the ingenue lead in Gloria Swanson's next picture, as yet untitled, which Joseph Schenck will produce from a story with music by De Sylva, Brown and Henderson.

BARBARA KENT

Miss Kent was lately under contract to Universal, but finished a few weeks ago. She made her first hit in Greta Garbo's first Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer picture. She has lately been appearing with Harold Lloyd as his leading lady, adding to her hundreds of admirers by her work in his two most recent comedies.

NEW HOME FOR AUTO CLUB BRANCH SOON

HUNTINGTON PARK, Dec. 26.—Construction work is to be started the first of the coming year on the Huntington Park district office building for the Automobile Club of Southern California, to be erected on Zoe avenue just west of Pacific. A building permit has been issued to Hymen Cohen and Edward Schwartz of Los Angeles for a $6500 structure. It will be one story in height and of brick construction. The new home for the club will have a frontage of thirty-five feet on Zoe avenue and a depth of sixty-five feet.

CITY PROVIDES WORK FOR ITS UNEMPLOYED

HUNTINGTON PARK, Dec. 26.—In an effort to relieve the unemployment situation here, the City Council recently instructed William E. Ford, street superintendent, to employ a number of extra men, out of work, to clean the streets of the city. Ford gave sixty-three men each a week's work. The city paid out approximately $1200 to the men, to assist them in securing some of their needs for the Christmas season.

Espee to Place Shopmen Back on Full Time

Reports that Southern Pacific will place all men now employed in the company's shops upon a full-time employment during January were confirmed here yesterday by T. H. Williams, general manager for the company.

It is understood that the order will effect 7500 shopmen employed on the railway's Pacific lines, of whom about 1200 are employed here. These men are pledged full-time employment between January 5 and 31, 1931. The company also will put back to work approximately 1000 maintenence-of-way employees for this period.

Bourbons Feast on Jackson Day

Maurice E. Harrison, president of the San Francisco Bar Association and former dean of Hastings College of Law, has been announced by J. Ray Files, chairman of the Jackson Day banquet, as the principal speaker at the dinner to be held at the Alexandria, January 8.

The gathering will be under the auspices of the southern division of the Democratic State Central Committee.

Other speakers will be Monroe Butler, regional director of the Democratic State Central Committee; Mrs. William H. Anderson, president of the Woman's Democratic League, and J. Ray Files. Reservations for the dinner may be made at Democratic headquarters.

Cordish Files Rehearing Plea in Theft Case

A petition for a rehearing was filed yesterday with the Appellate Court by Nat Cordish, former president of Mutual Motors, Inc., and of Mutual City, Inc., in an appeal from conviction in Superior Court on grand theft charges. The Appellate Court has twice ruled on Cordish's appeal, first on the original appeal and then on Cordish's appeal after a decision. In both decisions, the court affirmed the lower court's judgment.

ASSESSMENTS CONFIRMED

Assessments for the improvement of Laurel Canyon Road between Coldwater Canyon avenue and Lookout Mountain Road were confirmed yesterday by the City Council.

Cordish Files Rehearing Plea in Theft Case

A petition for a rehearing was filed yesterday with the Appellate Court by Nat Cordish, former president of Mutual Motors, Inc., and of Mutual City, Inc., in an appeal from conviction in Superior Court on grand theft charges. The Appellate Court has twice ruled on Cordish's appeal, first on the original appeal and then on Cordish's appeal after a decision. In both opinions, the court affirmed the lower court's judgment.

MEGLIN KIDDIES IN FETE

Added features for today's matinee at Pantages Hollywood Theater includes a juvenile stage revue featuring the Meglin Kiddies and the personal appearance of a number of youthful motion-picture players.

Eddie Lambert is appearing with Fanchon and Marco's "Topical Tunes" idea, staged by Sammy Lee.

The film feature is "Tom Sawyer," with Jackie Coogan in the featured role, supported by a cast headed by Mitzi Green as Becky Thatcher and Junior Durkin as Huckleberry Finn.

"Apple Cart" Resumes Local Run

Doris Lloyd

Plays one of the important roles in the George Bernard Shaw satire which returns to the Music Box Theater in Hollywood Monday night. The drama will be presented in the evenings only.

ORIENTAL FILM ACTED BY LATINS

Lupe Velez Scores Hit as Ming Toy on Screen at International

BY SALVADOR BAGUEZ

Marking her initial appearance in Spanish talkies, Lupe Velez, fiery diminutive Mexican actress, emerged as a dainty Chinese maiden, Ming Toy, on the screen of the California International Theater last evening in "Oriente y Occidente," adapted from the English version of "East is West," by Samuel Shipman and John B. Hymer.

Portraying the role made famous on the stage by Fay Bainter, Miss Velez is her vivacious little self in this familiar and picturesque American-Chinese romance. She succeeds in interpreting her part in a most charming and original, if not altogether convincing manner.

The event gradually developed into an auspicious occasion as the audience at times interrupted to approve of the unusually diverting performance of the star and of the way she spoke her own language with an almost Chinese accent for the first time on the screen. Picture-goers of Latin America and Spain should like this colorful picture, for it holds great entertainment value.

In the supporting cast, Daniel F. Rea, veteran Mexican actor, gave a vivid characterization as the girl's aged guardian. His former experience on the stage has helped him tremendously in this, his debut in pictures. Barry Norton, Manuel Arbo and Jose Soriano Viosca are others who did good work.

Undoubtedly the excellent adaptation done by Baltazar Fernandez Cue along with the aid given director George Melford by Enrique Tovar Avalos have much to do with the success of the production.

A Tom Terris travelogue, which takes the onlooker to the far-off stretches of New Zealand, and the usual news reel complete the bill.

TWO ESCAPE ZIEGFELD'S STAGE TEST

Wheeler and Woolsey Find Way Into Pictures After "Follies" Roles

Like Will Rogers, Bert Wheeler and Robert Woolsey are among the limited number of stars who never had to undergo Florenz Ziegfeld's famous "leg inspection tests" to qualify for the impresario's "Follies."

The funny men, who currently are seen in "Hook, Line and Sinker" at the Orpheum Theater, were teamed by Ziegfeld for featured parts in his stage production of "Rio Rita." When Radio decided to film the operetta, Wheeler and Woolsey were signed for their roles.

Their performances won them a long-term contract and they appeared subsequently in "The Cuckoos," "Dixiana" and "Half Shot at Sunrise."

In "Hook, Line and Sinker" they enact Wilbur Boswell and Addington Ganzy, two erstwhile insurance salesmen trying to operate an exclusive hostelry.

"LIGHTNIN'" TO OPEN IN AFTERNOON

Will Rogers Vehicle Due Thursday at Circle Minus Premiere Ballyhoo

"Lightnin'" will begin its engagement at the Carthay Circle Thursday afternoon sans the usual gala premiere ballyhoo, arrival of glittering stars, "gags" over the radio and what not. When Will Rogers's last vehicle opened at the Circle with all the trimmings the bashful humorist was nowhere near this part of the country. The theater is sparing Will the trouble this time.

Nevertheless, the management of the Carthay announces practically a complete sell-out for next week-end. The inimitable Rogers, who plays the leading role in "Lightnin'," is one of the theater's best drawing cards.

The picture is laid in the territory near Reno, notorious not only for divorces, but also for the recent escapades in which the comedian was slightly involved.

In the cast of the new feature, besides Rogers, are Louise Dresser, Helen Cohan of the George M. Cohans, Joel McCrea, J. W. Kerrigan, Sharon Lynn, Joyce Compton, Jason Robards and Frank Campeau.

German Film Holds Screen at Filmarte

BY JACK COOPER

Germany has sent another film in which are indicated some very fine ideas for American producers to adopt, and, at the same time, some crudely worked-out things which America has learned to avoid. "Verklungene Traume," or "Echo of a Dream," which opened at the Filmarte Theater last night, leaned more heavily to the latter and presented a pictorial list of "don'ts" for would-be producers.

In the first place, the title had nothing at all to do with the story, and one-half of the film had nothing to do with the other half. The whole thing consisted of a patchwork of independent scenes which were cut and edited in a manner to bewilder the onlooker who trys to keep track of their sudden comings and goings. Rural Rumania, however, furnished a locale which gave the cameraman ample material with which to work.

It was, perhaps, the technique of the camera which ran away with the picture. Irrelevant scenes were dwelt on and elaborated, while the story waited in the offing. In one part there was an inexcusably long military parade, apparently culled from news reel files, which was far removed from the theme.

When the story was shown, it developed into the usual yarn about a young Prince Charming marrying a poor peasant girl. But the moral was the usual "Never the twain shall meet"—and the marriage ended unhappily.

Poor story construction, absolute lack of motivation and inclusion of too many irrelevancies marred some otherwise fine acting. At certain intervals, some of the characters burst forth into song without the slightest provocation.

With all its faults, it had some compensations, principally the photography and the acting of some of the characters in a few of the dramatic scenes. What proved the best object lesson to American filmmakers was the sparing use of dialogue for intense dramatic purposes only—albeit those purposes were not clearly defined. Hans Stuewe, Maly Delschaft, Eugene Rex and Harry Hardt were the principal players in this effort.

Marc Connelly appeared in an amusing short entitled "The Burglar," and some glimpses of Spain were obtained in a travelogue.

PREVIEW ARRANGED AT R.-K.-O.

New Picture to Be Shown in Addition to Regular Stage, Screen Bill

The R.-K.-O. Theater will present tonight in addition to the regular stage and screen show a studio preview of a recently completed talking picture.

This, like the Monday-evening vaudeville previews, has become a regular weekly feature at the R.-K.-O. Its object is to allow the management an opportunity to learn the reaction of the public to the photoplay before its booking.

On the screen this week is "Madonna of the Streets," a story of the redemption of a woman of the world by a young mission worker. Roles are enacted by Evelyn Brent, Robert Ames, Josephine Dunn, Ivan Linow and Ed Brady.

DOROTHY CHRISTY PLAYS VAMP ROLE

Dorothy Christy, who plays Charlie Murray's gold-digging sweetheart in "Caught Cheating" at the Tower Theater, began her screen vamping career opposite Maurice Chevalier. So capably did she portray the chic charmer in "Playboy of Paris" that she was cast in rapid succession in three additional vamp roles.

Charlie Murray, George Sidney and Nita Martan also appear in leading feminine roles in "Caught Cheating."

Loew's State Offers Comedy Bill Tonight

The midnight show at Loew's State Theater tonight offers an all-comedy program on stage and screen.

"Reducing," the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer film costarring Marie Dressler and Polly Moran, is current on the screen. The cast also includes Anita Page, Sally Eilers, William Collier, Jr., Lucien Littlefield and William Bakewell.

ANITA PAGE

On the stage, Fanchon and Marco will present a vaudeville bill featuring Nell Kelly, Bobby Henshaw, Ed and Jenny Rooney and the Allison Troupe. Bert Hollowell leads the band.

PLAYER IN ENGLISH ROLE

Carmen Mathews, one of Hollywood's latest "finds" who is now playing Joan in "Bird in Hand" at the Pasadena Community Playhouse, is portraying her first English role as the daughter of the innkeeper.

ACTOR SCORES IN FILM AT CHINESE

Gary Cooper

Under Josef von Sternberg's direction, Gary Cooper gives in "Morocco" what critics have termed "his best characterization." The actor plays a soldier in the Foreign Legion and during the course of the film falls in love with Marlene Dietrich who portrays an itinerant cafe entertainer.

"Morocco" is currently showing at the Chinese Theater, where it is proving popular holiday season fare. No announcement of its closing has been made so far, although it has played about two months.

French Film to Have One Showing Here

Students of French will be afforded an opportunity to preview a Hollywood-made, French film tonight, when Radio Pictures' "Le Roi S'Ennuie" is presented at the Filmarte Theater for a single performance at midnight.

Several foreign-language teachers have indicated they would attend this novel preview.

Expensive Shot Eliminated From Criterion Film

For instance, in Joan Crawford's starring vehicle, "Paid," now at the Criterion Theater, it was necessary to dirty and clean some $000 plates, cups and pans during the shooting of prison scenes. Yet only a few "shots" were used in the final production.

Sam Wood, director, Miss Crawford, Marie Prevost, Polly Moran and hundreds of extras worked for days on the scenes that eventually were eliminated for the sake of action and story. Even Clem Peoples, county jailor, was kept up nights advising the technicians on the authenticity of the sets and action.

LABORATORY PLANNED

A film laboratory capable of turning out 60,000,000 feet of finished film yearly is to be constructed in the near future by the Radio Pictures studio.

THEATER ACTIVITIES NOTED

NEW YORK, Dec. 26. (Exclusive) Dorothy Bigelow, daughter of Poultney Bigelow, historian and traveler, will play a small role in "The Truth Game," the new Ivor Novello play opening tonight at the Ethel Barrymore Theater.

Miss Bigelow's last stage appearance was two years ago in "Skyrocket" at the Lyceum. During the last year she has been in Hollywood as an assistant to Sigmund Romberg in the production of musical talking pictures.

After eight more performances, concluding Tuesday evening, "Twelfth Night" will be withdrawn from Jane Cowl's repertory at Maxine Elliott's Theater. "Art and Mrs. Bottle," which has been performed alternately with "Twelfth Night," will thereafter be played continuously by Miss Cowl and her company.

"The Affairs of Anatol," the Schnitzler play which Bela Blau is reviving, has gone into rehearsal under the direction of Gabriel Beer-Hoffman, said to have been associated with Max Reinhardt's productions. Another show beginning rehearsals is "America's Sweetheart," the forthcoming Schwab and Mandel musical comedy.

Harold Stern, a musical director for the Shuberts, announces for production in February of a musical comedy entitled "Service for Two" for which he has written the score.

James Elliott announces that "Hobo," a play by Frank Merlin, will go into rehearsal Monday with a cast including Joseph Sweeney, Paul Kelly, Evelyn Rue and others. Work on the "Zero Hour" in which Alice Brady has been announced to appear has been deferred for a week.

A new producing group, the Associated Theatrical Exchange, announces plays for immediate production. They are "Wet or Dry," by Slater La Master, and "Eternal Mother," by Harry Kalmonvitz.

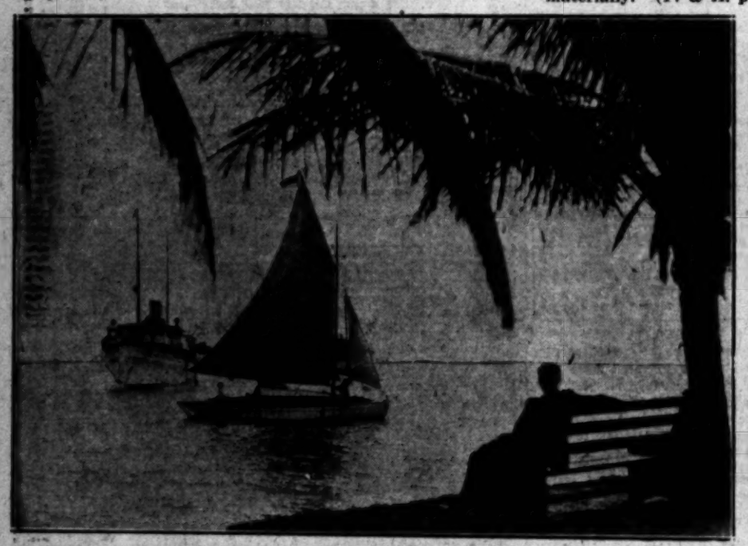
Hale and Hearty as a College Athlete, Peter Watkins is rounding out a half century of service with the Seaboard Airline Railway as an iron molder. He entered the yards at Raleigh, N. C., in 1881 and has missed only a few days of work since. (P. & A. photo.)

A Successful Refueling Contact Was Made Between a Plane and an Automobile at the municipal airport in Miama, Fla., in preparation for the All-American air carnival to be staged there. This mode of refueling, air experts aver, may be introduced into commercial flying, thereby reducing the time of present schedules materially. (P. & A. photo.)

Serious Internal Dissension in Spain Has Been Quelled by Loyal Troops who handled rioters at several points throughout the country. For the present, the situation is apparently well under hand and there is little possibility that the monarchy will be overthrown. In this photo police are shown leading a rioter to jail at Valencia. (P. & A. photo.)



There Was No Thrill in Crossing the Atlantic, Finland to Florida, in a small sailboat, according to the Walters brothers, Ahto and Kou, 18 and 23 years old, respectively, who completed the perilous passage recently. The little craft was tossed by a number of storms. (A. P. photo.)

The Most Powerful Beacon Ever Designed for airway lighting is to be installed at San Diego within a few days. The government has contracted for 150 of the lights to be installed between San Diego and Fort Worth, Tex. It throws a light visible at seventy-five miles from the air. (P. & A. photo.)

Uneasy Rests the Head that wears a crown, Prince Louis of Monaco, the miniature republic on the Mediterranean, has discovered. (P. & A. photo.)

Famous Ten-Point Buck, sought by nimrods in the New Jersey hills for the past ten years, was brought down by Clifford Robertson, 17 years of age, a few days before Christmas near Roseland, N. J. The big fellow, 400 pounds in weight, had previously outsmarted every hunter who went into the hills for his antlers. (P. & A. photo.)

A Blues Song That Is Plenty Blue Is Being Sung By Group in the Cook County Jail, all members of the "Alimony Club," as Christmas dawn comes in the bleak Illinois setting. All are serving time because they refuse to meet the alimony payments prescribed by the courts. At that, there are worse places than jail in these parlous times. (A. P. photo.)

HEAD OF TRAVELERS ORDER TO VISIT CITY

Lieut.-Gov. McFarlane of Iowa, Supreme Head of the Order of United Commercial Travelers of America, is coming here January 3, 1931, to pay an official visit to Los Angeles Council, No. 82, and to be the guest that evening at a banquet in Patriotic Hall, 1816 South Figueroa street. It will be the first of five such official visits he will make next year. As Supreme Head of the order, McFarlane holds sway over 120,000 members throughout the country.

Pioneer's Rites Set for Today

Funeral services for Mrs. Sarah Ann Prine, nonogenarian pioneer resident of Los Angeles, who died Christmas Eve, will be conducted at 2 p.m. today at Dellenbaugh's mortuary, 630 Venice Boulevard. Interment will be in Inglewood Cemetery.

Mrs. Prine would have been 98 years of age on January 5, 1931. She came here from Ohio in 1912, with her husband and children. Her husband died in 1927. She leaves a daughter, Mrs Clara E. Veail, and a son, W. E. Prine, editor of the Southwest Builder and Contractor.

C.W.Meakin,Jr., Will Be Given Burial Monday

Funeral services for Charles W. Meakin, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Meakin, 701 Westmount Drive, West Hollywood, who died suddenly of heart disease at his home Christmas Day, will be conducted Monday at 2 p.m. from the Melrose chapel, 5540 Melrose avenue. Interment will be in the Woodlawn Cemetery, Santa Monica.

Two years ago the youth, who was 21 years of age, was a member of the Fairfax High School football and basketball teams. A strange illness paralyzing both his legs and necessitating their amputation later set in. Six months ago he was in an auto crash and suffered a severe injury to his arm. He had written several articles for magazines and had placed several of his illustrations. He was busy Christmas Day receiving friends when he was suddenly seized with a heart attack and expired.

Paul Irving, manager of the Civic Repertory Theater, was his uncle. His father is well known on screen and stage.

Divorce Plays Role in Man's Will Contest

Women divorcing their husbands should take care to mention them in their wills, it appeared yesterday when the contest of the last testament of Mrs. Ruby Thomas Miller was filed in Superior Court.

Charles E. Miller of Inglewood was divorced by Mrs. Miller last July. An interlocutory decree which could not become final for a year was granted. She did not mention her husband in her will, dated February 21, 1924, which devises an estate worth $6000. It provides that her property should be divided between a son and a daughter, Loren A. Miller and Mrs. Frances Blueth. Miller sues to break it on the ground that he still was her legal husband, and as such entitled to share in her estate.

YEAR'S DELAY ASKED IN DISTRICT WORKS

Because the region affected is a possible oil field, E. W. Willat yesterday appealed to the City Council to delay for one year proceedings for various improvements in the Barnes City district bounded by Braddock Drive, Culver Drive, Inglewood Boulevard and Centinella Boulevard. The Council referred the communication to the City Engineer and to the Public Works Committee.

GREAT SHALL BE THE DAY OF JEZREEL. To shall hear Journal. Hosea 1:11, 2:21-22. Psalms 2, p. 1. 1879. During this watch all the Scriptures from Gen. to Rev. shall be fulfilled. The "Tree of Life," the female immortal spirit, Jerusalem above, which produces from the spiritual seed of Adam and Eve, will now return, and mortal men and women will now obtain the privilege promised in the creation and the words spoken to Daniel closed up sealed. All the prophecies were heralded by Canada twice 3 was soon recorded in the N. A. M. 8th month, 1930 year, new creation dates. The 8th James Journal is sent from God the same to the 8th written; there was a man sent from God his name was John, but as there are 7 to stand to prior the 8th points of the 7th who finished the mystery, Rev. 10, where John said he saw an angel flying through the midst of heaven (Jacob's ladder, Gen. 28.12), THE 7th, 7, 12. Now the Mother of the book all in her heart finishes the work. "The woman's writing in Bible known as 7th, but it will be in a short time made more plain than ever to those who are prepared to receive it." — J. F. Rutherford, 1929. Look for the New British Messenger of Wisdom, "The Star of Bethlehem." Matthew's Book call thirteen Hebrew names wherewith She shall be called The Lord Our Righteousness. Jer. 33, 15-17. Behold I bring you good Tidings of great Comfort and Joy (A world-wide message). by Mary herself. 2 for 25c. Census of Pyramid by F. Torrey, the completion of the two MESSIAH of people. $1 by mail or at S. Langsdorf, 1710 N. Harvard.
